APPENDIX - - - - - - - - - - - - - - 45

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE appointed to inquire into the Expenditure of COUNTY RATES, and to report their Observations thereupon to The House; and who were empowered to report the MINUTES OF THE EVIDENCE taken before them;——HAVE examined into the Matters referred to them, and have agreed to the following REPORT.

YOUR Committee proceed to lay before The House, the result of their inquiries; premising, that by stat. 12 Geo. II. c. 29, and 55 Geo. III. c. 51, the County Rate is assessed by the Justices assembled in their General or Quarter Session of the Peace, upon the full and fair Annual Value of the messuages, lands, tenements and hereditaments rateable to the relief of the Poor; is raised by the Churchwardens and Overseers, paid to the High Constables, and by them to the Treasurer of the County.

The COUNTY RATES appear to be applicable to the following purposes:—

1. The paying one moiety of the Charges of prosecuting Masters for ill treating their Parish Apprentices.

2. The Charges of carrying Parish Apprentices, bound to the sea service, to the Port to which the Master belongeth.

3. The repairing County Bridges, and Highways thereto adjoining, and Salaries for the Surveyors of Bridges.

4. The Money for purchase of Lands at the ends of County Bridges.

5. Charges attending the removal of any of the said general County Rates.

6. The Coroner's Fee of 9*d.* a mile for travelling to take an Inquisition, and 20 s. for taking it.

7. For relief of Prisoners in the County Gaol.

8. For the Salary of the Chaplain of County Gaol and House of Correction.

9. For setting Prisoners to work.

10. For the preservation of the health of the Prisoners.

11. Charges of carrying Persons to the Gaol or House of Correction.

12. Allowance to discharged Prisoners, to enable them to return to their place of Settlement.

13. The Gaoler's Fees for Persons acquitted of Felony, or discharged by Proclamation.

14. Fees to Clerks of Assize, Clerks of the Peace, Clerks of Courts, or their Deputies, upon the acquittal or discharge of Prisoners.

15. For building, enlarging and repairing County Gaols.

16. For building, repairing and fitting-up Houses of Correction, and employing the Persons sent thither.

17. For the Salary of the Master of the House of Correction, and for relieving the weak and sick in his custody.

18. Charges of bringing Insolvent Debtors before the travelling Commissioner, in order to their discharge, if the Prisoners are not able to pay.

19. For the relief of the Prisoners in the King's Bench and Marshalsea Prisons, and of poor Hospitals in the County, and of those that shall sustain losses by fire, water, the sea, or other casualties, and other charitable purposes for relief of the Poor, as the Justices in Session shall think fit.

20. Expenses of providing, &c. County Lunatic Asylums, reported necessary by Visiting Justices.

21. For repairing Shire Halls.

22. Charges of the Soldiers Carriages, over and above the Officers pay for the same.

23. The Charges of transporting Felons, or conveying them to the places of labour and confinement.

24. The Treasurer's Salary.

25. The charges of prosecuting Vagrants or incorrigible Rogues at the Sessions, or on Appeals against their convictions, and of prosecuting Constables, &c. for neglect of duty.

26. Expenses of procuring and transmitting models and copies of the standard Weights and Measures.

27. Allowances to Persons appointed to examine Measures.

28. Charges of prosecuting and convicting persons plundering shipwrecked goods.

29. Charges of burying dead bodies cast on shore in England.

30. Charges of prosecuting and convicting Felons.

On this last Head Your Committee now offer the result of their inquiries.

They observe with regret, from the Accounts of the Treasurers of Counties, from 1792 to 1823, that a gradual Increase has occurred in the expense of prosecutions, both from the number of prosecutions and the increased expense of each. They refer the House to the whole of the printed Returns; they have stated the Amount in 1792, and 1823, as being the first and last years; and the years 1816 and 1817 were taken to show the increase in two successive years. From seventeen Counties no Accounts have been returned; in 1792, in 1816, and 1817, four Counties are deficient in their Returns. With these allowances, the totals for those years appear as follows:

See Appendix.

1816 - - -	29,678	1823 - - -	76,647

The Increase may no doubt be attributed in part to an augmented commerce and population, of which crime is too natural a concomitant; and partly, perhaps, to an allowance to prosecutors and witnesses, which has not always been sufficiently controlled.

Your Committee observe from the evidence, that the expenses of prosecutions at the Assizes are, collectively, and in each separate indictment, much heavier than at the Sessions; but at both, the Court, by 27 Geo. II. c. 3, and by 58 Geo. III. c. 70, orders the Treasurer to pay to each witness a reasonable sum for his time, trouble and expense; which order the proper officer makes out, and delivers to the person to be paid, who receives it by himself, or through his agent, from the Treasurer. Over the orders at the assizes the Magistrates have no control. It appeared to Your Committee that the expenses of prosecutions are generally allowed in cases of felony: it sometimes happens that the poorer class complain that the sum awarded is insufficient; and it is to be apprehended, that if too small sums were awarded to prosecutors, prosecutions would diminish, and crimes go unpunished.

Your Committee also observe, that since the passing of the Act 58 Geo. III. c. 70, Fees on Acquittals, and on bills Not Found, are paid by the Counties: before the passing of that Act they were often left unpaid: for the claim was on the prisoner, who was generally unable to discharge them. Your Committee also observe, that the expenses of prosecutions are sometimes increased, by more witnesses than are necessary being bound over to appear at the trial.

Your

Your Committee have a difficulty in suggesting by what means the Expenses of Prosecutions may be diminished ; but they observe, that the greater number of offences committed are aggressions on the increased and increasing Chattel Property of the kingdom, while the charge of prosecuting such offences falls exclusively on the Poor's Rate, which is derived almost exclusively from property consisting in Land and Houses.

Your Committee observe, that the payment of Prosecutors has kept pace with the progress of society, which with its advantages has brought its disadvantage, the increase of crime ; the payment of their expenses first occurred in the year 1752: by 25 Geo. II. c. 36, the expense of the prosecution of disorderly houses was allowed; and by 27 Geo. II. c. 3, the poorer sort are, by a reasonable payment for their time, trouble and expense, to be encouraged to appear as witnesses against offenders; hence, from the original payment of the poorer sorts, it has become the practice to pay all sorts of persons: and by 58 Geo. III. it is now lawful to pay all witnesses.

Your Committee conclude their Report by observing, that by stat. Rich. II. c. 10, each Magistrate during his attendance at the Sessions is allowed 4*s.* a day, and the Clerk of the Peace 2*s.* which sums are severally payable through the Sheriff; a circumstance now adduced to show that the administration of justice was at that time in part defrayed by the State; and it appears at the present time, by the 58 Geo. III. that the expense of prosecuting the several offences of house-breaking, burglary, horse-stealing, and some others, are defrayed nearly in the same way. Your Committee also observe, that the rewards that were allowed for the apprehension of offenders were always paid to prosecutors towards their expenses; but since the repeal of that law, the expenses are all paid from the County Rate.

Your Committee therefore, deeply sensible of the hardship of throwing the expenses of Prosecutions in great part on the County Rates, are inclined to suggest to the House, that a part of those expenses should in future be borne by the general funds of the country ; and they therefore recommend that those expenses of prosecutions, over which the Magistrates, who may be said to represent the Land, have no control, should be paid by the Receiver General of the County, and that those expenses which the Magistrates can order and check, should be paid, as at present, from the County Rate by the County Treasurer; the result of which recommendation would be, that the expense of Prosecutions at the Sessions would fall upon the Counties, and that at the Assizes on the general Funds of the Country.

WILLIAM DICKINSON, ESQUIRE,

IN THE CHAIR.

General Bathurst, called in; and Examined.

General Bathurst.

17 March, 1825.

HAVE you turned your mind to the fees and charges of the county of Somerset; the expenditure of the county of Somerset?—I have.

Have they increased of late years?—Very much.

To what is that increase owing; state the result of your investigation?—It is principally owing to the new system of law adopted, of throwing those expenses on the county rates which were formerly paid by the public or individuals; and also the mode adopted in different counties, of paying things which no law authorizes; and to the increase of prisoners of late years.

Do any of those charges which were formerly paid by the public, or paid by individuals, and which are now paid out of the county rates, arise out of prosecutions?—A very large proportion.

What has been the increase in Somersetshire for the expenses in the prosecution of felons?—In Somersetshire alone, from 22*l.* per annum to 3,700*l.* within the memory of magistrates now living.

What is this increase chiefly owing to?—Partly to the different laws, and partly to the custom of the Judges with regard to the allowances given, the fees of court, and allowances to counsel.

Are not the Judges in the habit of allowing the costs of all prosecutions?—Yes, they are hardly ever refused.

Were they given formerly?—Very seldom indeed; the first commencement of the law to that effect was in George the Second's time.

What do you say is the cause of the great increase of the charge upon the county?—One cause is, that those expenses which were formerly paid by individuals and by government, are now thrown upon the county.

What are the particular items which compose your increased expenditure?—One item is, fees allowed to counsel; another, fees of court for prisoners.

Are counsel allowed at the assizes?—Yes, in Somersetshire, but not at the sessions.

Is the allowance made by the clerk of assize, on the express directions of the judge?—It is supposed to be by the express directions of the judge, but in fact it is always calculated by the clerk of assize.

Have not the Judges a discretionary power with regard to the allowances for prosecutions?—Yes.

Do they use that discretion, or do they give expenses to all?—All, except in particular cases; where the party has not conducted himself properly they do not allow it, or where the witnesses have perjured themselves.

Is the allowance for costs and expenses made on a motion made by counsel?—No, it is taken as a matter of course.

Do you think the allowances and expenses have had the effect of diminishing prosecutions?—No, for they are increased; and I have inquired into the subject, and formed the following conclusions: that the fees of the courts occasion a great number of additional prisoners in the gaols for misdemeanors and assaults, who are at liberty to be bailed, but in consequence of the fees on recognizances, traverse and acquittal fees, the poorer class are recommended by their solicitors to go to gaol, and frequently, even to plead guilty, to avoid these fees.

What is the amount of the fees they have to pay?—Including the recognizances, they amount to upwards of 3*l.* at the assizes; they have been lowered at the sessions.

What are the fees on acquittal?—1 l. 6*s.* 8*d.* in Somersetshire.

If they are found guilty have they any fees to pay?—Yes, there are fees, but smaller.

General Bathurst.

17 March, 1825.

Are the fees the same in all counties?—No; they vary in different counties.

Do not the prisoners either get bail, or enter into their own recognizances to appear or surrender before the sessions begin?—They do, either one or the other.

You have stated the effect it has upon misdemeanors, can you state the effect it has had upon felonies?—I consider the allowances sometimes induce people to wish to become witnesses.

Have you observed an increased anxiety on the part of the inhabitants to prosecute since the expenses have been allowed?—I have not acted as a magistrate long enough to know what it was before.

Do you suppose that more persons have been prosecuted since the expenses of prosecutions have been allowed?—I do not know.

Are you of opinion, that improper prosecutions have been increased in consequence of the last allowance?—No, I am not.

Do you conceive that slight offences, which otherwise might not have been brought to notice, are prosecuted in consequence of the expenses being allowed?—Yes, I think they are.

Upon what ground do you found that supposition, that small offences are prosecuted in consequence of the amount of the expense of the prosecution being allowed to them?—The constables who take them up are anxious to be bound over, they are so well paid; and my opinion is, that if it was not for that, many trifling offences would not be prosecuted.

Do you draw that inference from what took place before and subsequent to those allowances?—I cannot judge of what took place before, because I have so lately acted as a magistrate.

Do you think, that during the period you have been a magistrate, that prosecutions have increased in consequence of the allowances for the expense of prosecution?—Yes, I think they have with respect to prosecutions for trifling offences.

Supposing these prosecutions for trifling offences took place before these allowances were made, and take place now, would it be your opinion that these allowances were the cause of it?—No.

Can you state any instance within your knowledge where, if it had not been for the expenses being allowed, the prosecution would not have taken place?—Yes, I can state two instances; one was the case of an old woman prosecuted for stealing nine pennyworth of wood to burn, in which, if the expenses had not been allowed, the parties would not have prosecuted.

Why do you suppose they would not have prosecuted if the allowance of the expenses had not been made; why do you believe that the allowance was the cause of prosecution?—Because the persons who prosecuted were of that description that they would not have thought it worth their while to have gone to the expense if they had not been sure they should be paid their expenses: it is a temptation.

Are those cases frequent?—Not very.

Do you think it beneficial to the public that small offences should be committed with impunity?—No, certainly not.

Are you satisfied that these costs are allowed in cases of prosecutions for misdemeanors?—No, they are not.

Does it often happen that the parties accused of misdemeanors choose rather to go to gaol than be subject to the fees consequent upon finding bail?—I believe it does.

Does the court, in any case, pay the fees upon a prosecution for a misdemeanor?—Not in Somersetshire, I believe.

Does it often happen there are improper prosecutions for felony, where the prosecution was occasioned by the allowance of the expenses?—I believe those cases are very seldom.

Did you ever know a case where it was done?—Yes, I have.

Do you know what is the charge upon the western circuit for acquittals?—Upon the western circuit they are 1*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*; upon the home circuit, 8*s.* 4*d.*; and the northern circuit, 10*s.* 8*d.*; and in some local jurisdictions they are nothing.

What are the fees when no bill is found?—13*s.* 4*d.* upon the western circuit, 6*s.* 4*d.* upon the home circuit, and nothing upon the northern circuit; that appears from the returns to the House of Commons.

What has been the increase in expenses for the prosecution of felons?—From 22*l.* in 1761, to 3,786*l.*

What was it in 1791?—In 1791 it amounted to 173*l.*; in 1821, to 3,786*l.*

Can

Can you state to the Committee the expenses of the conveyances of the prisoners in those years?—21 l. in 1761; 177 l. in 1791, and 1,114 l. in 1821.

Can you state the expense of the clerk of the peace in those years?—I can.

What was it?—In 1761 it was 6 s. 8 d.; in 1791, 6 s. 8 d. and in 1821, 1,180 l.

Does it appear that he received any thing but the 6 s. 8 d. for preserving the accounts of the county?—He only received 6 s. 8 d. for that duty.

Do you mean to state that the clerk of the peace was entitled only to a fee of 6 s. 8 d. for performing the whole duties of the clerk?—To no more, formerly, from the county rate.

Are you aware of the several items that have increased his receipts?—Yes.

State them?—A custom has crept in, of paying him as a solicitor for every act he does as clerk of the peace; another very large increase has been the fees that are now paid to the clerk of the peace, who used formerly to claim those fees from individuals, but seldom got them; a third cause has been the power given to the magistrates, in some instances, to pay him for duties done in two courts, where there are two courts; and some fees have been given him by Acts of Parliament.

What are those fees which he formerly claimed but seldom got?—The fees upon acquitted felons, which is 1 l. 6 s. 8 d.

Are they certified?—They are certified as a matter of course; there is a bill given in of those fees which he claims.

Then you mean to say he only gets those fees which were claimed by him before the Act of Parliament passed?—Certainly.

Does he get those fees from the assizes or the sessions?—The sessions.

How are the fees payable to the clerk at the assizes, on the acquittal of persons?—In the same way.

Was there a time the Judges sold the office?—Yes; in the printed table I observe the clerk of the assizes of the northern circuit paid for his situation 1,500 l. and upon the western circuit, I understand, a clerk of the assizes paid for his place about 5,000 l. to Judge Willes, about fifty years ago.

Was his a situation for life?—Yes.

Do you know whether the practice is not altered now?—Yes, it is; the Judges within the last twenty-five years have never sold them.

Does the Judge enter into the particulars when he orders the charge of the clerk of the assizes to be paid?—I apprehend not; the clerk hands in the bill, and the Judge orders the amount to be paid for such prosecution; the clerk of the assizes makes out the items; he puts it in one sum, and then the Judge signs it.

Does the clerk give any voucher for it?—He does not.

Have they not some rule to go by?—Yes, there is a rule on which it is done.

Does every description of prosecutor receive his charges of prosecution?—Yes, in cases of felony, if he claims it.

Is there any case in which no fees have been taken from prisoners?—There are two courts in which no fees are taken from prisoners, Bristol, and Canterbury; they never do take any, under any circumstances, from prisoners.

Do you happen to know how the clerks of the court are paid who are not allowed to take fees?—By a salary.

Do you know the extent?—I think it does not exceed 40 or 50 l. a year.

Do you happen to know any thing of the increase of costs in the maintenance of prisoners?—Yes; in Somersetshire, in the year 1761, it was 134 l.; in the year 1791 it was 1,374 l., and in the year 1821 it was 7,304 l.

Did that include any thing else besides the maintenance of the prisoners?—It was merely the bills of the gaoler for the maintenance of the prisoners and officers of the prison.

How many prisoners were there in the gaols at the first period, when the expense was 134 l.?—I am not able to say.

Does that include the houses of correction as well as the gaols?—It does.

From what cause has the expenses increased?—The increase of expenses has mostly arisen from the increase of personal property, and the increase of manufacturing towns; but the expense is chiefly borne by landed property.

Does the city of Bath furnish a great number of prisoners for the gaols?—A very great number; nearly one-third of the whole number of the county.

Can you state what is the difference of numbers between felons and misdemeanors?—About two-thirds or three-fourths for felons.

General Bathurst.
17 March, 1825.

What part of the county rates of the county of Somerset does the city of Bath pay?—About one-tenth.

What part does it expend?—Nearly one-third of the expenses of public justice.

Have you any estimate of the other allowances in Somersetshire; have you an estimate of what the expenditure of allowances is, as compared with the portion of their contribution?—I have not made such an estimate.

Has not Bath any jurisdiction of its own?—It has; but seldom makes use of it now.

What is the proportion of prisoners in cases of summary punishments by magistrates?—That I am not prepared to answer.

Do you, in the 7,334 l. for the maintenance of prisoners, include the salaries of the gaolers?—Yes; it includes the whole expenses of the gaol, except the repairs.

What is the aggregate number of persons committed every year?—I should think it exceeds 600.

What number of gaols have you?—We have one gaol and two houses of correction.

Can you state the number of prisoners in each, and the number of officers appointed to superintend them?—Yes, I can; the number of prisoners in Ilchester gaol are, sometimes, from 100 to 150.

Is that at one given time?—Yes.

What is the number of officers in that prison?—Three or four, I believe.

What are the names of the other prisons?—Shepton Mallet and Wilton.

What is the aggregate number of prisoners at each?—At this moment there are 200 prisoners at Shepton Mallet, and at Wilton about 70 or 80.

What is the number of officers at each?—I believe only two at present as permanent ones.

Are they houses of correction?—Yes.

Have you overseers of the work of the prisoners in your gaols?—I believe the gaoler overlooks the work in our gaols.

Are not the expenses of conveying prisoners in your county much greater than in other counties, from the circumstance of the assizes being held in three different places?—To a certain degree certainly, and that circumstance makes the expenses of the witnesses much greater; it affects them more than it does the prisoners, who go in a body from the gaol to the assizes; the expense of conveying them from the assize town is not so great.

Are they not conveyed in a close caravan?—They are.

Do you commit the felons to the different houses of correction, or send them to the gaol?—We are obliged to commit felons to the houses of correction; they are frequently sent from Bath to Shepton Mallet instead of being sent to Ilchester gaol, in consequence of its being such a great distance.

Are the prisoners employed in the gaol?—Yes, they are.

Is it an expense to the county or profit to the county?—It is a profit when the prisoners are employed in building or repairing the gaols.

Is it so when the prisoners are employed in the ordinary work?—No, we do not receive much profit then; it is merely employment for the prisoners. We have employed them in altering the gaol, and the consequence has been that the gaols have cost less than the gaols in most other counties in England.

Is it an expense to the county, or do they produce sufficient to pay the expenses?—They do not, certainly, pay the expenses of their maintenance.

Does the county receive any profit from the employment of the prisoners after paying the expenses attendant upon their labour?—Yes, but it is very small.

Is it not a very ancient practice to have the assizes held in three different places in the county of Somerset?—No, I believe, formerly, it was only held in two places; the third has been added in modern times.

How does it happen that the fees of the clerk of the peace from 1791 to 1821 appears to increase all at once?—I happened to take periods of thirty years; between the year 1761 and 1791 we do find in some years other sums than 6*s.* 8*d.* allowed him, but after that period his fees increased very considerably.

Might he not be employed as solicitor to do particular business?—Certainly, but he did not conduct that as the ordinary routine of business of clerk of the peace.

Did he not at that time receive considerable fees?—Yes, but not so great as he does now.

General Bathurst.

17 March, 1825.

Does he not get those fees now because the county pays him?—Certainly, some of them.

What is your opinion as to the best mode to be adopted in order to remedy the evils which are complained of?—The first would be to simplify the accounts of the county, and to confine the county expenses to those matters over which the magistrates have control. I would point out things over which they have no control. One is the expense of the militia and depôts of arms, which, if thrown on the secretary at war, would be managed with much more economy and regularity. With regard to the militia, there is an expense in Somersetshire of near 120*l.* attending the mere levy of the militia. I think it would be much better if that expense was thrown upon the secretary at war. There is also an expense with respect to the depôt for arms.

Are not the militia bills paid by the secretary at war?—I think they are all meant to be paid by him; but we pay annually 120*l.* on account of the levy of the militia. I think it would be better managed by throwing the whole into the hands of the secretary at war; if the whole was paid by the receiver-general, it would get rid of a charge over which we have no control; and the depôt for arms the same.

What is your reason for thinking it would be better to throw the whole militia expense upon the receiver-general?—Because it would simplify the accounts, and it would confine it to what is more immediately under our jurisdiction; and if the expenses of a prosecution for felons at the assizes could be paid by the receiver general instead of the treasurer of the county, it would have a good effect, because then the government would regulate a system for the whole kingdom, whereas now each Judge has a system for himself.

Have the magistrates of each particular session the power of scrutinizing or controlling the expenses ordered by the Judges?—Certainly not.

Have not the magistrates the power, and is it not their duty to scrutinize the allowances made by the Judges; does it not form part of the items in the yearly account?—No, they have not the means of doing it; the order of the Judge is, that a certain sum, say 50*l.* be paid for such a prosecution.

Do the Judges, in point of fact, allow witnesses their expenses at a higher rate than are generally allowed at the sessions in prosecutions?—I believe not; at this moment in Somersetshire, I believe, they have reduced them to what we have recommended. There was a regulation proposed which Justices Richardson and Burrough were inclined to agree to, but the other Judges are not bound by that.

Have you made out any average statement of the expenses of prosecutions before the Judges and before the sessions?—I have not made out any aggregate statement, but I think, as nearly as I can recollect, it is from one-third to one-half more at the assizes than at the sessions.

Can you account for or assign any reason for so great a difference?—Yes; I think it partly arises from more witnesses, and partly from giving fees not allowed at the sessions.

Do you think the diminution of the allowances by the magistrates is the occasion of any diminution of prosecutions in Somersetshire?—I think not; I do not think it has lessened the number of prosecutions.

Is there any table of the costs and allowances to be made to the prosecutor and witnesses at the assizes and sessions?—There is not; as to the fees at the assizes that is part of the expenses of the prosecution.

Is there any table of the allowances to be made to the prosecutor and witnesses in Somersetshire?—Yes, there is for the sessions, but not for the assizes, signed by the Judges.

Is that table used by the Judges?—No; it is only used at the sessions. The Judges allow the expenses for counsel.

Do you know any instance of a clerk of the peace having only a fixed salary?—I do not.

What is the inducement for people to throw themselves into gaol in cases of misdemeanor and of assault?—For these reasons; first, on account of the high bail demanded; secondly, on account of the fees: one reason is because poor persons cannot get any one to be bound for them in a large sum; and the other is, that the fees are so high that the parties would rather go to gaol than pay them.

In point of fact, do you not know it is the practice of defendants in assaults and misdemeanors to surrender?—Certainly; and I know it is the practice of persons to present bills, not with a view to prosecute, but with a view to make the party

General Bathurst.

17 March, 1825.

pay the fees; it is the common practice in Somersetshire that the prosecutor goes to the grand jury and prefers a bill, and if he happens to have the bill found, he goes about the town boasting that the fees which the parties will have to pay is the punishment, and it appears that he never had the intention of appearing as prosecutor.

Have you any thing further to state to the Committee upon the subject of prosecutions before the court of assize?—I am not aware of any thing in addition to what I have already stated.

Have you ever seen the bill taxed by the clerk of assize, after it has been given in?—I have not seen one taxed by the clerk of assize; but I have seen a bill given in by the attorney.

Have you any thing more to state as to the expenses incurred on prosecutions before the quarter sessions?—No, I have not; except to repeat that the increase arises from the increase of personal property and manufacturing towns, whereas the new expenses are all thrown upon the poor's rates.

Have you any thing further to state as to the improper allowances?—I consider a few regulations might greatly remedy these evils; the new laws keep adding to the expenses.

Have you any thing to suggest as to a remedy with respect to the expenses of prosecutions, either before the assizes or the quarter sessions?—One would be, the regulation of the fees of court; a general regulation with regard to the fees of court, both of the assizes and quarter sessions.

In what way would you propose those fees should be regulated?—I should think the better way would be for the Judges to regulate them; and that, in general, a salary in the room of some of the fees would be a much better way.

Do you think it would be advisable to abolish fees altogether, and establish in their room a salary?—Not entirely; but to abolish all those fees the principle of which cannot be defended either in equity or justice: such as recognizances, where the parties are obliged to appear; and upon acquittals: the principle of them is objectionable, and they have originated in abuse.

Do you not think that if fees were altogether abolished, it would have the effect of preventing an increase of prosecutions?—I think not, the abolishing of fees of that description; I do not think the general abolition of fees would be advantageous; I mean that there should be only an abolition of those fees which, upon principle, cannot be defended.

Is not the great evil this: that the clerk of the peace is entitled to all those fees which he formerly claimed, but never got paid?—That is one evil, and he can still claim them from persons on minor offences; and it is as great an evil that witnesses should be obliged to pay these recognizance fees.

WILLIAM DICKINSON, ESQUIRE,

IN THE CHAIR.

The Rev. John Thomas Becher, called in; and Examined.

The Rev. J. T. Becher.

18 March, 1825.

WHAT situation do you fill in the county of Nottingham?—I am chairman of the quarter sessions of the Newark division of the county.

Do you complain of the increase of the county rates in the county of Nottingham?—I not only complain of them, but I know that there is an evident disposition, on the part of those who contribute in our district towards the county rates, to complain against the increase, and the progressively increasing amount of them. I am enabled, not only as taking an active part in the administration of justice, but as being visitor of forty-nine surrounding parishes, to state, that at a very numerous meeting the landed property there, represented either by the principals or their agents, estimated at no less than 400,000 l. a year, the common observation made was, "we are now under a system reducing our parish rates, so that they will scarcely be felt as a burden; but our county rates still remain undiminished."

What did you do in consequence?—I stated the circumstance to the magistrates of

The Rev. J. T. Becher.

18 March, 1825.

of the Newark quarter sessions; and intimated, that although several of the charges were not under our control, we exercised an authority over the chief constables; and by the investigation of their fees we might possibly conduce, in some respect, to the attainment of the object. In consequence of this, a general sessions, consisting of the three divisions of the county, was held at Southwell, to consider the subject, with regard to the fees of the chief constables. The expediency of reducing them was taken into consideration by the magistrates, and a diminution was made, which, it was supposed, would bring down those fees from more than 900 l. a year to about 600 l. a year. In stating the amount of the county rate, it may be well to bear in recollection that there are several charges resulting from the mode of collection, such as the fees paid to the chief constables, and the allowances made to the petty constables as a compensation for their time and attendances; which, although not appearing on the account, yet do in fact make a very considerable addition to the expenses on the landed interest. In order to exemplify in some respect what I have stated, I should observe, that the poor rates have been thus reduced in Southwell—in 1821, 2,010 l.; in 1822, 1,421 l.; in 1823, 589 l., and in 1824, 517 l.; and the county rates, during the like period, and constables bills, are as follow—in 1821, 215 l.; in 1822, 188 l.; in 1823, 143 l., and in 1824, 152 l.; so that in the last year there is not so great a reduction as there was in the preceding year by a few pounds; but the amount in 1823 should have been considerably lower than as it stands, because the bill for the conveyance of vagrants, signed by Admiral Sotheron and myself, amounted to 314 l. for the quarter of a year ended at Epiphany sessions 1822; and the bill for the same expenditure, at the Epiphany sessions in 1823, amounted to only 32 l.: therefore the reduction of them ought necessarily to have occasioned a very material reduction in the amount of the county rates, had it not been increased by other expenses. In the parish of Thungarton, I think the payment for the poor rates during the last year was 52 l., and it appears that the county rates and constables bills were 54 l., consequently the statement made at the meeting before mentioned appears to have been founded in truth.

Are these all your expenses for the county?—No, these are not all our expenses for the county; we were compelled to borrow a large sum of money for public purposes, for the erection of the House of Correction, of which sum 9,000 l. still remains upon the county rate.

What do you think the increase of the county rate arises from?—I attribute the increase of the county rates to a great variety of concurrent circumstances: the advance of county rates is owing to the increased number of prosecutions, as well as the allowances for conducting them; to the expenses for the conveyance of soldiers baggage, which, though at present but small, has created a very great expenditure and addition to the county rates; to the establishment of lunatic asylums; and perhaps I may generally attribute it to an alteration in the state of our agricultural and commercial interests since the origin of that principle, and since the passing of those laws which impose the principal burdens upon the county rate, so that it is now charged for the protection of personal property as well as for other purposes, which possibly may be thought to attach more immediately to the national interest than to the advantage of those persons who contribute to the county rate. I will state, as an instance of this, that by a late Act, all persons sustaining damage by a tumultuous or riotous assembly, amounting to less than 30 l., a power is given to them to apply for reimbursement to the county, the consequence of which is, that in our part of the country, the inhabitants having become acquainted with this provision, the lower orders appear to think they are entitled to make a demand upon the county for any trifling damage that they may sustain, even for a window that is broken in a noisy squabble. I know of several instances of this description within the last three months; I can advert to one case particularly, where the damage done did not amount to 10 s. and the costs necessarily came to several times that amount. I would mention merely the Act respecting weights and measures; it is there directed that the magistrates in any county, riding or division, shall purchase for their respective counties, ridings or divisions, cities, towns or places, models of the standard weights and measures. I went to Mr. Graves yesterday, a scale maker's, intending to order models for this purpose, and I confess I was much surprized; omitting the beams and scales, which are very expensive, and only taking models of the weights and measures, to learn that the cost of each set was upwards of 90 l.

Do you mean the models only?—Yes, I mean the models of the original weights and measures, according to the new standard; this provision is but a part of the expense that will devolve upon the counties, for it remains with them afterwards to enforce the provisions of this Act at the expense of the landed interest. Now, as these weights and measures appear mainly to affect the regulations respecting the purchase of personal commodities, I am unable to comprehend upon what principle it is that the land becomes exclusively liable to bear the expenses and the costs of the purposes of providing them; if these weights and measures were originally granted out of the national purse, the county would still have to superintend the care of them; and by not so granting them, I am informed, that for some counties the weights have been made by other artists of inferior metal, the consequence of which is, the standard will not continue so correct as if they had been all issued under the authority of government, and all composed of suitable materials.

The Rev. J. T. Becher,

18 March, 1825.

Are there many charges in the county rate paid without the authority of law; such as the expense of Judges lodgings?—We do not pay the expense of the Judges lodgings; neither am I aware of any charge upon the county rates to which it is not liable, except a small allowance for the apartments in which the several petty sessions are held, which the landowners and occupiers prefer to incurring any expenses at an inn or public house.

What do you mean by constables bills; what are the items included in them?—The constables bills, as far as apprehending felons, are generally very small, merely for the conveyance of prisoners, or the execution of any magistrate's precept; but when they or the overseers of the poor attend to pay the county rates, there is certainly an allowance made to them for their time and expenses.

Do the Judges allow more expenses for prosecutions at the assizes than at the quarter sessions?—I am not intimately acquainted with the allowances made by the Judges. In some cases, however, it has fallen upon me to assist in the investigation; and I particularly recollect two instances, one in which Lord Ellenborough very minutely investigated the expenses, and reduced them.

Mention the kind of prosecution?—It was a prosecution for sheep stealing; the other was in a case tried by Mr. Justice Bayley, a case of felony, which also led to a minute investigation.

How do you act with respect to the expenses at the quarter sessions?—We refer them entirely to our clerk of the peace, Edward Smith Godfrey, who never employs a deputy, and attends very minutely to these matters.

Do you know whether the charges for counsel are allowed at the sessions?—Counsel do not attend at all our divisions; where they do attend, the fees of counsel are allowed, and where they do not, a regulated allowance is made to the attornies who plead in court; indeed, considering the accumulation of business of late years at our quarter sessions, I do not conceive that it would be properly or expeditiously despatched by country gentlemen, however intelligent they may be, unless some previous arrangement of the prosecution was made by professional men; there are, necessarily, cases in which the court must examine, and that very frequently, a witness, when the prisoner does not employ counsel.

Have you a table of the expenses of prosecution fees signed by the Judges?—I am not aware that we have, nor do I know whether we have not.

In those cases where you make allowances for counsel, do you limit it to one counsel in a case, or two counsel?—I believe it is generally limited to one counsel.

How is your clerk of the peace paid; is he paid as a solicitor for every act he does?—Our clerk of the peace has withdrawn his name from the rolls since he has become clerk of the peace, and does not act as solicitor. He makes a bill.

Are you aware of any abuse in the fees of chief constable?—We certainly considered, when we reduced the fees of our chief constables, that some of their modes of charging demanded regulation.

Tell us, if you please, in what way the chief constables are paid?—They are paid by a stipulated sum upon the execution of every precept, accompanied by a general regulation, that if the annual fees and emoluments of every chief constable shall not amount in each year, to be computed at every Michaelmas, to the sum of 60 l. they shall be made equal to the 60 l. out of the county rates. This we thought due to the existing constables, whose fees were considerably reduced; but it by no means follows that it is the intention of the magistrates to grant a similar advantage to any subsequent chief constable. The chief constable actually receives also an annual salary of two guineas a year from the county.

Is the office annual or permanent?—It is a permanent office, and they are individuals who are anxious to acquire the respectability and profit attaching to it.

Perhaps

The Rev. J. T. Becher.

18 March, 1825.

Perhaps it would be well to consider whether, at a favourable opportunity, some clause might not be introduced for regulating the fees of chief constables. I know not any provision which is to be found in the statutes upon this subject.

Are you in the habit of taking bonds from the chief constables?—Yes; every chief constable gives a bond to the county; and as it is in discharge of a public duty, I think there would be no objection to provide a schedule, stating the form of the bond, and to declare that it shall be given stamp free.

Is it not the practice for the chief constable to act by deputy?—Never, in our county.

What description of persons are the chief constables?—They are all respectable yeomen; persons of property, generally speaking, and integrity.

Have you known any instance of a professional man being appointed chief constable?—Yes; when I first came to act in the Newark division, two attornies held the appointment of chief constable; and finding that it would open a door to abuse, although I was not a party to that appointment, I took the earliest opportunity of representing to the magistrates the impropriety of nominating such persons to fill that office. One of the solicitors died, and the other changed his residence. Yeomen have been appointed in their places; and the magistrates have determined never to revive, in future, the practice of appointing attornies to such office.

Are the high constables individuals from the higher class of yeomen, and individuals from the smaller class of gentry?—They are individuals of the class of yeomen, strictly speaking; but our yeomen are a very opulent body; they are nearly all tenants at will.

What in your opinion is the remedy for the great increase of the county rates?—The expenses falling on the landed interest would necessarily be reduced if the expenses attaching upon public property, not immediately connected with the landed interest, were to be aided by a proportionate contribution out of the national purse: this might be granted out of the Exchequer as a repayment to the several county treasurers, to be claimed in the same form as the sheriffs cravings; or, I conceive, that a sum might be apportioned according to the rental of land returned under the Property-tax Act. If paid on this principle to the county treasurer, it would probably relieve the land from the pressure now arising from the illegality of rating personal property to the county rates, and from the difficulty of assessing it in discharge of the parochial rates. It might be proper to state, the liability of the dividends of the funds to be rated as personal property to the parochial rates turns upon the decision, that they are merely annuities by their tenure; which, though nominally true, is virtually at variance with the fact.

Suppose such a reform to take place, who could be found to check that part of the county rate then to be paid out of the public purse?—I am not aware whether it would be incompatible with the duty of the barrister who attends for the discharge of debtors to undertake this department; as he is a person of intelligence and character he would be a proper person to do it, provided it does not militate against his other engagements.

How do you pay the expenses for conveying vagrants to prison?—Several years since I found a great inequality in the charge of constables for executing their duty, and a corresponding dissatisfaction throughout the county; I therefore proposed that every constable conveying any prisoner, or executing any precept, should receive 1*s.* for the first mile, and 6*d.* for every other, the charge to be made only one way, in this manner; the charges of constables under the Bastardy Act, are regularly taxed in our county, as well as all other charges respecting the duties of constables in the conveyance of prisoners.

WILLIAM DICKINSON ESQUIRE,

IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. Henry Hunt, called in; and Examined.

Mr. H. Hunt.

23 March, 1825.

HAVE you any information to communicate to the Committee upon the subject of the County Rates?—Yes, I have.

What opportunities have you had of investigating this subject, and what has been the result of your investigation?—My opportunities principally arose from having entered into the investigation when I was in Ilchester gaol, when the county rates and the expenditure of the gaol were examined and inquired into; and the result, as it appears on the statement of the Commissioners, is, that the expenses of the gaoler, and the general expenses of the prison, amount to nearly one third of the whole expenditure of the county.

Do you mean the whole expenses relating to the gaol?—I do. I wish particularly to draw the attention of the Committee to the last five years expenditure. I find in the last five years, 84,031*l.* 13*s.* 3 ½*d.* was the expenditure, from the year 1814 to 1818 inclusive. In the last year, 1818, there was 21,304*l.* 3*s.* 10 ½*d.* On making an application at the time to get a return, or get information of what was collected during the five years, I ascertained that above 100,000*l.* was collected; and there was collected during the five years 15,968*l.* 6*s.* 6¼*d.* more than was expended, as appears by the returns; and I beg leave also to say that, generally speaking, there were considerable sums of money, to the amount of upwards of 1,000*l.* a year, collected more than the expenditure: in some instances not so, but generally speaking.

How have you obtained this information, and what documents have you?—I received my information from a person who had access to the treasurer's books.

Will you state who that person was?—As it was a circumstance communicated to me in confidence, it might be thought a breach of trust if I were to divulge the name of the party; but the Committee might get the information from the treasurer. I have ascertained, from inquiries of other persons connected with the county rates, that the amount of the sum received during those five years exceeded the amount of the expenditure exactly in the sum that I have stated.

Have you any means of ascertaining, in the five years you speak of, in which you state there was an excess of 15,000*l.* in the amount collected beyond the expenditure; have you any means of ascertaining at the commencement of that period whether there was any arrear in which the county was debtor in any particular sum, or at the end of the period there was any surplus?—I have ascertained there was, the year previous to that, something, a mere trifle more than was collected.

Have you ascertained whether the year previous to that first year of 1815 there were any arrears due from the county to individuals; or whether, at the expiration of those five years, there was any balance in the hands of the treasurer that would account for the 15,000*l.* which you have stated to have been received beyond the expenditure?—I have ascertained what was due on the former year's account; there was something due to the treasurer in 1814; there was 12,602*l.* paid, and only 12,000*l.* collected; therefore there was 602*l.* in that year due to the treasurer.

What was the balance due to the treasurer upon the whole account?—I should think there was nothing whatever, but a considerable sum in his hands; the next year, 1812, it was 12,300*l.* paid, and the treasurer only accounted for 11,500*l.*; so that is 1,400*l.* in those two years excess of payment; but if you go to the year before, there was more collected than paid.

Are you aware of the items to which the account applies; does the account apply to any item after the collection of the county rates, or immediately previous to the period before the collection of the county rates?—Immediately after the whole year's collection and the whole year's expenditure.

Are you aware that the treasurer would immediately be called upon to pay away a considerable part of the money in consequence of the orders of the quarter sessions, to which it is connected?—I have no knowledge of that circumstance: I have

Mr. H. Hunt.

23 March, 1825.

I have only this statement here. If I should have been deceived, I will most readily give up the name of the person who has given me the information; I must do it now, if the Committee insist upon it.

Can you point out to us any mode by which we can obtain the information without your giving up the name of the person who furnished you with it?—I think you may obtain that information from the inspection of the treasurer of the county's accounts; those accounts would give you the information you require.

Do you infer from that circumstance that there has been any misapplication of the county's rates?—I only suspect, from documents and information which I have received, that there has been great misapplication.

Do you consider that the difference arises from any fraud committed, or whether it is simply a balance in the treasurer's hands?—I have no charge to make against the treasurer, I should wish to observe to the Committee, during the investigation——

What was the year in which that investigation took place?—In the year 1821. The expenditure of that gaol of Ilchester had been averaged at 5,000*l.* a year; from 4 to 5,000*l.* a year previous to that investigation; and after that the expenditure was reduced to 2,000*l.* and under.

What portion of that expenditure of 5,000*l.* did the gaoler receive?—He received an allowance for the conveyance of prisoners, and also a fixed salary: his salary was 500*l.* a year; and he received a certain sum for the conveyance of the prisoners, and the support of the prisoners. A very considerable portion of the expense is incurred, in my opinion, for what is called the gaol labour. The new gaoler's salary was reduced 100*l.* a year less than the old one; but the salaries of the turnkeys and chaplain were increased so as to make up that deficiency. To my knowledge, the prisoners were much better, and more expensively clothed, fed and lodged afterwards, when the expenditure was 2,000*l.* a year, than when it was 5,000*l.* a year: they were kept, in the former instance, upon bread and water, and extremely badly clothed; in the latter instance, they were well clothed, and were allowed meat three times a week, and soup occasionally. The gaoler had a regular salary, and his lodging and other things paid for him; he was to find himself in provisions, coals and candles. It came out in the evidence that instead of that, he had for years been in the habit of mainly living upon the food that was brought into the gaol for the sick prisoners.

Do you consider, in the expenditure now of 2,000*l.* a year there is any abuse?—I cannot say at this moment.

Have you any evidence to state to the Committee relative to the expense incurred for the employment of prisoners in gaol?—All the work of the gaol was done by the prisoners; all the hewing of stone and laying of stone was done by the prisoners; and I made a calculation, in several instances, in which the prisoners were employed, from which calculation it appeared that it cost the country three times as much as it would to employ artizans to do the work.

How did you make that calculation?—I made it by inquiring of persons, and getting the measure of the work done by the prisoners, and comparing it with what it had cost, and the regular charge which would have been made by proper artizans employed for that purpose.

Do you mean that the prisoners were actually paid more money for their work than would have been paid to artizans?—No, I do not mean to say that; the prisoners were only paid a very small portion; the living and clothing, and what was paid to them, was much larger than what would be paid by the county, if regular artizans had been employed.

Would not the county have been obliged to have fed and clothed the prisoners, supposing they had not been employed?—Certainly.

How do you make out that it cost the county more to employ the prisoners than employing artizans?—I think it cost the county a great deal more than it would have done by employing artizans; for these reasons, in the first place, the gaoler had a certain allowance upon all the work that the prisoners did; he values that work, the prisoners are paid so much and the gaoler is paid so much for all the work that is done; and it appears, beyond all doubt, that more was paid by the county for what was done than what was received for what was done. It was the habit in Ilchester gaol to employ the prisoners in the manufacturing of carpets from the raw material, and the prisoners manufactured enough not only for that gaol and other gaols in the county, but a considerable quantity was sold, and there was no credit given in many instances for what was sold by the gaoler.

Mr. H. Hunt.

23 March, 1825.

Do you conceive that the raw material manufactured into carpets in the gaol would sell for more in the market than the raw material itself would?—In many instances nothing like it; from my own knowledge, I can state, that a pack of wool, in its raw state, was worth 5 l. more than when it was manufactured in the gaol.

Are there not some modes of employing prisoners in Ilchester gaol that have been profitable to the county?—I think not.

Is your knowledge confined to Ilchester gaol?—Yes, it is; I was there two years and a half.

Do you not suppose, that under proper management many of those works, in which the prisoners were employed, might have been made profitable to the county?—Certainly. I beg leave to add that I think it would be beneficial to the county, provided there was a different mode of management; I think all labour done by prisoners, over which the gaolers have a control, and which goes through their hands, may be profitable for them, but cannot be profitable to the county.

Do you carry that to breaking stones?—No; I think that would be one thing in which the prisoners could not do any mischief, and which might be profitable to the county. There is a great disposition on the part of prisoners who are sentenced to labour, to do as much mischief as they can to injure the materials. With regard to what I have stated as to the 15,000 l. being collected more than was accounted for in the expenditure, I was about to state how to account for that sum of money being expended; I know that the gaoler received 2 or 3,000 l. a year from his situation; I had the means of ascertaining, although the Commissioners did not allow us to go into evidence as to other gaols, yet I was prepared to show there were as many unnecessary expenses in other gaols as there was in this gaol, which was cried up to be a crack gaol, and with respect to its regulations and management, as an example to all other gaols in the kingdom.

Do you mean to say one material part of the great increase of the expenses of the county arises from the conduct of the gaoler?—Certainly; I beg to add although all these things were proved, there was no prosecution instituted by the magistrates against the gaoler.

Do you know how far the difference of the sum collected and received by the treasurer may be accounted for by the expense of collection by the constables?—I do not; it appears by the returns that the sum of 100,000 l. in five years is the gross sum collected; that appears by the treasurer's books. There are considerable expenses incurred in the county of late years, to pay under-sheriffs, which were formerly never paid. The under-sheriffs get many thousands a year by the fees.

What is paid now?—In 1816 there was 119 l. paid, in 1817, 266 l. and in 1818, 203 l.; there was nothing charged for under-sheriffs till 1803, and then the first charge was 50 l.

What was that for?—I do not know.

Will it appear from the treasurer's books and the treasurer's vouchers?—I should think so certainly; I beg leave also to add there is an enormous increase in the sum paid to the clerk of the peace.

Do you know the particulars of those charges with respect to the under-sheriff?—I do not; with respect to the clerk of the peace I have gone as far back as 1805, the amount of the receipts of the clerk of the peace at that period averaged about 251 l. a year, in 1817 it was 950 l.

Can you explain how that increase has arisen?—I cannot.

What has been the increase with respect to the conveyance of prisoners?—The expense for the conveyance of prisoners in 1805 was 70 l. in 1818 it was 1,326 l. I know that the gaoler used to calculate upon making every assizes 100 l. by the conveyance of prisoners.

Have you any reason to believe that the rate of allowance for the conveyance of prisoners has increased of late years, to what it was formerly?—I believe not; there may have been some alteration in the conveyance of prisoners since.

Did you not state that the former gaoler made 100 l. at every assizes, by the conveyance of prisoners?—Yes.

Do you know whether the present gaoler makes any sum by that conveyance?—I do not; I should suppose there is a different contract with him; I wish to take the liberty of showing to the Committee that there was a great increase in the

Mr. H. Hunt.

23 March, 1825.

the charge of the keepers of the prison; I begin when it was very low, in 1804, in that year there was paid to the three keepers of the prisons in the county, 806*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* and in 1818 there was paid 8,608*l.* 12*s.*

Under what head is that expenditure stated?—It stands under the head "Keepers, Prisons of."

Does it include all the maintenance of the prisoners, and other expenses incidental to the gaols?—Yes, I presume it does; in 1804 the charge is 806*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* and in 1814, 3,900*l.* in 1815, 4,300*l.* in 1816, 5,000*l.* in 1817, 6,900*l.* and in 1818, 8,608*l.* 18*s.*

Can you state the number of prisoners in the gaols of the county of Somerset during those years?—No, I cannot.

What was the amount of the charge for the prosecution of felons in those years?—In 1805 it was 411*l.* and in 1818 it was 4,276*l.*

Can you state what has been the expenditure since?—No, I cannot; for this reason, that although the commissioners appointed to investigate into the abuses of Ilchester gaol sat in 1821, yet they got no returns higher than 1818.

Do you mean to say that they required returns for a subsequent period, and did not get them?—Yes; they required all the returns from the clerk of the peace.

Is there not an Act of Parliament by which the treasurer of the county is required to furnish his accounts annually?—I believe there is an Act of Parliament to compel the treasurer to send his accounts to the office of the clerk of the peace.

Are they not annually furnished in every county?—I believe they are.

Do they not state what they were for?—Yes they do, a great many of them.

Have you any thing else to communicate to the Committee?—I should wish to observe, that I have made a calculation of the expense of the prisoners labour, and the conveyance of prisoners, for one year, in the county of Somerset; it was much more expensive than in any other county.

What year was that?—1819. I know that the gaoler derives a considerable profit from the labour of prisoners, and also from their conveyance.

Do you know of any existing abuses in the collection, management or expenditure of the county rates; and if you know of any abuse, have you any thing to suggest to the Committee as a remedy for those abuses?—I know that the county rates are increasing: after the investigation I speak of they were reduced down to under 10,000*l.* a year, instead of 21,806*l.* in the county of Somerset; and now I know they are very considerably increased, without my knowing there is any other cause for their increase but some mismanagement; because, with respect to the charge for the maintenance of the prisoners in the gaol, the increase in the price of provisions was so trifling last year, that it could not affect the county rates to any thing like the extent to what they were increased last year.

Do you know whether the increase of prisoners has not occasioned the increase upon the charge of the county rates?—No; in that gaol I am speaking of I think they are diminished, because the magistrates have converted into a gaol the house of correction.

Are you confining your observations to the increased expense of any particular gaol, or to the whole county?—To the whole county.

Do you know whether the number of prisoners have, or not, increased since?—I have not the means of knowing.

Do you know as to what particular items the expenditure has increased?—In the items which I have alluded to, after the investigation to which I have alluded had taken place, the county rates were reduced to under 10,000*l.*

In what year was that?—In 1821; it was then much under 10,000*l.* to my knowledge.

How many gaols are there in the county of Somerset?—There were three gaols; it was determined upon by the magistrates that one of the gaols should be made a house of correction, and another kept as a county gaol.

What was the practice with respect to the payment of the prisoners in Ilchester gaol for their labour?—If the prisoners worked they were paid 1*s.* a week and 1*s.* funded; some of them would earn 3*s.* a week, then there would be 1*s.* 6*d.* a week paid to them and 1*s.* 6*d.* funded. I happen to know that it often happened when the prisoners went out of the gaol, they had 2*l.* or 3*l.* to receive, and there was hardly an instance occurred of a prisoner not spending the money and getting drunk before he went out of the town.

What remedy do you propose, which would have the effect of diminishing the charges upon the county rates?—I think upon a proper investigation of the accounts many of the charges might be reduced. My opinion is, that the committee of magistrates at the quarter sessions could never have time for properly investigating the accounts while they were there; they must be necessarily passed over without their having the means of knowing whether the money was properly paid or not: if they get one or two of the body to examine into the accounts of the county, I think they might fairly diminish the expenditure; but just meeting the day previous to the quarter sessions it is impossible that they can go properly into the accounts. I suggest also that the mode which is now adopted in Lancashire with respect to the gaolers must be a great saving; that is, giving the gaoler a regular salary and nothing more. It was calculated at Lancaster gaol that the gaoler's situation was worth 3,000*l.* a year; if the gaoler's salary was liberal, as liberal as the magistrates throught proper to allow, I think it would be much more advantageous than to allow them to have any perquisites.

Do you think they should extend it to any allowance to the gaoler from the labour of the prisoners?—Certainly; I think not a farthing should be allowed to the gaoler out of the labour of the prisoners; there should be some proper person to look after them, but the gaoler should not have any thing out of their labour.

Do you not think it would be a stimulus to the gaoler to exert himself in keeping the prisoners fully employed, if he participated in the profits arising from the labour?—As far as I have had the means of observing, I certainly think not.

Do you give that opinion as applicable to Ilchester gaol only, or as applicable to other gaols generally throughout the country, where the prisoners are employed?—My opinion is, that Ilchester gaol was as well managed as any gaol in the kingdom. My humble opinion is, that there are great abuses in all gaols; and my observation does not apply to Ilchester gaol in particular, for I think that gaol was as well managed as any other gaol I have had the means of seeing.

What other head of amendment occurs to you?—I think the great thing would be to reform the abuses of the gaols; I think the whole arises from the gaolers. There is one other observation I wish to make, and that is, that the constables who do the real work of the county, there is nothing for them, they get less and less; the allowance for them does appear extremely small.

Are you aware that in some counties the constables appointed substitute others in their places and give them no remuneration, and yet those individuals find it a profitable employment to act as constables in the place of the principal?—I am perfectly aware of that.

How do you account for that?—The fact is, they derive considerable emolument by extorting money from the prisoners going to prison.

Do you know any instance of that?—I do not know of any individual case, but I know it is frequently done; they are in the habit,in conveying prisoners to gaol, to allow them to stop at inns, for which they get some remuneration from the prisoner.

Do you not know that there is a certain allowance made to the constables, and they have certain salaries?—I do not know that they have any salary, except in this way: I see, from the returns, that what the constables were paid out the county rates in 1818 was 11*l.* 2*s.*; in that year there was a great number of prisoners the gaolers expenses was 8,000*l.* and the constables only receive 11*l.*

Are you not aware there is an Act of Parliament which says, that constables may make a charge upon the parish for all expenses incurred in the exercise of their duty, not provided for by law, and that the parish overseers are to pay that out of the rates; if they have any doubt of the propriety of making that payment they may refer it to the neighbouring magistrate, and the magistrate may refer it to the quarter sessions; but after those three investigations by the parish officers, the magistrate and the quarter sessions, it must then be paid out of the parish rate?—I am not aware of such an Act of Parliament.

Are you not aware there is a mode by which constables may be paid for the discharge of their duty, independant of any charge on the county rate?—I am not aware of any other mode than what I have mentioned. I beg to state in this part of my evidence, that it appears in the year 1818, when the expense for the conveyance of prisoners amounted to 1,326*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.* and the amount of the expenses for the prosecution of felons was 4,276*l.* 5*s.* 11*d.* that the constables were only paid for their trouble, in the discharge of their duty, in that year 11*l.* 2*s.*; they are not paid any thing by the parish for felons, but they may be paid for parish business.

What do you consider to be the duty of the constables for which they were paid 11 l. in 1818?—In any part of the county in which they may take a prisoner, to convey him to gaol. Mr. H. Hunt. 23 March, 1825.

Have you any thing further to add?—No I have not.

Veneris, 25° die Martij, 1825.

WILLIAM DICKINSON, ESQUIRE,

IN THE CHAIR.

Nathaniel Vye Lee, Esq. of Ilfracombe, Devon, called in; and Examined.

HAVE the County Rates in Devon increased of late years?—No. Nathaniel Vye Lee, Esq. 25 March, 1825.

Have they rather diminished?—They have diminished, and they would have diminished much more considerably but for the expense attending the erection of tread-mills, and other additions to our prisons and county buildings.

If it had not been for that, would they have decreased?—They would have decreased considerably.

There was a committee of inquiry I believe?—Yes.

What was the decrease owing to, do you think?—In part to the increased value of the currency. If I may be permitted, I will state as far as I can do from recollection, the proceedings of the expenditure committee, which has been alluded to, and of which I acted as chairman; it sat four years from Epiphany sessions 1820, and during that period it made twelve reports: the first was on vagrancy; and under its recommendation the court directed simultaneous privy searches to be made throughout the county, on days fixed by the court, and privately communicated by the clerk of the peace to the clerks of the justices in their several divisions, and to the magistrates of local jurisdictions, whose concurrence was requested in the measure, and who did zealously concur therein.

What was the object?—The apprehension of vagrants, who at that time occasioned an enormous charge to the county.

What was the result?—It was extremely beneficial.

In what way?—By reducing the number of vagrants; but since the passing of Sir George Chetwynd's bill, we have abandoned the measure; that Act annulled all the preceding vagrant laws, and not having re-enacted any provisions for privy search, the expenditure committee conceived that the power of magistrates to order such searches had ceased. I believe that they are still continued in some counties.

It was owing to your efforts, and not to Sir George Chetwynd's bill, that the expenses were so much decreased?—I did not mean to say that: Sir George Chetwynd's bill has still further decreased the expense very considerably.

By preventing passing?—Yes; and saving the expense of their maintenance in and conveyance from the bridewell.

Are you speaking of Vagrants?—Yes. The expense of conveying prisoners generally (including vagrants) from our gaol and bridewell, amounted to upwards of 1,900 l. a year. This service was performed by the governor of the bridewell at a profit to himself, I believe, of upwards of 1,200 l. a year; it was found that his charges in many instances exceeded the charges which would have been incurred by sending them in postchaises. Under the recommendation of the expenditure committee, contracts were entered into for the performance of this service; the contract for the first year was 600 l. and afterwards for 700 l. per year. These contracts have been discontinued since the passing of Sir George Chetwynd's bill, and the head of charge for conveyance from the gaol and bridewell has been reduced to a very small sum. The conveyance of prisoners to the gaol and bridewell, averaged, under our old system, about 3,000 l. per year.

Conveyance of prisoners to gaol?—Yes, and to the bridewell.

Where is the gaol and bridewell?—Both at Exeter. I should state that the last-mentioned charge of 3,000 l. per year was under the old system of magistrates giving orders on the treasurer for the expense sworn to by constables as having been incurred by them in the conveyance of prisoners; there was no regular system for controlling these charges. The expenditure committee recommended that the magistrates, in their general divisions, should advertise for contractors for the conveyance

Nathaniel Vye Lee, Esq.

25 March, 1825.

veyance of felons and vagrants to the gaol and bridewell; and under this system the charges have been reduced in some cases one half, and in others two thirds, as compared with the former charges. There are great inequalities in these contracts; they vary from 10 d. to 2 s. and 3 s. per mile.

There is only, I think, one county gaol and one house of correction for the county of Devon?—We have a gaol, a bridewell, and a sheriff's ward for debtors.

With reference to criminal law, the gaol and the house of correction are both at Exeter, there is no other for the county?—There is no other; both are at Exeter.

Has it ever occurred to you whether it would ultimately increase or decrease the expenses of the county of Devon, if there were another house of correction in some other part of the county, and another place for holding the quarter sessions by adjournment?—I am not prepared to answer that question; but if a separate jurisdiction were to be formed for Devonport, there would be an immense saving to the county; there was a measure recommended by the ninth report of the expenditure committee, but it did not meet the approbation of the court of quarter sessions.

Are the quarter sessions held at one place?—Yes.

Does Roborough include Plymouth?—Plymouth is in the hundred of Roborough, but that town has a separate jurisdiction; Devonport is in the southern magisterial division of Roborough. We have had great difficulty in inducing the magistrates of the several divisions of the county to make regular returns of the contracts entered into for the conveyance; although the chairman of the sessions and the clerk of the peace have endeavoured to procure such returns, they are still very imperfect.

Are you going to Conveyance?—Yes.

Does a large proportion of the expense of conveyance of prisoners arise from the single hundred of Roborough?—A very considerable proportion arises from the hundred of Roborough, in which Plymouth and Devonport are situated, as was stated to the quarter sessions in the ninth report of the expenditure committee, which I have already alluded to.

It principally arises from the distance of those populous towns from the place where the gaols are situated?—Yes.

In the answer you gave relative to the expense of the conveyance of prisoners, do you mean to include the expense of conveying prisoners to the hulks?—No.

You do not include the expense of conveying prisoners from, only to the gaols?—Under our old system the conveyance from the gaols and bridewells cost 1,900 l. per year, under the new system 600 l. or 700 l. per year; but this head of charge has almost entirely ceased. When we paid 1,900 l. a year, the service was performed by the governor of the bridewell, who, there is reason to believe, derived from it a profit of upwards of 1,200 l. per year. The charges for conveying prisoners to the gaol and bridewell under the old system, averaged about 3,000 l. per year: by the system of contracts it has been much reduced.

It did not include conveyance to the hulks?—No.

Do you know any thing of the expense of the conveyance from the gaol to the hulks?—It is performed by the governor of the gaol; I do not remember what he is paid by the county; but in a return of the emoluments of his office, I think that he allowed himself to derive a profit of about 30 s. a head on these conveyances.

Are you aware of any contracts having been made by magistrates at their different petty sessions, for the conveyance of prisoners to the respective gaols?—Yes; that measure was recommended by the expenditure committee to be generally acted upon throughout the county; but it has not been uniformly adopted, although exertions have been made by the court of quarter sessions to have it carried into full effect.

Have the prisoners charges been reduced to the amount of one-half and two-thirds of what they were formerly?—In some instances they have been so reduced.

Of course you think that a beneficial arrangement?—I do.

Are the allowances, or mileages, particularly large from one part of the county as compared to another?—From Tavistock and Lifton they are the highest, being respectively 2 s. 3 d. and 2 s. 2 d. per mile. The contract from Cullompton is the lowest, being 10 d. per mile.

Will you go on to another head?—To our Buildings. Under the old system of management I think that the expenditure for the repairs and alterations of our county buildings,

Nathaniel Vye Lee, Esq.

25 March, 1825.

buildings, exceeded 1,950 l. per year. The expenditure committee recommended that the repairs should be performed under contracts; the contract for those years was for about 420 l. per year. The castle of Exeter, in which the courts of justice was held, is one of these county buildings; it has not been erected many years, and is a fine, plain and substantial building; the expenditure on it exceeded 400 l. per year. The contract for its repairs was, I think, about 60 l. per year.

You say 60 l. instead of 400 l.?—The 400 l. included alterations; the contract only went to repairs.

Now go to the next head?—The expenditure committee recommended the adoption of a new system respecting County Bridges; for a long series of years the court of quarter sessions had been in the practice of directing the repairs and alterations of bridges without such previous presentments by the grand jury as is required by the law.

Money was awarded on application?—Yes, without presentments, by grand juries.

How is it since that time?—The court made a series of orders, which I believe have not been fully carried into effect. A general bridge committee was appointed to assemble in Exeter. It was recommended that the magistrates in their several divisions should form sub-committees for the management of the bridges in such divisions respectively; and that for the special care and superintendance of each bridge, two or more magistrates residing near thereto be annually appointed, pursuant to the Act of the 52 Geo. 3. which had never been carried into effect in the county of Devon. I beg permission of the Committee to notice a clause in that Act, authorizing two magistrates, having been at the previous Easter sessions appointed conservators of any particular bridge, to order repairs not exceeding 20 l. whereas the following clause authorizes the quarter sessions to pay the expense of such repairs not exceeding 10 l.

Would it not be desirable to extend the power of the Bridge Act beyond 20 l.?—In my opinion not to magistrates out of sessions.

Should you think it advisable to extend it to magistrates in sessions, without presentments?—No.

Do you know at all what is the reduction of the bridge expenditure of the county of Devon, in consequence of the committee of expenditure; since the committee was appointed?—The reduction has been considerable; but it has been influenced by various other causes. I believe the expense on our bridges will decrease; that is assuming that no new bridges are added to the list. May I be permitted to observe to the Committee that counties are frequently burthened with the charges of maintaining bridges which have become necessary in consequence of the diversion of streams from their natural courses, for the purposes of millers and manufacturers.

Do you know the proportion in which it is reduced?—No, I do not; but the reduction is considerable. We have 259 county bridges in Devonshire.

Are all the bridges you have enumerated county bridges, maintained out of the rate of the county, or are they maintainable by the hundreds?—They are all maintained by the county. I should say that some few of them are maintained jointly by the counties of Devon and Cornwall, and Devon and Somerset.

Have you also other bridges maintained by hundreds?—I am not aware of any.

You have bridges maintained by hundreds?—I am not aware of any maintainable by hundreds, but a great many which are in point of fact maintained by parishes, and particularly in the northern part of the county.

Have you one general bridge surveyor for the whole county?—We have.

In what manner is he paid?—By a salary.

Has he no per-centage?—None.

Do you recollect the amount of his salary?—550 l.

Not merely as a surveyor of bridges; he has other work?—He is surveyor of bridges, buildings and gaols. I should perhaps state that he undertakes to make two annual surveys of all the bridges of the county.

Has he any travelling expenses?—No.

Would not the expense of building a New Gaol ultimately be covered by the vast facilities it would give?—I have no hesitation in stating, that as far as regards Devonport, it would in my opinion be a material saving to the county; but I should at the same time say, that when the subject was brought under the consideration of the court of quarter sessions, the court decided against the expediency of the measure by a very great majority.

Nathaniel Vye Lee, Esq.

25 March, 1825.

The surveyor is not confined to bridges?—Bridges and buildings. The court, on the recommendation of the expenditure committee, have ordered that repairs or alterations estimated by the surveyor at 100*l.* or upwards, shall be executed by contracts entered into after tenders have been advertised for.

Does the presentment of bridges by constables at the quarter sessions lead to any abuse?—I am not aware that county bridges are so presented: parish bridges sometimes are.

Are the tenders received by the bridge surveyor only, or are the magistrates deputed to investigate them?—Either by the bridge committee, or by a committee of magistrates specially appointed.

You will now go to another head?—If the committee pleases, to the Expenses of prisoners previous to Commitment. It was found that considerable charges were made for the expenses of prisoners previous to their commitment. Conceiving the power of ordering payment of such charges to be vested in the courts by which offenders are tried, it was by the expenditure committee recommended that orders on the treasurer of the county for the expenses of conveying any felon or other offender to prison, should expressly state, that the whole of the expenses included in such order were incurred subsequently to the commitment of such felon or offender.

What is the fact about that, is it ordered by the magistrates?—It used to be ordered by the magistrates to be paid by the treasurer, being included in the constables charges for the conveyance of the prisoners.

Now how was it that the expenditure committee recommended that should not be continued, but it should be established by the court at which the prisoner was tried; was it ordered by them?—It was considered that the practice alluded to was illegal; the Judges at assizes, and the chairman at the quarter sessions, have, I believe, authority to order such payments, and do order them. I believe that considerable expense is thrown on counties by the conveyance of persons committed to prison for non-performance of orders in bastardy; after they get to prison, many of them pay the charges brought against them by the parishes, and the counties lose the charges of their conveyance, as they may not have any tangible property.

Only if there be no property it seems remediless?—The county should be paid the expense of conveyance, as well as the parish, the sum due under the order of bastardy. If the prisoner pays the one, he should pay the other. The establishment of a permanent committee of accounts was recommended to, and adopted by the court of quarter sessions. Its duty is to investigate the accounts of the treasurer, the items of the several charges, and to ascertain not only their justness, but whether they were ordered by legal authority. The court directed the treasurer whenever an increase should occur in any head of charge beyond the average of the three preceding years, to call the attention of the court thereto; and should he be unable satisfactorily to explain the cause of such increase, to apply for a special committee to inquire into the cause thereof.

Would it not be advisable to publish all the items of expense in the county in a volume for the use of the magistrates, specifying the name of each magistrate that has made an order on the treasurer for any particular sum, and the cause?—I should be inclined to think that that would be going too much into detail.

It has been done in two of the largest counties in the kingdom?—Of the published county accounts which I have inspected, those of Dorsetshire, Somersetshire and Staffordshire, appear to me to be the best arranged. Those of Staffordshire are minute, and a good deal in detail, but not so much as has been suggested by the question of the honourable member.

If your treasurer saw any thing extraordinary or unusual in any bill directed to be paid by the magistrates, would he pay it as a matter of course, or would he lay it before the sessions?—I should not conceive that the treasurer would be warranted in refusing orders of magistrates for the conveyance of felons on account of their amount, because I believe that it is quite discretionary with magistrates to order what sums they think reasonable for such purpose; but if the treasurer saw any charge which he conceived to be illegal or irregular, he would suspend the payment of it until the sessions.

Staffordshire you said was minute?—Minute, but not too minute. In answer to a former question as to the publication of accounts, I beg permission to state, that that I should think the publishing of all orders for the repairs of bridges very desirable, as well as a table showing the rates per mile of the several contracts for conveyance of prisoners.

Nathaniel Vye Lee, Esq.

25 March, 1825.

Do you not apprehend if there were a book of annual publication of all the sums ordered by magistrates for the conveyance of prisoners, that would tend very much to give you the power of ordering sums according to circumstances, without so much possibility of abuse as existed heretofore, and at the same time beneficial?—I do not know how far it may be desirable in other counties, but in Devon, under the system of contracts, I do not see that any advantage would be derived from publishing each individual order; but I think that very considerable advantage would be derived by publishing how much is paid from one division and how much from another.

That would defeat the whole object, because the great thing is to know how many miles it is, and it being stated what the sum is, and what the distance is, you know how much it costs per mile?—According to the Devonshire system, returns are made to the quarter sessions of the contracts entered into by the magistrates in the divisions, stating places to be conveyed from, the contractors names, the number of miles, and the sum for the conveyance of each prisoner; I think such an annual publication very desirable.

In fact, the custom which prevails in Devon, of having this contracted for, and these committees, which seem to be so useful, would do away with that evil which exists in other counties?—I believe that in a great measure it would.

You said Staffordshire was very minute?—Yes; the accounts of Dorsetshire appear to me to be very well arranged, and that the Somersetshire plan of publishing averages of seven years is very useful. Perhaps it would be better if the averages were taken on periods of ten years. It was found in Devonshire that in many cases witnesses and constables (particularly from Devonport) were under recognizances to appear on several trials, and were paid their travelling charges and expenses on each; to remedy this, it was ordered that the clerk of indictments should furnish the clerk of the peace with alphabetical lists of the names of such persons, so as to enable him to prevent their being paid on more than one trial.

Witnesses and constables?—Yes; but it is chiefly to constables who attend as witnesses that I referred.

Would it not be a sufficient remedy if constables were instructed, that they were to make but one charge for one attendance?—I doubt it very much. Another remedy suggested for it was, that magistrates should not deliver stolen goods to the constable, unless his evidence were necessary to prove the finding. This was, I believe, recommended by one of the Judges from the bench.

Who examines the castings-up and computations; suppose a thing is stated so many yards at 2*s.* 2*d.* per yard, who examines that?—The treasurer.

Is there no accountant or magistrate to examine the computations of the treasurer?—We have a committee of accounts, composed of twelve magistrates; three forms a quorum; and we take it by turns to meet on the day previous to each quarter session. There is no accountant besides the treasurer.

Does the magistrate who comes in rotation go through all the castings?—I think it is previously done by the treasurer, and certified to be correct.

Have you made any reform in your office of clerk of the peace?—We have; but that was not under the expenditure committee. There was a special committee appointed for that purpose.

Are the balances large in your treasurer's hands?—Very small; there was formerly, I believe, an understanding that the treasurer should keep in his hands 2,000*l.* besides the sums necessary to meet the casual expenditure of the county; but that has been done away with, and he had, in consequence, an increase of salary.

To whom is the balance of the former year properly brought up?—The committee of accounts.

Will you go on to another head?—I believe I have gone through the whole.

You were going to mention the clerk of the peace?—There were special committees appointed on that subject; I am not able to give more information as to the reformation in the office of clerk of the peace, than that a table of fees has been arranged.

Was it not recommended by the quarter sessions, as he was an old servant, that no reform should take place?—The court, in consideration of the long services of the clerk of the peace, had a feeling in his favour; but a committee was appointed,

Nathaniel Vye Lee, Esq.

25 March, 1825.

and a table of fees arranged by them has received the sanction of the Judges. I believe that there is an understanding that such table of fees is to be revised whenever a successor is appointed to the present clerk of the peace.

The clerk of the peace's fees?—Yes.

What fees?—The fees he is to take.

Is he paid entirely by fees, or partly by salary?—He has no salary.

Do you know the aggregate amount of the fees?—No, I do not.

Is it as much as a thousand a year?—I don't know whether any return has been made of the fees.

Do the Judges allow more expenses at the assizes for prosecutions than they do at the quarter sessions?—I am inclined to think that the allowance for the attendance of witnesses at the quarter sessions is 5*s.* per day, and at the assizes, 7*s.* per day; but I speak on this point without certainty.

And travelling expenses besides?—Yes.

Is the treasurer paid by a salary, or has he any perquisite?—I do not believe that he has any perquisites as treasurer.

Do you know the amount of his salary?—I think it is 250*l.*

Are any great balances suffered to remain in his hands?—Very small balances remain in his hands.

Those expenses which ought to fall to the sheriff by law, are they in any way adopted by the county, by way of relieving the sheriff?—I am not aware of any. The expenditure committee examined all the accounts of the present treasurer, who, I believe, has been in office twelve or fourteen years, and only in two instances did they discover any charge which did not appear to them to be authorized by law. I do not mean to say that there may not have been other charges incurred in an irregular manner, but that they were all, excepting two instances, for objects chargeable by law on the county rate.

Jovis, 28° die Aprilis, 1825.

WILLIAM DICKINSON, ESQUIRE,

IN THE CHAIR.

Thomas Stirling, Esq. called in; and Examined.

Thomas Stirling, Esq.

28 April, 1825.

DO you not fill the office of clerk of the peace for the county of Middlesex?—I fill the office of deputy clerk of the peace for the county of Middlesex.

Are you aware that in 1818 an order of the House of Commons was made for the returns of fees of the clerk of the peace for the different counties?—I do not recollect receiving such an order; I do not recollect receiving any order of the kind.

Have you a list of the fees on criminal prosecutions at the assizes and sessions?—We have nothing to do with the assizes; there are no assizes in Middlesex.

Have you a list of the fees upon criminal prosecutions at the sessions?—Yes, we have.

Do you know what the fees are, without reference to paper?—Certainly not: there are a great variety of fees belonging to the office of the clerk of the peace for Middlesex; it is impossible I could tell what they are without paper; we have a list of them.

Do you happen to know whether the fees of prosecutions on acquittal are different to those upon conviction?—No, they are not.

What rule have you at the quarter sessions for paying witnesses upon trials upon prosecutions for criminal offences; we confine ourselves now to prosecutions?—The way in which it is usually done is, it is left by the chairman to me to inquire what the nature of the attendance has been, and how many days the parties have attended; and what expense the party has been put to by the bill of indictment, according to the length of it, and what they have paid out of pocket; and I allow so much for their time, and the money which they have been out of pocket.

Have you any established rule by which you are guided?—The way I make the allowances is this—the parties who attend in those cases, and require to be paid, are generally people of a low situation in life; gentlemen do not require to be paid, when they attend; but with respect to the ordinary low people, my custom is,

Thomas Stirling, Esq.

28 April, 1825.

to give them half a crown per day for loss of time, and likewise giving them the exact sum of money they have been out of pocket.

Do you pay the witnesses more when they come from a distance?—We do not inquire where they come from, because they always are home witnesses which we have.

Are you aware that a few years ago there took place the repeal of the Blood Money Act?—Yes.

Were not the fees which then came to be paid by the county very considerable?—Yes, they are very large which are to be paid by the county; not at the sessions, but those which come from the Old Bailey, amount to a large sum—a great deal more than the blood money, as it was called.

Has the repeal of the blood money increased the fees of the clerk of the peace?—Not at all.

What is the difference between the fees paid at the assizes and sessions on prosecutions?—Very considerable.

The fees at the assizes are larger?—A great deal, I believe; we have no assizes in Middlesex; and the fees which are paid by the treasurer of the county on account of witnesses, and other things of that kind, are what arise at the Old Bailey, there being no assizes.

Is there considerable difference between fees paid at the sessions and assizes?—Yes, there is.

Do you say there are no assizes in the county of Middlesex?—There are no assizes in the county of Middlesex.

From what source do you obtain the information, that the fees at the assizes are larger than the sessions?—I have been in the profession of the law for fifty years, and I know that the fees I have paid at the assizes are more than are taken at the sessions for Middlesex.

Speaking of the expenses of prosecutions that are asked for by prosecutors, when do you begin with them; what is the first fee you pay?—The first fee paid, in Middlesex, is upon obtaining the bill of indictment; that is the first process: the prosecutor goes to the clerk of the indictments, and has the bill of indictment drawn out for him.

Is that the first item charged in the prosecutor's bill?—They do not make out bills; they ask the court that they may have their expenses, and the court refers it to me to inquire what is the nature of the attendance which has been given by them, and the expenses they have been at, and as they try nothing but petty larcenies and misdemeanors, they try nothing beyond that; the bill for a petty larceny does not amount to more than 2*s.* the bill of indictment is not above 2*s.* and I allow them for their attendance according to their appearance; if they appear in a better situation than the lower order of people usually are, I allow them sixpence or a shilling more for their daily attendance; if they are common ordinary persons, I allow them half a crown a day.

Do prosecutors in a good situation of life apply for their expenses?—Very seldom; sometimes gentlemen say, pay the expenses, and give them to the officer attending for me.

Is it left to the clerk of the peace to judge of the power of the parties applying for the expenses, or does he send a bill to be examined by the court?—There is no bill made out at all, the parties say they have paid for their bill of indictment 2*s.* or 2*s.* 6*d.* and they desire to be allowed for their attendance; the general rule is to allow them 2*s.* 6*d.* a day; that, for a working man with a family, is not too much; but it is reasonable the county should not be burthened with more than is absolutely necessary; the expenses at the Old Bailey are different.

Do you think if the allowance of expenses of prosecutors were considerably abridged, it would prevent persons prosecuting?—I have no doubt about it; if they go before the magistrates the magistrates bind them over, and they are bound to prosecute, at the penalty of the forfeiture of their recognizances; but when they come to the sessions, in the first instance, it is different; and if the expenses of the prosecution were not allowed, the prosecutors would be shy of it.

What is the amount, generally, of a prosecution?—A mere common prosecution, carried on in Middlesex, will not amount to above 30*s.* or 40*s.*

The whole expenses of the prosecution?—Yes.

As a matter of course, every prosecution must differ in the amount of the expense?—Yes; it may happen that some prosecutions may be attended with a great deal more expense than others; for instance, suppose the Bank has a prosecution, why then the indictment would reach from here to Westminster Abbey; when I say the expenses of a prosecution do not amount to more than 30 s. or 40 s. I am speaking generally of prosecutions for petty larceny and misdemeanors.

Thomas Stirling, Esq.

28 April, 1825.

Do you charge the expenses in one large sum, or give it in items?—We always charge the whole expenses which are to be paid in one sum; they are very trifling; in misdemeanors they pay the jury upon the trial. If a man is indicted for an assault, they pay to the jury 12 s.; it is quite a different thing in criminal prosecutions; where it is for petty larceny the expense of the bill of indictment is about 2 s. or 2 s. 6 d. and there are no other fees paid by the prosecutor.

The oaths for instance?—The oaths administered to witnesses on bills, supposing there are three witnesses to a bill, would amount to 1 s.; we receive but 4 d. per oath.

And counsel's fees?—We never make any allowance for counsel's fees; they are paid by the prosecutors and defendants, if they choose to give away their money in employing counsel.

You never allow them?—No, never; if the parties think fit to employ counsel they pay for them themselves.

Do you allow for attornies?—No.

What is it that you allow for the expenses of attendance?—Two shillings and sixpence is the most I take on myself to allow to persons attending as prosecutors for their attendance per day, and I allow them what they are out of pocket, after having ascertained it as nearly as I can.

Are there any fees payable by prisoners on their discharge?—There are no fees taken from a prisoner upon his discharge; the county pays the fees to the clerk of the peace, by a late Act of Parliament.

Is not that Act the 58th of the late King?—Yes.

Upon that very point you have given an answer; you say, that the fees formerly paid by prisoners upon their discharge are, since the passing of the 58th Geo. 3. paid by the county?—Yes.

Among those fees do you charge any fees for the discharge of a prisoner?—Yes, 2 s. 4 d. or some such sum, on the discharge of a prisoner.

That is a charge made on the county?—Yes, 2 s. 4 d. I think it is, upon the discharge of each prisoner.

Do you know under what statute you are authorized to charge that fee?—I think it is a late statute, passed within the last eight years.

I mean the fees on the discharge of prisoners?—Yes, the fees upon prisoners that are discharged.

Do you receive the fees?—Yes.

Do you know whether it is the Act of the 58th of the late King?—I do not know whether it is the 58th of the late King or not, I am not positive about that.

Before the passing of the 58th of the late King, did it not happen in many instances, owing to the poverty of the parties, that you did not get the fees which by law you were entitled to receive?—Certainly, very often.

And since the passing of the 58th of the late King you have invariably charged those fees to the county?—Of course, they are charged to the county.

So that in fact, the amount of fees received now are considerably larger than they were prior to passing the Act of the 58th of the late King?—On that point they are, because there were a great number of prisoners unable to pay, and therefore they could not pay.

I think you say, you regulate the allowances to each prosecutor?—Yes, in cases tried at the sessions; I have nothing to do with the Old Bailey.

Does the treasurer or do you pay the prosecutor?—The treasurer.

Under an order from the court?—Yes.

Does the order direct the treasurer to pay the whole amount of the expenses to the prosecutor, or to each witness entitled to receive compensation for their attendance?—It is paid to the witnesses.

Do you not allow any thing for attornies?—As to attornies, we never pay them any thing; we do not consider that the parties who, in prosecuting or defending, employing an attorney, are entitled to any allowance for his services; if they employ an attorney they do it at their own charge; the court would take care the case was tried in the proper form, and it is not considered necessary in such cases as come before the sessions to have the assistance of attornies or counsel.

Does

Thomas Stirling, Esq.

28 April, 1825.

Does the order direct the treasurer to pay the prosecutor so much money, and leave to the prosecutor to pay to the witnesses as he thinks proper?—No; I will state to the Committee how it is done; I take down the name of John Thomas, the prosecutor, and I ask him what he paid for the bill of indictment; he says he paid 2 s. 6 d.; I look on the back of the bill of indictment myself, and I see the name of John Jones, and then I find Richard Manning, then I allow 5 s. 6 d. for Thomas, 2 s. 6 d. for Jones, and 2 s. 6 d. for Manning, which puts them all upon an equality, because if John Thomas, supposing he was the sole witness, would pay 2 s. 6 d. for the bill and 4 d. for swearing, that would make 2 s. 10 d. and rather than have any thing to do with the 2 d. I would allow him 3 s. and I would allow him 2 s. 6 d. for his attendance, which would make 5 s. 6 d. and having added all these together, I sign them, and they are handed to the clerk of the peace, who makes an order on the treasurer for the payment.

Why do you allow 2 s. 6 d. a day for the attendance of the witnesses?—Because I think 15 s. a week to a man who is absent from his work is as little as he ought to have; that as he is entitled to an allowance by law if he claims it, I think you cannot allow him less than that; in general cases where we make allowances, it is 2 s. 6 d. for the bill, 4 d. for the swearing of one witness, 8 d. for two, and 1 s. for three, according to the number of witnesses, that increases the expense.

Did you not say you allowed them for money out of pocket in travelling?—No; they have seldom any travelling expenses, they are generally pickpockets and persons of that description about this town.

Then you allow nothing for travelling expenses?—No, nothing for travelling expenses; if there was any person wanted travelling expenses, I would not take upon myself to allow it.

If they came from Staines, or twenty miles from town, you would not allow it?—No.

Is this money, when so allowed, paid to the prosecutor?—No; each of the persons entitled go and receive their proportion from the treasurer.

Do you pay any thing extra to constables for their loss of time?—No, I have generally allowed the constables the same.

Is there any fee on the conviction of a felon?—No.

Do you consider that the court has the discretionary power to allow the expenses of prosecutors, or not, as they think proper?—I take it they must allow it if it is asked for by the party.

Do you consider that they are obliged to allow the party the expenses of the prosecution?—I apprehend they are, if it is demanded.

Whatever the situation of the prosecutor may be?—As I said before, gentlemen who come there seldom think proper to ask for them, they are so trifling.

Do you think there would be any inconvenience arising if there was such a table of allowances as should be applicable to a large portion of the kingdom, to the kingdom at large, or all the counties within each circuit?—I think there would be a considerable difficulty in that, because between Middlesex and York there can be no comparison in point of expense.

How would that be between Middlesex and the counties in the home circuit?—A great body of them arise immediately in the Metropolis; the great body of prosecutions arise in Middlesex; if there was a certain allowance per mile for what the parties had to travel, that might be regulated; there might be a certain sum fixed per mile for their travelling expenses.

Then your answer, I believe, applies to the allowances to prosecutors?—Yes.

Do you think there would be any objection for regulating the fees of officers so that the same amount of fees should be paid in every part of the kingdom for the same object, or at least the same amount of fees should be paid in each county for the same object?—There could be no inconvenience in it any further than the loss to the different officers, such as clerks of assize, which are valuable offices I believe.

Are you aware of any inconvenience?—No inconvenience to the public could arise from it; there are very valuable offices, and the present holders of them would not like it.

Do you know whether it is usual for clerks of the peace to charge very differently for the same thing, for drawing the brief?—They do not draw any briefs.

For any thing they do under their control?—I fancy there are various fees charged in various places, but I have not much occasion to know their fees, because I do not attend them.

Thomas Stirling, Esq.

28 April, 1825.

By whom is the table of fees in your county settled?—The table of fees in the county of Middlesex has been settled for a century or more; it is the same now as it was then.

Are the fees charged on the authority of the two Judges?—There has been considerable difficulty about it in other counties, the same fees have been sanctioned by the Judges at the assizes; but in the county of Middlesex there are no assizes, and there has been some difficulty about giving the fees to the clerk of the justices, there being no assizes in Middlesex; and the Chief Justice wrote to me some time ago to know by what Act of Parliament he was authorized to settle the fees for the county of Middlesex; and I told him I could not point out the Act of Parliament.

In cases that are to be tried at the quarter sessions, do not the defendants frequently put themselves into gaol, in order to avoid the fees of the recognizances?—No, I should think not; the fees on the common recognizances are but 2*s.* 8*d.*

Pray do you take fees on the discharge of recognizances?—Yes, certainly.

What fees do you take?—If the recognizance is discharged at a proper time, I think the fee is 2*s.* 4*d.*

In cases of prosecution, where the witnesses and prosecutor are bound by their recognizances to appear, do you take fees on such occasions as those?—No, if the prosecutor appears.

If he does not appear?—Then he is a great deal worse off, for then his recognizances are estreated; if the prosecutor comes and prosecutes his bill as he ought to do, we take nothing for his recognizances.

Do you happen to recollect what the fees are upon the discharge and acquittal of a prisoner in the case of felony?—I think, 2*s.* 8*d.*; it does not exceed that.

I would ask you, if a person should be bound over to keep the peace, and to appear at the quarter sessions to answer a bill of indictment preferred against him, and no prosecutor was to appear, what would be the fees for the discharge of the recognizances?—I think 2*s.* 8*d.* for the discharge of the recognizances.

Suppose a person is bound over to keep the peace for any given space of time, say twelve months, is it necessary for him to appear in court at the expiration of that time, and procure a discharge from the recognizances; and if so, what fees would he have to pay for that discharge?—I think 2*s.* 8*d.*

Is it necessary for him to appear?—Not personally; he proves that he has complied with the terms of the recognizances by observing them, and not breaking them.

Then you think it is not necessary for him to attend personally?—No, it is not necessary for him to attend personally.

Do you not think it would be necessary for him to attend, or some person for him, to pay the fees?—Yes, to pay the fees.

You do not think his personal attendance is necessary?—I think not.

If he complied with the terms of the recognizance, would he be discharged as a matter of course, without appearing by himself, or some other person appearing for him?—I think not.

By whom is the clerk of the peace appointed for the county of Middlesex?—By the custos rotulorum.

Did you not say the fee of 2*s.* 8*d.* was for all persons discharged from prison, after having been convicted?—It is for all persons discharged from prison, whether convicted or not.

Is the fee, whether they were sent to prison after conviction or not, when they are discharged, equally the same?—Yes; the fee is not for being convicted.

What is your opinion, if it was proposed to pay the clerk of the peace by salary instead of fees?—I suppose the clerk of the peace, unless he had a good salary, would rather take the fees; it would not be easy to pay him by a salary, the business is so exceedingly different at different times; there is one portion of the business which I will mention to you, gentlemen, which perhaps you may be able to remedy: by an Act of Parliament which passed two years and a half ago, it was required that all the recognizances should be returned, not only to the Exchequer as they issued, but also every session to the sheriff, so that they might be levied immediately. The sessions in Middlesex are eight times in the year, there are but four any where else, therefore the duty in the county of Middlesex is doubled, and this provision of the Act of Parliament has been a source of very great increase of labour to the clerk of the peace; one would not find so much difficulty about it, but the Act of Parliament requires that the clerk of the peace shall return not only the recognizances recognizances of that session, but that he should return all the recognizances that have been taken and not levied from the time of passing this Act of Parliament, and they are now got so voluminous that they would go a great deal farther than the Abbey; there are forty skins of parchment containing the recognizances, returned eight times in the year, and it is more than the labour of one clerk to do it; and they must go on accumulating every sessions, till the Lords of the Treasury shall be pleased to order that all those recognizances shall be discharged, when the Lords of the Treasury think fit to do so, and to take the trouble of looking through them; it is quite impossible; if the clerk of the peace returned the recognizances of the last sessions, the sheriff having all the rest in his possession, he could return them as well as the clerk of the peace.

Thomas Stirling, Esq.

Has any application been made to the Lords of the Treasury, and information given to them of the extent of the grievance?—The access to the Lords of the Treasury is of that kind, that one does not know how to make an application to them; there was a Committee of the House of Commons, who recommended the thing; the recognizances, as you may imagine, from the county of Middlesex are necessarily very voluminous, and as the parties who are to answer are a parcel of poor Irishmen, who have no friends or connexions in town, they are obliged to be bound for one another, and when the time comes at which the recognizance is to be levied, if they ever lived in the place at all, they are gone before their recognizance comes in operation, and it turns out that a great many of them never lived there at all, but there was somebody who represented them.

What remedy would you propose?—I think the remedy would be this, that all those already returned to the sheriff, and in his office, if they could make any thing of them, they should levy on them: the clerk of the peace returning a copy of what has been in his possession seems to be perfectly nugatory and unnecessary, they know whether they have levied or not; if there is any mischief it must be in the number of returns; if the first return is right, the second return may vary a little; and if the next return is made from that, it will vary a little more, so that the last return may not be so correct as the return in the first instance.

Is not the copying of voluminous returns an expensive thing?—It is a very expensive thing; Parliament has provided for one copy to be returned in alphabetical order, to the Lords of the Treasury, that is to be paid for, but the rest of the copies are not paid for.

If a salary was to be made to the clerk of the peace, would he not be obliged to make a charge for these copies?—He ought to be paid for them by somebody; I do not know by whom he is to be paid.

Who pays him now?—Nobody, except for that one copy.

Who is that paid by?—By the Treasury.

Do you make any charge for entering the orders in court?—Every body pays for an order; if they have an order they pay for it.

Has the county rate any thing to do with it?—It has nothing to do with it.

Suppose the magistrates make an order of any description in court, do you charge for recording that order?—No, the party pays for the order; when he has a copy he pays for it.

Suppose you were directed to send a communication to any magistrate by letter, do you charge for that?—They would be liable to pay for the letter, it would be necessary they should pay for that.

Would you not charge a sort of lawyer's charge for writing a letter to any magistrate on county business?—If I were required to do so, I should charge a shilling, or something like it.

Do you make any charge on the county?—Not for such orders as, for instance, respecting a bridge; if there was an order by two magistrates to view a bridge, we should charge nothing for that.

Should you, suppose the order should be, that a person should suffer any punishment?—I should charge nothing for that.

Is there not a great charge made by the clerk of the peace upon the county for attendances at the quarter sessions?—No.

Do the magistrates order any expenses on account of assaults, for instance, an assault upon a constable?—The magistrates would not allow any thing more in the case of a constable than in the case of anybody else; we do not allow expenses in any case of misdemeanor.

When you receive orders from the Secretary of State to make returns either to him

Thomas Stirling, Esq.

28 April, 1825.

him or to Parliament, who do you charge for the trouble you have in making out such returns?—I have never received any thing from Parliament; they are very liberal sometimes, but not to the clerk of the peace; they desire that he may do his business without fee or reward.

Do you charge the county with it?—No.

Do you think there would be any objection to the allowances for prosecutions being taxed by the clerk of the peace at the assizes, instead of the clerk of assize?—The clerk of the peace possibly would not know what were the fees taken at the assizes.

I mean the allowances to witnesses, the usual allowances made?—I should think the clerk of assize would be better able to do it than the clerk of the peace would be, for he would see the appearance of the witnesses and a variety of other circumstances, which the other would judge of only by representation.

Have you ever made a calculation of any considerable number of allowances upon prosecutions of felons, so as to know what on the average are the allowances at the Old Bailey, or quarter sessions, taken on the scale of a whole year?—I think the allowances at the Old Bailey are twenty times as much as at the sessions, and more than that; I could tell you the exact sum for the allowances at the Old Bailey for the last year, and at the sessions; if it will give you any satisfaction I will attend again for the purpose of giving you that information; I think it is a great deal more than twenty times as much at the Old Bailey than at the quarter sessions.

What do you think is the total amount of the expenses allowed for the prosecutions of felons for the whole year?—Very often not more than 5*l.* in a session, sometimes more; it depends upon the length of the vacation.

What is the allowance on each particular case of felony?—The allowance on each particular case is extremely small indeed.

Including all the expenses?—We have nothing to do but with a bill of indictment, and the expenses of witnesses for their attendance; I could tell you to-morrow or any other day, to a shilling, what has been the money paid for allowances on prosecutions at the Old Bailey, and at the sessions; speaking without any particular criterion, I should say that one is twenty times more than the other.

Are there not cases of petty larceny, which do not go to the sessions?—We keep all the petty larcenies to the sessions.

If there is a case of petty larceny tried at the assizes, and another tried at the sessions, what is the difference of the allowances?—I cannot say.

If you take all the felonies tried at the Old Bailey and quarter sessions, and ascertain the expenses charged upon the county in both, what will be the average of the expenses at the Old Bailey and the quarter sessions?—I think that average will not do; for this reason, we allow nothing but what is necessary; we do not think counsel or attornies necessary in cases of petty larceny; but at the Old Bailey, where murder and treason, and all sorts of offences are tried, why then, of course, it becomes necessary that an attorney should be employed; and Mr. Harmer is generally employed on the one side or the other, in all cases where the wretches have got money; it would be no criterion to average by the allowances at the sessions and the Old Bailey; there are cases very often of great intricacy at the Old Bailey, where it is necessary that counsel and attornies should be employed; and if their fees were not allowed, the parties would be out of pocket; but, at the sessions, it is not thought that counsel is necessary to inform the court on the subject of petty larceny. At the Old Bailey counsel are, in a great many cases, absolutely necessary; and the court never could get through the business at the Old Bailey without the assistance of counsel; and the Judges often complain when the parties do not obtain counsel. I do not think I can make any general calculation from it, because the nature of the expenses are so very different. I recollect a man from Hounslow going to the Old Bailey, and getting his expenses, but which were far short of what he was out of pocket; he convicted four of the most notorious felons on the town, who robbed his house, he being a publican.

Lunæ, 2° die Maii, 1825.

WILLIAM DICKINSON, ESQUIRE,

IN THE CHAIR.

The Honourable Mr. Justice Bayley, called in; and Examined.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Bayley.

2 May, 1825.

WILL you have the goodness to explain to the Committee what is your practice with regard to ordering the Expenses of prosecutions?—We generally, (I believe, in almost every case,) order them, unless it is a discreditable prosecution, or attended with strong circumstances to induce us to refuse the costs. Very often, if we find that a man, by his own intoxication, has taken up with a woman and gone along with her, we think there is so much discredit in him that he ought to bear the expense of the prosecution, and that the county ought not; but although we do not allow him his own costs, yet if there are any other witnesses who are bound over by recognizances, their costs are, I believe, generally allowed. We used to be in the habit, I believe, in former times, before the late Act of Parliament, of refusing the costs in bankers cases, when they prosecuted for forgeries on their own banks; but they were men, generally, of opulence.

Do prosecutors of high rank and reputed large property apply now for their expenses as much as they did formerly?—I think they apply more now than they did formerly.

And are they allowed?—Generally speaking, they are allowed.

If they apply?—Yes, if they apply.

Have prosecutors in poor circumstances ever complained that the sum awarded them was not sufficient?—In some instances, particularly of late, I think they have.

Does not the allowance urge them to become witnesses?—I think not; I should say this, we very often have a police officer, or a constable, to whom we refuse the allowance, if he is unnecessarily brought forward as a witness; and it very often happens, that when there are many articles of property stolen, part of the stolen property is put into the possession of one constable, and part into the possession of another, in order that both may attend the trial, and in that case, when the Judges have occasion to exercise their discretion, they generally disallow it.

Would the marking of stolen goods, when they are handed to the constable, prevent the necessity of the constable's attending at the trial?—I think in general it might; but then there would be a difficulty about the intermediate custody. I should say this also, that the remuneration which a constable receives for attending the assizes may make him much more vigilant in the discharge of his duty, and he often assists in keeping the witnesses together.

Do you suspect it to be the practice among low attornies to tell the prosecutor that his bill has swallowed up all the allowances for expenses?—I have found no precedent of that sort; I should think there would have been a complaint if that had been the case.

Has any application ever been made to your Lordship, on the part of the county, that you were too liberal in your orders, or that they were not sufficiently specific?—The business of the assizes in general is extremely laborious to the Judge; he is not in the habit in general (I am not quite sure whether there is not an exception to that in Northamptonshire) but he is not in the habit in general of looking into the allowances; that business is performed usually by one of the officers of the court.

Do you know whether that has been done in Northamptonshire for some time?—I have not been in Northamptonshire now for a very considerable length of time. I remember once when I was there having some bills sent by the clerk of the assize to me, in order that I might overlook them, saying that the magistrates had come to a determination they would not allow them unless the bills had the sanction of the Judges; and I certainly felt that was a very great additional degree of labour thrown on the Judge, and that the Judge was very incompetent to decide upon the charges.

Would there be a danger if less expenses were ordered, of persons not prosecuting for felonies and larcenies?—It would be a great hardship on the prosecutor; in general when they go before the magistrate their minds are warm on the subject, and when they are bound over they cannot extricate themselves from the difficulty of prosecuting; I think in a great variety of instances it would be very hard if any part of the expenses were to come on themselves.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Bayley.

2 May, 1825.

Do you think that a plan might be proposed for lessening the expenses of prosecutions, by fixing the days on which in particular cases the witnesses might go before the grand jury, as at Lancaster; and that both Judges should first be employed in trying prisoners and then in trying causes?—I think there would be a very great difficulty indeed in confining the two Judges to the trial of crown cases; in the first instance there would be a hardship felt by all those who have civil business to discharge, and it would also be a hardship on the leading counsel in a variety of cases; the leading counsel are principally employed in civil cases, and have very little to do in criminal cases, and therefore if the criminal business was to be discharged first, for a period of time they would, in a great degree, have nothing to do; and then, when the criminal business is finished, there would be an extreme inconvenience in allotting any of the business to the Judge upon whom the duty regularly of sitting on the nisi prius side does not attach; because in general, in all counties, there are great leaders, and every man is desirous of having his own leader in his own particular case, and he has given retainers with a view to that; then, if the cause comes on to be tried, and in the absence of the leading counsel whose assistance he expected to have, and perhaps in the absence of some of the other counsel he had retained, the suitor is dissatisfied, and is apt to attribute his failure to this arrangement; and then a man who fails in his case would feel, perhaps, persuaded that it was all through the leading counsel not being present; a division of the Judges, therefore, would, in my opinion, be inconvenient. My brother Hullock and myself have very often experienced on the northern circuit, when there is a vast pressure of civil business, that the crown business is finished first, and then the Judge who has been on the crown business generally assists the other Judge, and the counsel are very desirous that that should be the case; but the clients are very often very much dissatisfied; I think, therefore, employing the two Judges first in the crown business until the crown business is finished, would not be attended with any good result.

Would any particular arrangement of the witnesses going before the grand jury be of advantage?—I believe that is practised in the counties of York and Lancaster, and might be practised also in all counties in which the grand jury are likely to sit for more than one day. The plan adopted in the county of York is this: there is an advertisement prior to the assizes, which advertisement directs that in a given number of the cases, standing first, the names of which it states, with the exception of particular classes of offences, the witnesses on them shall be ready to attend the grand jury as soon as they are charged, that another shall get ready to attend the morning of the second day of their sittings, another on the third, and all the remainder on the fourth; that is assuming that the grand jury are likely to sit for a period of four days; that is a great saving of expense, for instead of having all the witnesses there on the first day you have only a limited number of them on the first day, a limited number on the second day, a limited number on the third day, and so on the fourth day; the continuance afterwards of course must depend on the dispatch of business. In Lancaster the division is according to the districts. There is another advantage which, perhaps, results from that plan, which is this, that the grand jury are regularly supplied with business in the early part of their sittings as well as the latter.

Do you think that any mischief would arise from throwing on the general funds of the country the expenses of the prosecutors at the assizes?—There might be that want of check in taking care that the charges were reasonable, which, as it is to fall on the county, it is the interest of particular persons in the county to take care of; and there may be other objections I cannot foresee.

The Honourable Mr. Baron Hullock called in; and Examined.

The Hon. Mr. Baron Hullock.

DO you think, if there was an adjourned quarter sessions just before the assizes, in order to try the petty offences, so as to lighten the assizes, that that would be a saving to the county?—That subject was suggested to me at Leicester, by the nature of the calendar. I tried at that place several petty larcenies, which constituted a considerable portion of the offences which came before me. It occurred to me that much expense might be saved by the holding of an adjourned sessions immediately before the assizes, as, I understand, is done in Staffordshire. The expense of a trial at the sessions would, I apprehend, be much less than would be incurred incurred upon a trial at the assizes. This plan, however, would throw upon the magistrates a grievous additional burthen, as well as upon persons liable to serve on juries. But probably that inconvenience might be in a considerable degree obviated, and the object in view attained, by the commitment of persons accused of petty felonies to the house of correction, for trial at the sessions, and not to the gaol, for trial at the assizes. This course of proceeding, however, rests altogether with the magistrates. There is another circumstance which has a tendency to increase the county expenses: the witnesses which are bound over by recognizance to give evidence in cases of felonies, sometimes much exceed the number that are necessary for establishing the charge. In the course of the last circuit, I remember a case of highway robbery, in which there were, I believe, fourteen witnesses on the back of the indictment. The bill was thrown out, and the grand jury applied to me to disallow the expenses of the witnesses. I felt myself obliged to decline the application, inasmuch as the witnesses had been bound over to appear at the assizes, and were all in an inferior situation in life. In the case to which I allude, I believe eight out of the fourteen witnesses were altogether unnecessary.

The Hon. Mr. Baron Hullock.

2 May, 1825.

[The Examination of Mr. Justice Bayley continued.]

DO you think that the Government ought to pay for the prosecutions to the extent to which it has been benefited by the abolition of Rewards, and that issues should be made in aid of the County Rates?—That would be extremely reasonable; I remember on one occasion, I think it was at Chelmsford, in which the sums to be paid for rewards amounted to about 760 l.; it would have been certainly a great relief to the county if that sum had been paid by Government. Government, I believe, formerly paid those rewards; they have been relieved from that to a certain extent, but not altogether, because, under the Act of Parliament which abolished rewards, the Judges were entitled to make an allowance for the expenses of apprehension, which in other cases they had not the power of doing; and the expenses of apprehension still continues, I apprehend, to fall on the Government.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Bayley.

Do you think it just that the land should pay the expenses of all prosecutions for stealing chattel-property as formerly, in times in which the country is daily becoming more commercial, and chattels and thefts are of course daily increasing?—I have great difficulty in answering that question, or in stating how you are to raise a fund except out of the land; taxation of stock in trade, or upon the profits of trade, or upon funded property, would be difficult; I have a difficulty in answering that question.

Is the remedy at law for one who feels himself aggrieved by an illegal charge in the county rate very expensive?—I think it must be expensive; the expense of an appeal; if it is removed to the King's Bench it must be more expensive.

Do you think the fee of 14 s. 8 d. for the discharge of a prisoner in gaol, tried and acquitted, would be a just demand if paid by himself, or the discharge of a prisoner by proclamation, the indictment being ignoramus, and the fee 13 s. 4 d.?—I do not see why any prisoner in which there is no prosecution, or who from being acquitted may reasonably be considered as having been innocent, ought to be subject to the payment of any sum of money.

In a very petty assault, might it not be for the interest of a poor prisoner to plead guilty, in order to avoid the acquittal fee?—No doubt; I have known many instances when I practised at Clerkenwell sessions, where I have heard the present Mr. Baron Garrow desire the jury to find his client guilty, in order that the expense of the verdict might fall on the prosecutor, and not upon the prisoner.

Do you think that the magistrates could, in any way, regulate the expenses ordered by a Judge at the assizes?—No doubt the magistrates would be able to regulate the quantum; the Judge only orders the expenses to be paid; and I should apprehend the magistrates are perfectly competent to exercise their discretion what the quantum in each case ought to be, and by entering into that subject, they would have an opportunity of seeing whether the charges imposed on the different persons who attended the assizes, by the innkeepers and others, and for lodging, were exorbitant or otherwise.

How is that to be done practically, because at the assizes your Lordship orders the expenses to be paid; the clerk of the assizes makes out the order, and then it is taken to the treasurer and paid instanter, for the prosecutor so much, and for each witness so much?—The investigation by the magistrates must of course take place prior to the payment.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Bayley.

2 May, 1825.

How is it possible that the magistrates could investigate those charges, they being made in the way the Committee state; for instance, on the first day of the assizes the first prisoner who is tried, for example, is tried for a highway robbery, and an application is made to the Judge for the expenses, which the Judge allows; the clerk of the assize, at the early part of the assize, makes out an order, which the prosecutor or the attorney obtains possession of, and he goes to the treasurer and receives the money instanter?—It seems to me that he ought not to receive the money instanter.

Mr. Baron Hullock.—The great difficulty is, that that is a labour which could not be done at the assizes; but if the magistrates were to make an inquiry, at their sessions, into the sums that are reasonable, according to the existing price of provisions, and the expense of lodging and travelling, and so on, and suggest a scale of allowance to the Judges, I dare say the Judges would be very happy to make that the rule of their allowance at the assizes, and that would obviate the difficulty.

Mr. Justice Bayley.—It is very beneficial that that should be done, because then the witnesses, when they have got to the assize town, might know whether the inns would supply them according to that scale.

Who are the officers on the circuit that receive fees on a prosecution?—The clerk of the assize is one, the Judges' crier receives fees, and the Judges' marshal receives fees on acquittals; I know they do; I do not know any other person.

Would there be any objection to paying the officers of the circuit by a salary, taking for instance an average of their fees for the last three years?—It is difficult for me to answer that question.

What is your opinion?—If there is a salary adequate to the real expenditure which the officers sustain, I should think that would be a fair mode of taking it; many of them travel at their own expense; the Judges' clerks I believe travel at their own expense; they are maintained while they are there by the Judge; the Judges' marshals are in general carried by the Judge, and they live entirely at the expense of the Judge, and during the time they are travelling backwards and forwards.

What is the practice with regard to allowing fees to counsel?—I cannot at all say what the practice is; I believe in general the fees to counsel are left entirely to the discretion of the officer.

Mr. Baron Hullock.—Sometimes a question arises, when the prosecution is for a serious offence, as for murder, and there are two counsel employed, whether they shall both be allowed their fees? and the officer never has in the circuit I have been lately, allowed fees to both counsel, without applying to the Judge, and I certainly have occasionally sanctioned such allowance. I have thought one counsel in such and similar cases was not enough.

Mr. Justice Bayley.—There is a practice on the Midland circuit which seems to me to be a very beneficial one, and I believe I was instrumental in having counsel there in almost every case, which was a remarkable saving in point of fatigue to the Judge; I believe counsel are now employed in almost every case, and the allowance there, I think, is limited to two guineas if it is a capital case, and one guinea if it is a simple larceny, to a single counsel; and I think there was a rule introduced, when I was in the habit of going that circuit, that the attorney had for his attendance two guineas and no more. The consequence of that was, if an attorney had a great deal of business, he was willing to take it on those terms; but generally speaking, that devolved on the clerks of the magistrates who had occasion to attend there. They have also a practice on that circuit which, as it seems to me, is exceedingly beneficial with reference to counsel who conduct prosecutions; they are not in the habit of making any opening speech to the jury before the witnesses are examined, but they begin at once to examine the witnesses, and then if they examine them neatly, and only to what is really material, it is a great saving in point of time. It is advantageous also, I think, in point of effect, in this respect: when the counsel for the prosecution opens the case, and makes a short statement of the facts, it has the appearance of hardship on a prisoner, when he is called on for his defence, and he says "I leave it to my counsel," that he should be told, your counsel cannot be heard. To by-standers it certainly has this appearance, and it naturally occurs to say, "here is a hardship, a prosecutor's counsel may be heard, a prisoner's counsel cannot."

Mr. Baron Hullock.—In capital cases, and in cases where the facts are complicated, it is absolutely necessary that there should be a statement of the facts; but with these exceptions, the examination should be gone into at once, without any observation at all, which would save, I am quite satisfied, in the course of the circuit, circuit, three or four days at least; I am sure that at Warwick a day or two would be saved by that course of proceeding.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Bayley.

Mr. Justice Bayley.—I am perfectly satisfied that a day or two is wasted by that; I should think that the allowance to the counsel might be regulated according as they made an opening speech or not.

2 May, 1825.

That is, you would allow the less if they made an opening speech?—If the party who employed them chose they should make an opening speech, he should be at the expense of it; that is the impression on my mind. I have endeavoured for some time, but without much effect, to introduce elsewhere the practice which prevails on the Midland circuit; I have succeeded, in some degree, on the Northern circuit.

Can you account for the origin of the following fees differing on different circuits; circuit fees on an acquittal on the Western, 1*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*; on the Home, 8*s.* 4*d.*; on the Northern, 10*s.* 8*d.*?—I cannot at all account for the origin of it.

And when no bill is found, on the Western, it is 13*s.* 4*d.*; on the Home, 6*s.* 4*d.*; and on the Northern, nothing?—I cannot account for that.

What would be the effect if the courts of quarter sessions could order payment to be made for charges incurred in the apprehension of offenders charged with felony, in cases in which the persons so charged are not committed for trial?—The Judges have nothing to do with those charges; they never make an order for the charges of apprehension, except in cases in which there formerly were rewards, and then those charges fell upon Government; whether the magistrates have a power to order those charges I am incompetent to answer.

The Committee are speaking of a person who is not committed for trial?—If he is committed for trial, we have no discretion, in common cases, as to the costs of apprehension; we allow the costs of apprehension in those cases in which there formerly were rewards, but we have no power to award them in any other case.

Pray, who taxes the bill, the allowance for the expenses, the bill of costs, the allowance for the expenses at the assizes?—I believe the clerk of the assize, or some officer under him.

Would his taxation be less efficient, supposing that the expenses of the prosecution at the assizes were charged on the country generally, than it is now, when it is charged on the county rate?—I should rather apprehend he would endeavour to do his duty by the public as well as by the county.

Did your Lordship ever hear of any inconvenience arising from the mode that is adopted with reference to the absence of an opening speech in an ordinary case of felony, on the Midland circuit?—Never.

DO you consider it to be legal to commit a prisoner for trial at the sessions, supposing the assizes to intervene between the committal and the time of holding the sessions?—There is nothing at all illegal, as I conceive, in it. There has been a question made when the prisoner has been committed to gaol, (although he was committed for the sessions,) whether he ought not to be tried at the gaol delivery? I certainly should leave such person on his former commitment, provided he was committed to the sessions, and the witnesses were bound over to attend at the sessions. I think one thing might be done with considerable advantage, which would save a day or a day and a half: if both the Judges were to try prisoners on the first day of the assize, it would be no inconvenience to the civil suitors, inasmuch as the suitors who had causes to try at the assizes need not come to the assize town until the night of that day, and the counsel would thereby suffer no inconvenience, because their briefs would be delivered in time for them to have an opportunity of being prepared by the next morning to go through the business, without the delay which very often takes place the first day merely because gentlemen are not prepared. And there is another circumstance, also; if the gentlemen of the grand jury would attend a little earlier the first morning, they might make the first day efficient, which is at present nearly lost. It might be attended with inconvenience to many of them who reside at a distance, and who come from their residences in the morning to the assizes, but if they were to assemble at nine o'clock on the first day, and receive the charge, and the two Judges were immediately to commence the trials of the criminals, it would make the first day efficient, and there would then be a saving of a day or a day and a half; and that might be done without any inconvenience whatever resulting to the civil suitors of the county. With respect to the mode of preferring the bills, I doubt exceedingly whether the practice which prevails, either in Yorkshire or Lancashire, is efficient for the purpose that has been suggested, because the parties do not ascertain precisely, from the advertisement that is put into the papers, when they are to be there; but if the clerk of the assize was to put into the papers that a certain number of cases (specifying them) would be brought before the grand jury on the Monday, and a certain number on the Tuesday, and so on, that would be a saving of a great expense, because those who came on the Wednesday would save the expense of the two first days. Whereas now, in point of fact, in some places, the people all come on the first day, hundreds of them unnecessarily, because by no possibility can all the bills be carried before the grand jury until after the first or second day. But an arrangement of that sort can only be efficient where the grand jury sit three days.

Are not the expenses of the prosecutions in the county of Warwick very considerably increased, in consequence of there being only one Judge attending the Spring assizes?—They are increased in this way, because, when there is only one Judge, he must necessarily dispose of the civil business himself. The last time I was at Warwick there were about one hundred and sixty prisoners, and not a very heavy cause paper: I tried causes the first day, and I went on with the causes until I had finished the cause list: if there had been another Judge, of course those three days, or three days and a half, or whatever period of time was occupied in the civil business, would have been occupied in the gaol delivery by the other Judge: but that could not be done then by any other person, because the gentleman who is so good as to assist the Judge could not do so then, he being employed in the civil business. I think the gaol might have been delivered in six or seven days.

The prosecutions in Warwick chiefly come from the town of Birmingham, I believe?—They do.

And the constables who are there are witnesses, perhaps, in eight or ten different prosecutions; are they allowed their expenses in each?—I really do not know that; I know what they ought to be allowed.

Mr. Justice Bayley.—In Lancashire, coming from Liverpool and other places, they do not allow them in all; they allow them in some, but not in all.

The prosecutions in Warwick are conducted by attornies, who also act as clerks to the justices; does your Lordship see any inconvenience in that practice; the Committee mean the practice of an attorney acting as a magistrate's clerk?—I can hardly conceive that that practice can be attended with any beneficial result; and perhaps it is the cause of more offences being carried to the assizes than otherwise would be.

Mr. Justice Bayley.—I will venture to suggest this; if any check could properly be made in cases of commitments, there are many cases in which the offences are so very trivial, that if the necessity of committing did not in all cases exist, I think it might be sometimes beneficial. I think it would not be amiss if the magistrate at the time of the commitment could intimate whether, in his judgment, it was a case in which the expense ought to fall on the county or not; whether that is practicable or not I do not know. I have seen a prosecution by a man of opulence against a person for stealing a spade; I am sure, that within this last year, I have tried at Durham three or four cases in which property of very small value was stolen from persons to whom the loss of the property was of no importance.

Does your Lordship think that would be obviated by having an adjourned session just previous to the assizes?—I think that it would in a very great degree.

Mr. Justice Bayley.—I would venture to suggest one thing; I know, that in some instances, attornies make claims on the prosecutors for extra costs, over and above what the county allows; and I cannot help thinking it would be extremely beneficial if there could be a legislative provision, that they should be entitled to maintain no action with respect to any costs incurred unless they received the money beforehand.

The Committee understand, in all those cases the attorney regularly makes out a bill against his client for the expense of the prosecution, in the same way as he makes out his bill in a civil suit?—Yes.

He begins by, "Attending to take the examination of the witnesses," and in short, every thing in the same way as if he was making out his bill in an action?—And he receives the county allowance, and that is the cause of complaint by the prosecutor, because, instead of his having to receive it for himself, he has something to pay; do you think, if the treasurer was ordered not to pay any sum of money to any one but the individuals who had orders to receive it, that the Judge at the assizes would have any objection to that regulation, and if there was a general regulation of that sort, would not that be the means of preventing that abuse?—That would have the effect of securing to the poor witness the money which now very often he does not get; I know an instance at the last assizes, where the attorney went with the order and got all the money, and then he said to the prosecutor, I still want money of you; the regulation suggested would obviate that objection, but still the attorney would be left to the charge on his original client.

The Hon. Mr. Baron Hullock.

2 May, 1825.

[Mr. Justice Bayley's Examination resumed.]

WHAT is your opinion of the advantage or disadvantage that is likely to arise to society from the committal of young offenders?—That depends very much, I should say, on the nature and character of the gaol, and the associates and friends the young person might happen to have. It must be a very good gaol indeed in which a lad does not get worse than when he went; his character is materially hurt by going to gaol; he will not have the same respect for himself as he had before; he may have friends who will take care of him if he is dismissed; he will probably feel a degree of gratitude for being dismissed; it will impress on him the necessity of keeping out of any scrape again; and therefore it might by possibility reform a lad who, if he was to go to gaol, might not be reformed.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Bayley.

Has your Lordship ever considered, whether any advantage might accrue from magistrates in petty sessions being empowered to punish offenders guilty of very small offences, instead of sending them to trial either to the sessions or assizes?—I never have particularly directed my attention to that, but I cannot help thinking that it might be beneficial, if one or more magistrates were to have in the case of petty felonies the power of proceeding in a summary way; or if the party pleaded guilty, of inflicting at once a limited species of punishment. It would be a very great saving to the county in point of expense, and I believe in many instances it would be a beneficial thing to the offenders, and a great advantage to the public.

Would not the same opinion apply with greater force in cases of assault?—Certainly.

Might it not be susceptible of considerable injustice in some cases?—That would depend on the restrictions imposed, and the character of the magistrate; I believe, generally speaking, in most places there are weekly attendances of the magistrates, in most populous towns I believe there are.

Would you extend that jurisdiction to one magistrate, because your expression was one or more magistrates?—I think the greater the number of magistrates the better.

THE Committee understand by law the Judge is not empowered to allow costs in any case whatever of misdemeanor?—I believe not.

The Hon. Mr. Baron Hullock.

Does not your Lordship consider that in some cases of misdemeanor it is very desirable that a Judge should have that power; for instance, in the case of assaults with intent to commit rapes or injuries to the persons of very young children, particularly to persons who are in humble situations in life—the children of labourers and poor persons, who are very frequently very much abused by attempts that are made on their persons; and supposing they are bound over to the assizes, there is no possibility now of getting their expenses paid?—Not if the indictment is preferred merely for a misdemeanor; very often at the assizes the indictment is preferred originally for the felony, that, perhaps, is thrown out, and then another indictment is preferred immediately; that indictment is found, and the trial takes place at the same assizes, and then the Judge allows the expenses of the first indictment.

Mr. Justice Bayley.—In my judgment, it would be a desirable thing that the party should be tried for the capital and the minor offence at one and the same time.

IN cases of indictments for goods obtained by false pretences, does not your Lordship think the Judges should have the same power, with respect to costs, as they have in cases of felony; is it not a very great hardship on small traders, and persons in that state of life, that they are to bear the whole of their costs and expenses?—In proportion as you throw the expenses on the county, you diminish those voluntary associations which there are, in order to bear the expenses.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Bayley.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Bayley.

2 May, 1825.

The Committee conceive, there are no associations which defray the expenses in the cases alluded to?—I am not sure of that; there are associations against swindlers; there is one in London, in Essex-street.

Are there any associations in the country which defray the expenses of those other cases of injuries which have been alluded to?—I am not aware of any.

Is your Lordship of opinion, that the expenses ought to be allowed in all cases of assault with intent to commit a rape?—I should think it would be reasonable, because that comes within the range of cases that would end in a felony; and assaults to prevent apprehension would also be proper cases for allowance.

When a constable is assaulted or wounded in the execution of his duty, is there any method by which the expenses of the prosecution can be paid?—Not at present; I would suggest, that in proportion as a power is given of allowing expenses, you probably increase the number of prosecutions; perhaps there might be this check on those cases, that the Judges should have the power to allow them, if the prosecution was directed by the magistrates.

Mr. Baron Hullock.—All that inconvenience is obviated by the discretion that is now vested in the Judges with respect to the allowance for felonies.

Mr. Justice Bayley.—But I would have the discretion at both ends, that the person should not have the power to apply for the allowance in those cases in which the magistrates did not direct the prosecution; but when the magistrates did direct the prosecution, then the Judges should have the power to allow the costs.

(To Mr. Baron Hullock.)—Do you think the magistrates ought to be empowered to punish offenders guilty of small offences, instead of sending them to trial?—I much doubt the propriety of such a proceeding. I conceive that such a practice would be altering the constitution of the country to a certain degree. The country is exceedingly jealous of any power of that sort being vested in the magistrates.

Charles John Lawson, Esq. called in; and Examined.

Charles J. Lawson. Esq.

YOU are clerk of the peace for the county of Surrey?—I am.

Have you any list of fees paid in criminal prosecutions both at assizes and sessions?—The amount, do you mean?

Yes.—I have.

And the fees specifically?—No, I have not; I have only the amount paid at each assize, and the amount paid at the several sessions.

Are they kept separately?—Yes, they are kept separately; we print the treasurer's account every year; we keep them separately, under the head of, "Prosecutors and Witnesses;" the allowances to prosecutors and witnesses, in felony, at the summer assizes of 1823, and the Lent assizes of 1824, is 1,475 l. 18 s. 8 d.; at the quarter sessions for the county, during the year, 570 l. 8 s. 4 d.; at the quarter sessions for the borough of Southwark, and this is a new charge, within a very short date, for it was only lately they discovered that they had a right to come upon the county rate for the payment of the prosecutors and witnesses in the local jurisdiction of Southwark, the amount in the last year is 42 l. 8 s. 6 d.; at the sessions for the borough of Guildford, on the same ground that they contribute to the county rate, the sum of 1 l. 18 s.; there are seldom above one or two prisoners tried there at a session.

Are there fees taken from prisoners on acquittals, and where no bills are found?—Are the Committee speaking of felonies or misdemeanors?

Of felonies.—In felony there are no fees whatever payable to any body by the prisoner.

Are there any in misdemeanor?—Yes, in misdemeanor, to the clerk of the peace, on acquittal or conviction, 8 s. 8 d.

It is the same on both?—The same on both; acquittal, or conviction, or confession.

Does it not operate as a punishment when the fine would be very low?—Yes; and it very often happens that the prisoner, when he is acquitted, pays a great deal more expense than the prosecutor has been put to; such has been the universal rule in Surrey. The party who gains the cause pays; if the party is convicted, the prosecutor pays. When I say the prisoner pays, I should explain that the prisoner formerly paid, but under the late Act of Parliament, the county pay the fee.

Do persons of high rank, for instance, and reputed large property, apply for their expenses either at the sessions or the assizes?—It is not usual, and it is very much discountenanced by the magistrates, but I have known an instance of a magistrate doing it

What

Charles J. Lawson, Esq.

2 May, 1825.

What rule have you for paying witnesses?—Our rule is as follows: for every witness that comes from the country, that is, from a distance, 5*s.* a day, and 3*s.* 6*d.* a day if he comes from the neighbourhood. The same fee is paid by the county in the case of acquittals that was formerly paid by the prisoner or the defendant. The officer is obliged to swear it is the accustomed fee before we can receive it.

What would the effect in your county be, do you think, if the quarter session was adjourned till just before the assizes, in order to try petty larcenies?—I think it would be a very considerable saving of expense to parties, as well as a great convenience, particularly as we are situated in Surrey, as the greatest part of the offences arise in the borough of Southwark, where we hold our sessions for the trial of such offences.

Do you think it practicable that the Judges should proceed to the trial of prisoners in both courts first, and then to the trial of causes at the assizes?—I think it would be attended with great inconvenience to the juries that are summoned for the trial of civil causes, for it is impossible to say when the criminal matters would be over, or for them to know when they would be wanted; they would have to attend in the town during many days, while the criminal matters lasted.

Do not you think they both might proceed to the criminal court the first day, and that the juries for the civil causes might be summoned for the next day?—I think it would introduce a great deal of confusion; the suitors of the court would never know when their business was to come on, or when they were to attend.

Does a high allowance for expenses encourage persons to become witnesses?—No, I think by no means.

Are the expenses allowed to prosecutors of all descriptions, whatever their rank or situation may be?—No, certainly not; but I have known persons of considerable rank apply.

I think you said you had known persons of considerable rank apply?—I have known that.

Did you ever know an instance where the rank of the individual applying was given as a reason why he should not be paid?—I have often; I have known a variety of instances in which respectable tradesmen have been refused. We have generally acted upon the principle of the old Acts of Parliament, which, as far as respects witnesses, have the word "poor" in them; but in the new Act of Parliament that word is dropped.

Would there be any objection, in your opinion, to throwing the expenses of prosecutions at the assizes upon the general funds of the country instead of on the county rate, as it is at the present moment, on the receiver-general?—No; I am not aware of any, unless it should be considered that larger sums would be allowed than would be allowed when the county rate is to pay it.

Do not you think the same officer whose duty it is now to tax the bills payable out of the county rate, would likewise tax the bills if they were payable by the receiver-general?—Yes, he would; but generally where Government has to pay, there is not exactly the same attention observed.

There would be the same scale, with regard to the expenses?—Yes; but they might let in a number of additional items.

s it a very usual thing to put down certain sums for expenses, and take the chance of their being taxed?—They generally deliver in a bill at the sessions, and if they charge more for expenses than it is usual to allow, I deliver the bill back again, and say I shall allow you 5*s.* a day, if you come from the country, and 3*s.* 6*d.* a day if you come from the neighbourhood, with the court fees. That is the money that is actually paid for a bill of indictment, and swearing the witnesses, &c.

Would there be any objection to paying the clerks of the peace by a salary, on an average of their fees for the last three years?—I should think it would be impossible almost to form an average; I should think it would be very objectionable with respect to the county; I do not think it could be done.

Would the business be as well conducted, generally speaking, by giving a salary as by fees?—I think certainly not; it would be much more agreeable to the officer, for he loses half his fees by the poverty of individuals.

What would be the effect of the courts of quarter sessions having the power to order payment of charges incurred in the apprehension of offenders charged with felony, in cases in which the persons so charged should not be committed for trial?—Is it meant capital offences, the blood money, as it was called?

Charges incurred in the apprehension of offenders generally?—The magistrates, I apprehend at present, allow something for that in the allowance for conveying to gaol; I believe the practice is to allow so much money for loss of time &c. on apprehension.

Charles J. Lawson, Esq.

2 May, 1825.

But in cases where they are not committed for trial?—I think it would tend to increase the burthens on the county.

How are those expenses paid now; by the parish are they not; how are those expenses paid at the present moment, when a man is not committed?—There is no fund out of which they can be legally paid; we should have a great number of parties apprehended who otherwise would not be apprehended, and against whom there is no ground of charge; we know the easy way in which some of the magistrates allow these expenses almost without looking at them.

If a person makes a charge against a man, and he is not committed, that person is liable for the expenses incurred by the constable, is not he, if he employs a constable he must pay him, must not he?—I should think so, certainly.

Does the county of Surrey allow any thing for any kind of assaults; an assault for instance, on a constable in the execution of his duty?—Oh! no, never; they have no power, they cannot do it; not even for obtaining money under false pretences or frauds, which are scarcely distinguishable from felony.

As to the charge you make for any letters communicating orders of session and so on, to whom is that made?—I charge the county of Surrey for all letters I write, long or short, 1 s. If there are circular letters to all the magistrates of the county, they are printed, and I then charge 6 d. for the printing, the paper, the signing, and sending, and so on; but for all other letters I charge 1 s. and it has been done in my office for the last one hundred years.

Do you make any charge on the county for recording orders of session?—I am entitled for all orders of session, for taking the original minutes, for drawing up the order and entering it upon the records, and for delivering a copy, 5 s. each.

Are you entitled to that fee by statute or by custom?—By custom of near one hundred years standing.

The Committee are speaking of recording judgment?—I thought they were alluding to general orders relating to the police of the county, orders for payment of bills, and orders on different officers, and so on. I did not know the Committee were alluding to prosecutions; I have no fees at all from the county in cases of prosecution.

Have you received any fee for recording any sentence ordered by the court upon an offender?—None.

Do you receive any fee for recording the order of court for the payment of the bills for the maintenance of the prisoners of the county?—I receive for all orders of payment like all other orders, 5 s.

The fees are confined to prosecutions?—I consider the 8 s. 8 d. which I receive from the parties as the fee for recording the conviction, the judgment, and so forth.

Is your bill as clerk of the peace divided into ordinary business and extra business?—No.

Are you paid in any part by a salary?—No.

What would be the effect if you were paid part of your bill by a salary instead of fees?—Do the Committee allude to criminal business?

To business altogether; if for your ordinary business you were to have a salary, and for extra business not?—I do not know, it is a difficult question; I am hardly prepared to give an answer to that; but I do not know that any inconvenience would arise from it.

Do you know of any instance in the county of Surrey where the magistrates either employ persons as their clerks, who are not attornies, or if they are attornies that are so employed, where the magistrates make a condition with them, that they shall not be engaged in court in any case flowing from the justices?—I do not; I have often heard it talked of as an improper thing, but I do not know of any express rule forbidding it.

The Committee are not so much asking you with respect to the rule, but in practice do you know of any single case of any magistrate or magistrates who have made a point either of not employing attornies, or, if they do, making a stipulation that they shall not take things into court; not be employed in any thing in court?—Really I cannot say that I know an instance of it. The clerks in general are so ill paid that I believe the magistrates connive at it.

Would it not, in your opinion, be beneficial if such a stipulation were to be made?—I think it might; but then I should add, there must be some other means found of paying the clerks for their attendance.

Would it not be better to adopt some other mode than to suffer them to hold the office of attorney, and to be permitted to carry things into court?—I think it might. Charles J. Lawson, Esq. 2 May, 1825.

Are counsel employed at the quarter sessions in Surrey, in cases of petty larceny?—Very often.

Not always?—Not always.

Might it not tend to the hindrance of necessary prosecutions, if any difficulty were to arise as to the allowance of costs to a prosecutor, to a minor tradesman, and other persons elevated beyond the class of poverty?—I think it would. The Committee are alluding to felons—

Yes?—I think it would.

Mercurii, 4° die Maii, 1825.

WILLIAM DICKINSON, ESQUIRE,

IN THE CHAIR.

Charles John Lawson, Esq. called in; and further Examined.

ARE you a barrister?—I am. Charles J. Lawson, Esq. 4 May, 1825.

Are you clerk of the peace for the county of Surrey also?—I am.

Who is your treasurer?—John Smallpiece, of Guildford.

Do you keep all the receipts for county expenses delivered to you by the treasurer?—Yes, I do.

What is the treasurer's salary?—From memory I can hardly tell; I think it is 150*l.* a year.

Who is your under-sheriff?—Mr. Druce.

Is there not a law which prevents an under-sheriff filling the office of under-sheriff for two successive years?—There is a law that prohibits it, but in point of practice it is frequently done, and it is very convenient that it should be done.

Is Surrey divided into districts or hundreds?—Hundreds and half-hundreds.

How many high constables are there to each hundred?—Two, with the exception of two hundreds. The hundreds of Farnham and Effingham have only one each: the former is appointed by the Bishop of Winchester.

Is the office of high constable a compulsory office?—Yes, it is.

Do you give salaries to the high constables?—Never.

Have you had any application for salaries?—Frequently.

Do they bring in bills for their expenses?—Never; they are allowed nothing but for the receipt stamps, which they give to the overseers for the county rates.

From whom do you choose your high constables?—Generally from wealthy farmers and respectable shopkeepers?

Who makes out the orders of the magistrates for costs?—In prosecutions?

Yes, in prosecutions?—The clerk of the peace.

Who sees that these costs are not exorbitant?—The clerk of the peace.

Is it at his discretion solely?—If the party is dissatisfied, he applies to the court.

But it generally devolves on the clerk of the peace to superintend the costs?—Yes, there being a general rule settled by the court, by which he is governed?

Is there a law which prevents the clerk of the peace from acting as a solicitor?—There is, at the sessions.

But his partner may act as a solicitor?—Yes, in the same way as the sheriff's partner may act as under-sheriff.

Have you any table by which fees for costs are directed?—Not a table of costs in prosecutions. We allow 5*s.* a day to the witnesses who come from the country, and 3*s.* 6*d.* if he comes from town, and we allow the fees which are paid in court.

So that he is bound to allow the costs according to something that is understood, or in some other way?—We never allow the costs as a matter of course. The party applies to the court for his costs.

The amount of the costs is not matter of discretion in the county of Surrey?—Certainly not.

Charles J. Lawson, Esq.

4 May, 1825.

Without reference to the distance the parties have to travel?—We allow 5 s. a day if they come from the country, whatever the distance may be.

Do you allow solicitor's bills or counsel's fees?—Never.

Did you say that the clerk of the peace keeps the receipts delivered to him by the treasurer?—He keeps all the records of the court, and those are considered as records. After the audit of the treasurer's accounts by the magistrates, the accounts and vouchers are delivered to him to keep amongst the records.

Are your county repairs generally done by contract or by estimate?—If they are of a large amount, they are always done by contract; for instance, if they amount to 100 l.

Who advertises the contracts?—The clerk of the peace, always.

And does he receive them?—He receives them, and they are submitted to a committee, and then reported to the quarter sessions.

Although there is no allowance actually made to the high constables by the county, do you think they never receive any thing from the different parishes for issuing their precepts?—I do not believe they do.

Is that considered as a duty and an onus?—It is; they are wealthy farmers, and persons in that station of life to whom the expenses are not considered as an object.

Who are the high constables appointed by?—By the quarter session.

At the recommendation of the magistrates?—The high constable, on going out of office, makes out a list of three persons to succeed him, which list is approved of by two magistrates, and presented to the sessions.

Are the high constables never appointed by courts leet or courts baron?—In Surrey the high constables are appointed by the quarter session, except in Farnham, where the high constable is appointed by the Bishop of Winchester.

Is that answer confined to Surrey?—To Surrey entirely.

What is the course pursued with respect to the formation of juries?—At the Midsummer quarter sessions the court issue their warrants to the high constables, directing them to issue their precepts to their petty constables to return a list of all persons qualified to serve on juries in their respective parishes; those lists are returned to the Michaelmas quarter session, and a copy of the lists is sent to the sheriff, from which he makes out his panels for the juries for the assizes and sessions.

Does that apply to the assizes as well as to the quarter sessions?—Yes.

Lunæ, 16° die Maij, 1825.

WILLIAM DICKINSON, ESQUIRE,

IN THE CHAIR.

Edward Jeremiah Curteis, Esquire, M. P. Examined.

E. J. Curteis, Esq. M. P.

16 May, 1825.

ARE you acquainted with the difference of expenses of prosecutions at the assizes and sessions in the county of Sussex?—I am principally acquainted with it from the circumstance of having this table put before me by the clerk of the peace for Sussex, by the direction of the magistrates, to be laid before the Committee.

What is the result?—The expenses attending prosecutions at the assizes are about three parts in five beyond the expense that arises for prosecutions at the sessions. This is a comparative scale (referring to a paper).

Does any thing occur to you to suggest on that subject to the Committee?—That some power should be lodged with the magistrates, of directing the trial of some felonies at quarter sessions.

Is not that the case at present?—I have had a communication with the secretary of state for the home department to know if we might commit to the sessions instead of the assizes. His direction was, it was our duty to send the prisoners to that place where the gaol could be soonest delivered.

Would it be expedient to have a quarter sessions adjourned previous to the assizes to try small offences?—I think the better course would be to give a power to the magistrates to commit for small offences to the sessions.

Will you put in that Table of Expenses to which you have referred?—

[The witness delivered in the following Table.]

OBSERVATIONS.

In the year 1818, the sum of £. 2,100. was borrowed on mortgage of the County Rates:

As to Building and Repairs of Gaols, Houses of Correction, Shire-Hall, and other County Buildings, it is not possible to separate these Expenses under the several heads required by the annexed form, as these buildings are for the most part contiguous and repaired by the same Workmen, who do not keep the Accounts of the Charges thereof separate.

LUNATIC ASYLUMS:—None built in this County. The Disbursements in 1813 were, for the Returns of Pauper Lunatics, collected throughout the County, and for Plans and Contracts ordered by the Justices appointed under the Act, which were afterwards not carried into execution.

VAGRANTS,—Scotch and Irish Paupers:—It is impossible to separate these, as they have usually been conveyed under the same contract.

PARLIAMENTARY RETURNS:—The Charges for these, excepting in the one instance in 1793, are made by the Clerk of the Peace in his Bill.

INCIDENTAL EXPENSES:—The following Charges are contained under this Head, there being no item in the Account to which they are particularly applicable: viz.—

Salary of the Chaplain.
Surgeon and Apothecary.
Gaoler, Turnkeys, and other Officers.
High Constables.
Inspectors of Weights and Measures.
County Surveyors.

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF BUCKS.

— N° 2. —

A RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places, in the County of BUCKS, that do not contribute to the County Rate; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt

PLACES.	GROUNDS OF EXEMPTION.
The Borough and Parish of Buckingham. The Borough of Chipping Wycombe.	I have no document in my office showing the grounds of their exemption, but it is supposed that their respective charters grant them this privilege. It is said that they repair their bridges, gaols, and town halls respectively. These boroughs have not ever, as far as appears by our books, contributed to the County Rates, (except as to payments for militia mens families under the Militia Acts,) and this exemption is recognized in the Local Act of 54 Geo. 3, "for making a fair and equal County Rate for the "County of Buckingham."

— N° 3. —

A RETURN from the Treasurer of the County of BUCKS, of all Sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

YEAR.	Sums Borrowed.	Securities upon which the Sums were borrowed.	The Purposes to which they have been applied.
1818	£. 2,100.	Twenty-one Mortgages of the County Rates, for 100*l.* each, signed by three Justices of the Peace for the said County, in pursuance of the powers given by the Act of 24 Geo. 3, c. 54.	Towards defraying the expenses of repairing, enlarging, and accommodating the common gaol of the said County at Aylesbury.

* The House of Correction and Shire-Hall at Ely were rebuilt in year 1820, under an Act of the 2d year of His present Majesty; and the expenses were defrayed by money borrowed on the credit of a special Rate, levied for that purpose under the powers of the Act, but no separate account was kept of the cost of each; the sums here set down are the actual payments which have been made on that account.

I was not appointed Treasurer until the end of 1802, and am not able to fill up this Account prior to 1803.

Thomas Fisher.
County Treasurer.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF CAMBRIDGE.

— N° 2. —

A RETURN, (pursuant to a Resolution of the Honourable the House of Commons, dated 11 June 1824,) made by the Treasurer of the County of CAMBRIDGE, of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places, of the said County, that do not contribute to County Rates.

The Franchise of the Isle of Ely, and the Town of Cambridge, do not contribute to the County Rate, but I am not acquainted with the grounds of their exemption.

THOMAS FISHER,
Treasurer of the County of Cambridge.

I have no books for the Years 1792, 1793, 1794, 1795, 1796 and 1797, as my predecessor was appointed to his office at Michaelmas 1797, and I have no Accounts previous to his. I was appointed at Easter 1823. From the general manner in which the Accounts were entered at the beginning of my predecessor's books, I cannot particularize the different heads required by this Account further than appears herein, and which accounts for the great sums under the head of Incidental Expenses as compared with the Expenditure. In the sum of 1,459*l.* 7*s.* on Militia Account in 1815, is included 1,103*l.* 15*s.* then due to the County from different Townships for substitutes families, and other Counties, and which was afterwards nearly all got in and carried to the general receipts. With respect to Judges Lodgings, Under-Sheriff, Lunatic Asylums and Debtors Liberate, they never cost the County any thing; and with respect to Scotch and Irish Paupers, Clerk of Assize, &c. no separate Account has been kept.

SIR, Penrith, March 12, 1825.

IN compliance with your letter of the 24th June last, requiring Returns from me, as Treasurer of the County of Cumberland, of all sums of Money borrowed in each year, from the year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied, I beg to state that the Money which has been borrowed on the Credit of the County Rates of this County did not come into my hands, but into the hands of a Committee of Magistrates, under whose superintendence the same was disposed of in building the Court-Houses at Carlisle, and a new Bridge over the river Eden at that place. The Securities on which it was borrowed were Mortgages of the County Rate, under an Act of Parliament for making a fair and equal County Rate for the County of Cumberland, passed in 1810; but the Securities were not prepared by me, nor do I know any thing of them.

I also beg further to state, that in the year 1823 the sum of 2,700 l. which was borrowed towards building a new Gaol at Carlisle, was received by me, and carried to the Credit of the County in the receipts for that year; but no separate account of the specific application thereof could be kept by me, as the Gaol is built under the management of a Committee of Magistrates appointed for that purpose.

I have the honour to be, Sir, your most obedient and humble servant,

JOHN JAMESON,
Treasurer for the County of Cumberland.

H. Hobhouse, Esq.
Secretary of State's Office,
Whitehall, London.

Concluded on page 140.

In obedience to your directions, I have transmitted my Returns pursuant to His Majesty's Order; and as a difference will be observed between my present Return and that which I made in the month of April 1823, for the Years from 1816 to 1822, both inclusive, I request permission to explain, that my year as Treasurer, into which office I entered at Michaelmas 1815, goes in and out at Michaelmas, and that the Accounts then furnished were made up from Michaelmas to Michaelmas; but as this Order has required the Returns for the Years from 1792 to 1823, both inclusive, and my predecessor's year commenced at Epiphany, I have conformed my present arrangement to that period of the year instead of Michaelmas, which I took on the former occasion.

The sums returned as received for County Rates are the sums actually levied upon the County; but it is observable, that in the Return of Expenditure, the heads of "Militia" and "Corn Returns" occur, and as to the former, considerable sums were gradually repaid to the Treasurers, under the Militia Acts, by various Counties and Parishes, for whose use the Treasurers were bound to advance such Monies; and the sums expended for the Corn Returns are repaid also for the use of the County.

These repayments therefore have gone from time to time in aid of the ordinary County Expenditure, and of course, rendered the levies on the County smaller when they have occurred; in addition to this it may be also right to state, that there is a Fund arising from Fee-farm Rents, &c. which were purchased by the County about the year 1672, and which amount to 211*l.* 8*s.* 1½*d.* per annum, which Fund is also applied in aid of the General County Rate.

DEVONSHIRE:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF DEVON.

— N° 2. —

A RETURN of the Liberties, Franchises and Places in the County of DEVON, which do not contribute to the County Rate, with the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

PLACES.	ALLEGED CAUSE OF EXEMPTION.
The Borough of Clifton, Dartmouth and Hardness.	Having regular jurisdiction, supporting and maintaining its own Gaol and Prison, and holding regular Quarter Sessions.
Great Torrington - - - - -	Repairing its own Bridges and Prisons.
Bradninch - - - - - -	A Borough by prescription, and, as is also alleged, by charter, with a liberty, or franchise, having a separate jurisdiction, and maintaining its own Gaol and Bridges. This is an appanage to the Duchy of Cornwall.
Oakhampton - - - - -	Maintaining its own Bridges and Prisons.
Borough, Town, and Manor of Bideford -	Charter.
Southmolton - - - - -	Maintaining its own Bridges and Prison.
Tiverton - - - - - -	- - Ditto - - ditto.
The Town and Parish of Barnstaple -
The Parish of Haccombe - - -	This is the property of Sir Henry Carew, Bart., and claims exemption even from the King's Taxes, I understand.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF GLOUCESTER.

— N° 2. —

A RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in the County of GLOUCESTER that do not contribute to the County Rate.

Borough of Tewkesbury, which defrays its own expenses out of its own Rates; but the grounds for such exemption I am unable to state.

HENRY H. WILTON,
Treasurer.

OBSERVATIONS.

(a) These items have been kept under one head, and cannot be separated.

(b) This item includes bread, coal, sick diet, and other necessaries for the Gaol and House of Correction, which have also been kept under the same head.

(c) The conveyance of felons and vagrants have been kept together.

(d) These items have also been kept together.

(f) This item includes the discharge of prisoners and debtors; but previous to 1806 the fees were included in the Gaoler's salary, and cannot be separated.

(g) This item includes charges relating to equalizing the County Rate.

(h) In consequence of the death of the late Treasurer, the Accounts have been made up to Trinity Sessions, and not to Epiphany as theretofore; therefore the return for 1819 contains one year and a half, and that for 1823 half a year only; viz. from Trinity Sessions 1823 inclusive to Epiphany Sessions 1824 exclusive.

N. B.—In the receipt for 1820 is included the sum of 3,210*l.* raised by a special County Rate, on the same principle as the Shire-Hall Rates, which sum has been paid over to the Account under the Shire-Hall Act.

By the death of the late Treasurer in 1819, the loss to the County, on making up his Accounts, amounted to 3,381*l.* 0*s.* 10*d.*, and a considerable sum was also lost in consequence of the chief Constables being in arrear at that time.

The Accounts of the late Treasurer of the County of Hereford were left in so deranged a state at the time of his death in 1819, that the particulars of the receipts and payments of the County previous thereto cannot with accuracy be collected therefrom; and there having been no regular Record Office for the use of the Clerk of the Peace of the County till the building of the present Shire-Hall, many of the Accounts and Vouchers necessary to have been referred to to perfect the Return sent herewith cannot be found. The Return is therefore made, after much care, in the best manner circumstances would admit of, as well from such of the annual and quarterly Accounts of former Treasurers as from such vouchers of Accounts as could, upon a diligent search, be collected.

HEREFORDSHIRE:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF HEREFORD.

— N° 2. —

RETURNS of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in each County that do not contribute to the County Rate; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

The City of Hereford, and a part of the Liberties thereof, having a jurisdiction distinct from the County.

— N° 3. —

RETURNS from the Treasurers of Counties, of all Sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

Amount due in 1792 on Mortgage of the County Rate, applied in building a new County Gaol, and which has been since paid off, as per Return N° 1; with a further Sum, the particulars whereof cannot be ascertained, though the Payments appear to exceed the sum of 15,300*l.*	15,300.
Amount borrowed on Mortgage of the County Rate, applied towards building a Penitentiary at the Gaol	2,000.

The understated is not set forth in Return N° 1, it being considered not to be thereby referred to.

By an Act of Parliament of the 55th Geo. 3, intituled "An Act for erecting a Shire-Hall, Courts "of Justice, and other Buildings for Public Purposes, and for providing suitable Accommodations "for His Majesty's Justices of Assize in and for the County of Hereford," the sum of 33,150*l.* (being the whole amount authorized to be raised by the said Act), was raised under the same, the landlord paying two-thirds and the tenant one-third of the rates whereby the same was raised; which sum of 33,150*l.* was not sufficient to complete the building of a Shire-Hall and other Buildings directed by the said Act.

The following Sums were borrowed on Mortgage of the Rates raised under the said Act, and were applied according to the directions of the same; viz.

—	1816	1,800
—	1817	12,000
—	1818	1,500
		17,200

The following of such Bonds have been paid off; viz.

In	1817	£. 200
	1821	700
	1822	300
	1823	2,000
	1824	5,000
		8,200

HUNTINGDONSHIRE:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF HUNTINGDON.

— N° 2. —

RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in each County that do not contribute to the County Rate; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

The Borough of Huntingdon is an ancient Borough, by Charter, and does not contribute to the County Rate. It has a separate Jurisdiction. The Inhabitants have, from the earliest time, made and levied upon themselves a distinct and separate Rate, in the form and nature of a County Rate, for the maintenance of the Police, and for defraying all Expenses within the said Borough to which a County Rate would be applicable.

— N° 3. —

RETURNS from the Treasurers of Counties of all Sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

Borrowed, in the year 1795, of Messrs. Perkins & Son, Bankers, Huntingdon, on Security of the County Rates, three sums of 100*l.* 120*l.* and 280*l.* to enable the Treasurer to pay the then remainder of the Expenses of erecting a new Bridge at Wansford.

Borrowed, in March 1796, of the said Messrs. Perkins & Son, the sum of 147*l.* 12*s.* 10*d.* on Security of the County Rates, to reimburse in part the Monies due to the Treasurer of Northamptonshire, for the Relief of the Wives and Families of Militia-Men of the County of Huntingdon, then resident in the County of Northampton.

Borrowed, in December 1818, of Messrs. Rust & Veasey, Bankers, Huntingdon, on Security of the County Rate, the sum of 500*l.* for Repair of the Bridges over the River Ouse, at Buckden, Offord Mills, and St. Neots.

Borrowed, of said Messrs. Rust & Veasey, in August 1819, the sum of 500*l.*, and in October 1820, the further sum of 500*l.* on Security of the County Rate, for Repair of the Bridges over the River Ouse at Wansford and Saint Neots, and over the Brook in Great Staughton, all in the County of Huntingdon.

15th January 1825.

JAMES RUST,
Treasurer,
Huntingdonshire.

KENT:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF KENT.

— N° 2. —

RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in the County of KENT, (exclusive of Canterbury and the Cinque Ports of Dover, Sandwich, Romney and Hythe, and their Appendages), that do not contribute to the County Rate of Kent; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

ROCHESTER.
MAIDSTONE.

The above two places claim to be exempt by Charter or Prescription, and because, like Canterbury and the Cinque Ports, they, in their respective Jurisdictions, discharge all expenses to which County Rates are applicable, out of Local Rates.

31st January 1825.

WM SCUDAMORE,
County Treasurer for Kent.

Sir, Sleaford, 26th January 1825.

HAVING been apppointed Treasurer of the Parts of Kesteven only twelve months, I am sorry to say it is utterly out of my power to make the Returns required by your circular of the 24th June last, and I some months ago called at your office and explained the circumstances which prevented me.

My predecessor in office, Mr. Cheales, (who was many years Treasurer), died a few days after my appointment.

For the year 1823 I have made up, from his accounts, a statement as well as I was enabled from the papers and documents before me: and for the year 1824 (during my own appointment) I have made up an accurate account of my receipts and expenditure.

I have the honour to remain, Sir,
Your most obedient humble servant,
W. Forbes,
Treasurer of Kesteven, Lincolnshire.

The Right Honourable Robert Peel,
Secretary of State, London.

* The particulars are not charged under separate heads, and therefore cannot be divided.

LINCOLNSHIRE:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF LINCOLN.

Parts of KESTEVEN.

— N° 2. —

The Liberties and Franchises in this County immediately adjoining upon the Parts of KESTEVEN are,

The Borough of Stamford.
The Borough and Soke of Grantham.

Stamford contains five Parishes and 5,000 Inhabitants; Grantham, and thirteen Parishes in its Soke, 9,000. These Jurisdictions commit their Felons to the County Gaol, and do not contribute any thing to its support; although, in the case of a Transported Felon from such Jurisdictions, the County at large pays about 12*l.* a man for his conveyance to Portsmouth. The Justices of the County having no power to act in these Jurisdictions, they are precluded from rating them to public burdens, and to which they ought to contribute, because they have (in the case of the Common Gaol) the use and benefit of it to the same extent as the several divisions of the County at large, who bear the exclusive burden of its support.

Sleaford,
26th January 1825.

W. FORBES,
Treasurer of Kesteven.

* I have made a Return for the last two years only, that being the period I have been in office; and I have no documents whereon to make a calculation for the preceding years; the Accounts, when audited, becoming Records of Court, being delivered over to the custody of the Clerk of the Peace.

ROB. BAKER,
County Treasurer.

MIDDLESEX:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX.

— N° 2. —

RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in the County of MIDDLESEX that do not contribute to the County Rate; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

PLACES.	ALLEGED CAUSE OF EXEMPTION.
The Liberty of the Tower within - - -	Claims to be exempt, First, on the ground of its being a Military Fortress, under the government of an officer appointed by the King. Secondly, having an exclusive Commission of the Peace for this and the other Liberties of the Tower, according to the Charter granted by King James the Second, in which Commission is a non-intromittant clause, excluding the County from any Jurisdiction therein.
The Liberty of the Tower without - -	Claim to be exempt on the second ground beforementioned.
The Parish of Trinity Minories - - -
The Liberty of the Old Artillery Ground -
The Society of the Middle Temple - -	Claims to be exempt by Prescription.
The Society of Furnival's Inn - - -	Not yet assessed to the County Rate; the boundary between the City and the County not being clearly defined.

— N° 3. —

RETURN from the Treasurer of the County of MIDDLESEX, of all Sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

Year.	Sums Borrowed.	Security.	Purpose to which applied.
1792	£. 20,000	The County Rates - -	Erecting a House of Correction for the County.
1795	12,000	- - ditto - - -	- - - ditto.

N. B.—The above Sums were, in addition to the sum of 30,000 l. raised by Tontine, in the year 1790, for the like purpose, agreeably to the Act 26 Geo. 3.

August 10, 1824.

In pursuance of an order from Mr. Secretary Peel, dated June 24th 1824, I have made the above Return for the years 1815, 1816, 1817, 1818, 1819, 1820, 1821, 1822 and 1823; and I certify that I was appointed Treasurer of the County of Monmouth in the year 1814; and that the first annual account settled by me, as Treasurer, was for the year ending at the Michaelmas Sessions 1815; and I further certify that my predecessor in the office of Treasurer, was Zouch Turton, esq. deceased, and that he did not, during the period he held the office, settle any account as Treasurer, and I have therefore no papers nor accounts from which I can make up the requisite Return for the years 1792, 1793, 1794, 1795, 1796, 1797, 1798, 1799, 1800, 1801, 1802, 1803, 1804, 1805, 1806, 1807, 1808, 1809, 1810, 1811, 1812, 1813 and 1814, or either of them.

MONMOUTHSHIRE:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF MONMOUTH.

— N° 2. —

RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in the County of MONMOUTH that do not contribute to the County Rate; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

The Borough of Monmouth, on the grounds that the Inhabitants repair and maintain their own Bridges, their own Prison, and prosecute, at their own expense, persons charged with the commission of crimes committed within the Borough.

THO^{s} PROTHERO,
Treasurer of the County of Monmouth.

Concluded on page 332.

(a) The Gaol and House of Correction are incorporated together, and have only one Keeper appointed to the whole.

(b) No Register was ordered to be kept by the Magistrates until Thomas-a-Becket Sessions 1820; consequently prior to that period the Amount paid for Scotch and Irish Paupers cannot be stated.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF NORTHAMPTON.

WESTERN DIVISION.

— N° 2. —

RETURN of the Names of Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in each County that do not contribute to the County Rate; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

The Town of Northampton and the Borough of Daventry do not contribute to the County Rate, having separate Jurisdictions of their own.

— N° 3. —

RETURN from the Treasurers of Counties of all sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

The whole amount of the Sums borrowed on Mortgage of the County Rates was 13,450 l. for building and enlarging the Gaol and House of Correction, which are both incorporated together, and have only one Keeper to manage the whole. This Amount was borrowed, as occasion required, on separate Securities of 100 l. and 50 l. each, whilst the works were completing, and were wholly paid off from 1792 to 1807, both inclusive. The Receipt and Expenditure of this are included in the Return N° 1.

Also, 3,000 l. were borrowed on Mortgage of the County Rates in 1818, for purchasing, &c. the Judge's House; 500 l. of which were paid off in 1823, and the remaining 2,500 l. still remains a debt upon the County. The Receipt and Expenditure of this also are included in the Return N° 1.

CH[S] SMYTH,
Treasurer.

Sir, Newcastle, Nov. 30, 1824.

According to your Letter of the 24th June, I have prepared the Returns required from the County of Northumberland, and have adhered as near as possible to the form N° 1, transmitted to me, though in some instances I have been under the necessity of joining two or three heads together, from the circumstance of their different items being included in one bill when paid.

The head of Scotch and Irish Paupers has only been kept distinct from that of Vagrants since the commencement of 1823; and previous to 1815 the fees to the Clerk of Assize were included in the Gaoler's bill of expenses under the head of prosecuting and apprehending Offenders.

As regards the Annual Receipts, I beg to say, that the Sums borrowed within the period specified are included in the total Amount for their respective years, as are also the Annual Repayments from the Receiver General of the Customs for Corn Returns; the Sums paid to the different Inspectors being included in the Disbursements for each year.

In conclusion, I beg to inform you that there has been a new County Court-House built within the period mentioned in your Letter, the cost of which, amounting to 52,569*l.* 5*s.* 5½*d.* was not paid from the regular County Rates, a distinct Act of Parliament having been obtained for building the same, and several Rates of one penny in the pound laid on the rentals of the County for defraying the expense thereof.

There is also at this moment a new County Gaol building, the cost of which will be paid in the same way as that of the Court-House I have mentioned.

P. S. Upon referring to the Act of Parliament for building the County Court-House I have mentioned, it appears that the expense was defrayed in the way I state; two-thirds of the Rates being paid by the Landlord, and one-third by the Tenant. The expense of building the Gaol now erecting falls entirely upon the Landlord.

NORTHUMBERLAND:—The preceding Account concluded.

OBSERVATIONS in Explanation of the Return made by the Treasurer of the Southern Division of the County of NOTTINGHAM, hereto annexed.

Gaols, ordinary repairs:—Under this head are included two-third parts of all expenses of bricklayers, stonemasons, joiners, glaziers, painters, whitewashers and smiths' work done to the County Gaol and Shire-Hall; both these buildings being together, and the work done to each charged in the same accounts.

The salaries of gaolers, chaplains and apothecaries are under an additional and distinct head; the amount paid by this Division is two-thirds, and the other third is paid by the Treasurer of the North Division.

House of Correction, building and enlarging:—In 1817 and 1818 the House of Correction was rebuilt, and the money expended thereby borrowed on mortgage of the County Rates, which is paid off annually by instalments of 1,000*l.* each. In 1823 a Tread-wheel was erected therein, two-thirds of which expense was paid by the South Division.

House of Correction, ordinary repairs:—Under this head are two-thirds of the expenses of bricklayers, stonemasons, joiners, glaziers, painters, whitewashers and smiths work; the other one-third is also paid by the Treasurer of the North Division. The salaries of governor, turnkey, chaplain, and medicine for prisoners, are also under an additional and distinct head; and the amount paid by this Division is two-thirds.

Asylum:—About the year 1810 the sum of 3,000*l.* was borrowed on mortgage of County Rates, to pay the proportion borne by the County of erecting the Asylum; but this sum was never received by the Treasurer. The principal and interest were paid off by instalments. The principal, two-thirds, is included under the head "Asylum," and not under those of "Principal paid off;" the interest, two-thirds, is placed under the head "Interest of Money;" the other one-third of expenses under these heads was paid by the Treasurer of the North Division.

Building and enlarging other County Buildings:—In 1819 considerable repairs and alterations were done to the Sessions-Room at Newark; the whole of which expense was paid by this Division; but one-third of it was received of the Treasurer of the North Division in the following year.

Prisoners Maintenance:—This Division pays two-thirds and the North Division one-third of these expenses.

Conveyance of Prisoners, and Prosecutions:—Each Division pays the whole expense of prosecuting and conveying the Prisoners who commit offences within it; the expense of conveying Convicts from the County Gaol to their destination excepted; two-thirds only of which are paid by this Division, and the other by the North Division.

Scotch and Irish Paupers:—The expense of conveying and maintaining them (if any) is included under the head "Vagrants, apprehending and conveying;" the parties conveyed being all described in the bills as Vagrants, without any distinction; and the carriers cannot recollect whether any Scotch or Irish Paupers have been conveyed by vagrant pass.

Under-Sheriff:—Amount of damages recovered and paid to the Sheriff, under actions against the Hundreds, have never come into the Treasurer's Accounts.

Militia:—Part of the expenses paid for the wives and families of Serjeants, &c. in each year, were paid by the Treasurer of the South Division; but one-half only was ultimately borne by it; the other half being repaid in each succeeding year by the Treasurer of the North Division and the Treasurer of the Town of Nottingham, each of whom paid one-fourth.

Incidental Expenses:—Under this head are included the Expenses incurred under the Watch and Ward Act, which was in force at different times between 1810 and 1820; also the Expenses incurred by the riots and disturbances which took place in the County at intervals during that time.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF NOTTINGHAM.

SOUTHERN DIVISION.

— N° 2. —

A RETURN from the Treasurer of the Southern Division of the County of NOTTINGHAM, of the Names of the Liberties or Places within the said Division that do not contribute to the County Rate.

There is only one place, which is a small extra parochial Farm, of about twenty-three acres of land, with a house upon it, called "Randall's Lodge," or "Lodge on the Wovlds;" it is surrounded by the Parishes of Cotgrave, Owthorpe, and Stanton on the Woulds, and is the property of a Mr. Bingham, of Kettleby, near Melton Mowbray, in the County of Leicester. This place pays two guineas a year for Land-Tax to the Collector at Stanton on the Woulds. It does not appear that there are any grounds of exemption from the County Rate; and it is probable that being so small a place, and within no Parish, is the reason it never was rated.

— N° 3. —

A RETURN from the Southern Division of the County of NOTTINGHAM, of all sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

About the year 1810 the sum of 3,000*l.* was borrowed by the County of Nottingham, on Mortgage of the County Rates, and applied towards the expenses of the Lunatic Asylum; which Sum was paid off by instalments previous to the year 1817.

In the year 1818 the sum of 10,000*l.* was borrowed on Mortgage of the County Rates, and applied towards the expenses of rebuilding the House of Correction at Southwell. In the year 1819 a further sum of 3,000*l.* was borrowed on the same Security, and applied towards the same purposes. These Sums were never received by the Treasurer, but the Principal is paid off by instalments of 1,000*l.* a year; two-thirds thereof by the Treasurer of the South Division, and the other one-third by the Treasurer of the North Division, and there are 7,000*l.* now owing.

W. SCULTHORPE,
Treasurer.

H. Hobhouse, Esq.

SALOP:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF SALOP.

— N° 2. —

RETURN from the Treasurer of the County of SALOP, of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in the said County which do not contribute to the County Rate; and the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

Ludlow, Oswestry, Shrewsbury and Wenlock, in the County of Salop, being Corporations, do not contribute to the Public Stock of the County of Salop.

— N° 3. —

RETURN from the Treasurer of the County of SALOP, of all sums of Money borrowed on account of the said County in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

In the year 1821 the sum of 4,000 l. was borrowed by virtue of an Act passed in the 1st and 2nd Geo. IV. for providing a convenient house with suitable accommodations for His Majesty's Judges at the Assizes for this County, which is secured by Mortgage on the County Rates, and has been applied for the purposes of the said Act.

Joseph Loxdale,
Clerk of the Peace for the County of Salop.

JOSHUA PEELE,
Treasurer.

Concluded on page 412.

(a) "Prisoners Maintenance."—This also includes the Keepers Salaries.

(b) "Scotch and Irish Paupers."—This is understood to mean Vagrants; there is no separate Account as to Scotch Vagrants; but for apprehending and passing Irish Vagrants, the Sums inserted in each Year from 1817 to 1823 were paid.

(c) "Debtors Liberate."—Since the Act passed throwing this Charge on the County, it has made part of the Payment under the Head "Under-Sheriff."

(d) The Account is taken down to Midsummer 1818, from a published Statement, by which it appears that the Accounts of the Treasurer for the Western District for the Year 1804 had not been furnished, and that for that Year the Expenditure was of the Eastern Treasurer only.

(e) The Account had been always made up annually to the Midsummer Quarter Sessions, but in the Year 1820 there was a Half-Year's Account also made out to the 31st December, in order that in future the Year's Account should always be made up to that period; the following Year commences 1st January 1821, and ends 31st December.

I, the undersigned Uriah Messiter, Treasurer of the County of Somerset, do hereby certify, that the above is a true Return, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

URIAH MESSITER,
Treasurer.

COUNTY OF SUFFOLK.

BECCLES DIVISION.

— N° 2. —

RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in each County that do not contribute to the County Rate; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt; so far as relates to the Division of BECCLES, in the County of SUFFOLK.

The Borough of Southwold, in the County of Suffolk, claims exemption from the payment of County Rate on the following grounds: namely, that they have a House of Correction of their own, which they maintain and repair at their own expense; that they have erected a Bridge, which they also keep in repair; they have also a Coroner and Town Clerk of their own, and generally for all the common purposes for which a County Rate is required; and no County Rate has ever been paid by the Borough within the memory of man.

COUNTY OF SUFFOLK.

IPSWICH DIVISION.

— N° 2. —

RETURNS of the Names of the Franchises and Places in this Division that do not contribute to the County Rates, and the grounds on which they claim to be exempt; namely,

The Borough of Ipswich does not contribute to the County Rates, having a separate Jurisdiction of its own, granted by Charter, which extends to all offences, both criminal and civil, in which the County Magistrates do not interfere. It has a Gaol and House of Correction distinct from the County, with a Sessions House for the trial of Prisoners.

The Town or Parish of Eye does not contribute to the County Rates, being a Town Corporate, and sends two Members to Parliament, and has Magistrates of its own; but it has been customary, from time immemorial, to send all persons charged with grand and petit Larcenies and Misdemeanors committed in the said Borough, to the County Gaol and House of Correction, and they are tried at the County Sessions for the Division of Ipswich for such Offences, and confined in the Prisons there.

WM HAMMOND,
Treasurer.

COUNTY OF SUFFOLK.

WOODBRIDGE DIVISION.

— N° 2. —

RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions and Places in each County that do not contribute to the County Rate; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

Borough of Bury claims an exemption by their Charter from payment to the County Rate.

Borough of Ipswich, the like.

Borough of Eye does not contribute, and states exemption by Charter.

Borough of Aldbrough has paid till within the last eighteen months, since which time it has claimed to be exempt by their Charter, but is supposed to be liable to the payment.

[The above are the only Liberties, Franchises and Places that I can ascertain in the County of Suffolk that do not pay, or that claim any exemption from payment.]

Boroughs of Sudbury, Orford and Dunwich, all pay to the County Rate.

— N° 3. —

RETURN of all Sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823 inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

Dates.	Sums.	Securities.	Remarks.
1801	£. 200	Bond - - -	The Securities upon which these three Sums were borrowed cannot be found; neither does it appear by the books of the late Treasurer to what particular purpose they were applied, but it appears they were discharged again in a few months, with Interest of 11*l.* 14*s.* 2*d.*
1802	300	Promissory Note -
1804	400	Promissory Note -
1805	9,000	Promissory Notes -	Upon five different Promissory Notes, the five Notes cannot be found; but it appears by the accounts at that period, the purpose to which the Money was principally applied was towards the erecting a new House of Correction and the County Bridges.
			It would appear by the accounts delivered, that in the years 1801, 1803, 1804, 1805, 1806, 1807 and 1809, the County paid off the principal sum of 11,700*l.* and that it borrowed, as by this account, only 9,900*l.*; but it appears that in July 1805 the County was in debt to the different tradesmen "for building a new House of Correction at Woodbridge," and gave Bonds to such different tradesmen for 1,800*l.* in liquidation of their Bills, and which were discharged by the Treasurer, as the Bonds became payable out of the County Funds, with Interest upon them of 166*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.*
July 11, 1821	1,000	Bonds - - -	This Sum was borrowed upon ten Bonds, of 100*l.* each, for the purpose of adding some Buildings and doing Repairs found requisite to the County Gaol. This Sum is still due, but, it is expected, will be chiefly paid off this year.

CHAS MOOR,
Treasurer.

*} *} "I have no means of making any Return for this period.—Jn° Smallpeice."

† "The Treasurer of Surrey having stated to me last Session that he had been required by an order of the House of Commons to make "Return of the Amount of Sums raised by County Rates, and the application of them from 1792 to 1824, and that he was not in possession "the documents necessary to make up the Return previously to 1810, when he came into office; an Order was made by the Court, on th "application of Mr. Sumner, one of the Members of the Committee on County Rates, that the necessary information for the period precedin "1810 should be supplied from the documents in my office. I therefore inclose a Return of the Receipts and Expenditure on account of th "County Rates of Surrey from 1798 to 1810. Previously to 1798 the Accounts were not classed under distinct heads.

Chichester, 9th September 1820.

Sir,

I duly received your letter of the 24th June, requesting me to prepare and send you various accounts, therein particularized, of the Receipt and Expenditure of the Treasurer of the Western District of the County of Sussex, from the year 1792 to 1823 (inclusive), and I beg leave to acquaint you that I lost no time in preparing them, as far as was in my power; viz. from the year 1812 to the year 1823 (inclusive). Prior to the year 1812 I had no concerns with the County. In that year my late Son was appointed Treasurer of this district, on the death of the late Treasurer Mr. Wilmot, in 1811; and on the death of my Son in the year 1814, I succeeded to that appointment. I also sent copies of your letter, and of the printed form of the account inclosed with it, in a day or two after I received them, to the Clerk of the Peace, that he might furnish you with the like accounts from the year 1792 to 1811, as duplicates of the Treasurers accounts, and likewise all vouchers, are from time to time deposited with him, on being passed or settled by the Magistrates.

I have now the honour to transmit you the several Returns required in No. 1, in your letter, from the year 1812 to the end of the year 1823, made up on the printed form sent me.

(a) The annexed account of Monies Received, includes (with the County Rates) 614 l. 11 s. 6 d. the balance due from the late Treasurer (who died in November 1811); 707 l. 2 s. 3 d. due to the County for Militia payments made by him, to be reimbursed; 762 l. 13 s. 3 d. from Militia payments made in and after 1812, to be reimbursed; 250 l. proceeds of the manufactory of the House of Correction at Petworth, and 24 l. 6 s. 8 d. for penalties for short weights, &c.

(b) This includes various sums of money paid for materials for the manufactory, and 120 l. paid for the tread-wheel at Petworth.

(c) This includes Salaries to the Chaplains, Surgeons, and Keepers at the County Gaol and House of Correction, and for coals, clothing and books at those places.

SUSSEX:—The preceding Account concluded.

WESTERN DIVISION.

— N° 2. —

A RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in the Western Division of the County of SUSSEX that do not contribute to the County Rate; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

The City of Chichester only is exempted from contributing to the County Rates within the above District of the County, by Charter granted to the Mayor and Citizens in the Reign of King James 2d.

— N° 3. —

A RETURN of all Sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

No Money appears to have been borrowed for the Western District of the County during the time my late Son or myself have had any concerns with it.

THO$ RHOADES,
Treasurer of the Western Division of the County of Sussex.

(a) The present Treasurer has no means of carrying the Account further back than the Year 1802, when his Father was appointed to the office, and from the manner in which the Accounts were kept previously to that time, it would probably be found impracticable to make an accurate Return from them.

(b) A new Shire-Hall was built under an Act of Parliament, passed in the 48th Geo. 3d, and under that Act the following Sums were levied in addition to the Receipts above stated; viz.

SUSSEX:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF SUSSEX.

EASTERN DIVISION.

— N° 2. —

The Liberties, Franchises, Divisions and Places within the Eastern Division of SUSSEX which do not contribute to the County Rate, are,

Rye, Winchelsea, Hastings, Pevensey and Seaford.

These places claim exemption because they are within the Jurisdiction of the Cinque Ports.

— N° 3. —

RETURN from the Treasurer of the Eastern Division of the County of SUSSEX, of all sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

No sums of Money have been borrowed from the Year 1802 (when the present Treasurer's Father was first appointed to the Office) to 1823, both inclusive, on the Security of the County Rates, within the Eastern Division of Sussex.

A large Sum, however, was borrowed under the Act of 48 George 3, for building a new Shire-Hall, which Sum was paid off by Rates levied under that Act of Parliament previously to the Year 1815.

Lewes,
13th January 1825.

N. B. The above Accounts are as far as can be made out, as there have been four or five Treasurers in the course of the last thirty years, and the Accounts cannot be found. Also, search has been made at the Clerk of the Peace's Office, and no Accounts of later date could be found. These Accounts bear date from Easter to Easter; the Accounts delivered to Government last Spring, bear date from January 1st to January 1st, which will make them not to correspond.

The sum of 1,500 l. borrowed in the years 1814 and 1815, for the purpose of building and enlarging the Gaol, Shire-Hall, &c. and Interest and part of Principal, paid off in the above proportions by the county at large.

COUNTY OF WESTMORLAND.

LONSDALE WARD.

—N° 2.—

[No Return.]

—N° 3.—

RETURN from the Treasurer of the LONSDALE Ward of the County of WESTMORLAND, of all Sums borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

The sum of 1,500 l. was borrowed upon the security of the whole County Rate in the year 1815, for the enlarging and improving the County Gaol and Houses of Correction, and for which purpose it has been applied; the proportion of which for Lonsdale Ward is 196 l. 2 s. 6 d.

In the year 1823 the further sum of 6,000 l. was borrowed upon the like Security, for the purpose of rebuilding and repairing several County Bridges which were washed down or injured by an extraordinary high flood, and has been applied accordingly; the proportion of which for Lonsdale Ward is 784 l. 10 s.

OBSERVATIONS.

The parts of the annexed Statement (printed in the italic character, are written) in Red Ink, and are additions to, or alterations in, the Printed Account.

It is impossible to separate the Repairs of Gaols from Ordinary Expenses, the accounts in the Treasurer's hands not distinguishing them, and the vouchers being destroyed.

The Sums inserted for relief of Militia Men's Families include the whole of the payments; the payments for Substitutes were, however, repaid by the Parishes for which they served, except sums lost by mistakes in Returns, &c.

WORCESTERSHIRE:—The preceeding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF WORCESTER.

—N° 2.—

RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in the said County, that do not contribute to the County Rate, and the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

Manor of Grafton claims under an old right.

—N° 3.—

RETURN from the Treasurer of the said County, of all sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from 1801 to 1823, both inclusive; and the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

Five Hundred Pounds was borrowed of Messrs. Berwick & Co. Bankers, Worcester, previous to 1801, which was paid off in 1802, but for what purpose Treasurer cannot state; no Security was given.

When a sufficient number of Rates are not ordered at Sessions to defray the expense of the quarter, the Treasurer advances the difference; for which he has usually charged Interest.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

YORKSHIRE:—The preceding Account concluded.

COUNTY OF YORK.

EAST RIDING.

—N° 2.—

RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in the East Riding of the County of YORK, that do not contribute to the County Rate; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

The Town and Liberties of Beverley form an exclusive Jurisdiction, and claim an exemption from contribution to the County Rates by Charter.

The Town of Hedon does the like.

—N° 3.—

RETURN from the Treasurer of the East Riding of the County of YORK, of all sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

In the year 1820 the sum of 6,000 l. was borrowed of Messrs. Bower, Duesbery & Co. Bankers, in Beverley, under the authority and upon the security of an Order of Court, made at the Easter Quarter Sessions in that year, for the purpose of completing certain additional Buildings at the House of Correction for the East Riding, which have been lately erected. Of that Sum, 1,500 l. still remains due from the East Riding to Messrs. Bower & Co. with an arrear of Interest.

HEN. JN° SHEPHERD,
Treasurer of the East Riding of Yorkshire.

Carlton Hustwaite, 20th Oct. 1824.

Sir,

I have endeavoured to comply with the enclosed instructions as far as it is in my power. The Treasurer's Accounts having always been kept under different heads from those required in the Form you have sent, I am not able to arrange them so as to accord exactly therewith, but I hope the following reference will be sufficiently explanatory.

The Treasurer's Accounts being always audited at the Michaelmas Sessions, I have postponed returning the Account until I could insert the Expenditure from Michaelmas 1823 to Michaelmas 1824.

I remain, Sir, your most obedient humble servant,

H. Hobhouse, Esq. V. HUTCHINGMAN,
Treasurer of the North Riding of Yorkshire.

(c) Houses of Correction, Buildings, Maintenance of Prisoners, Gaoler's Salary, Chaplain, Surgeon, Debtors Liberate, &c. &c.

(d) Judges Lodgings.

(e) Apprehending and conveying Vagrants; including Scotch and Irish Paupers.

(g) Coroners.

(h) Militia-Mens Families; including the Local Militia and Volunteers, also Bounties to Substitutes in the room of Men promoted.

(i) Treasurer's Salary, Travelling Charges, &c. &c.

(k) King's Bench and Fleet Prisons.

(l) Clerk of the Peace, Law Business, King's Printer, Lieutenancy, Register Office, Printing, Stationery, Advertisements and Incidental Expenses.

(m) Inspectors of Weights and Balances.

(n) Chief Constables, Justices Clerks, and Overseers of the Poor.

(o) Conveyance of King's Baggage.

(p) Returns of Corn.

(q) Crier of the Court.

Sir, Pontefract, 24th Jan. 1825.

I was appointed Treasurer to the West Riding of the County of York in the year 1813; all transactions prior to that period I can only make out from the Books found in the office, and I cannot go so far back as the period required. Mr. Seaton held the office for many years, and being one of the partners in the bank of Seatons & Co, which stopt payment in the year 1810, great confusion was the consequence; in the latter part of that year he was again reinstated in the office, but in the year 1812 many of the County Orders not receiving proper attention as to the payment of them, and a considerable defalcation was the consequence of inquiry; therefore in that year I have again no papers from which I can make any regular Return. I have given considerable attention and time to make out as correct a Return as possible; and two months ago I requested the Clerk of the Peace to assist me in filling up the vacant years called for, but I rather think he could not find the papers. I have not been able to attend so strictly as I could wish to every minutia; that would have taken all my time; as the Magistrates frequently sign orders including the apprehension, searching after and conveying the prisoners to York Castle; but I flatter myself, from its magnitude, that it will be found as correct as the nature of such an Account will admit of.

All expenses respecting the Militia, Deputy Lieutenancy Meetings and Clerk of Lieutenancy, are placed under the head of Militia. I have enclosed an Account of the Expenses of building the Pauper Lunatic Asylum at Wakefield.

No Returns having been made to the Treasurer of the West Riding of the Names of Liberties, Franchises, &c. that do not contribute to the County Rate, that question I suppose will be answered by the Clerk of the Peace.

No Sums have been borrowed by the West Riding since the year 1792.

No Money was paid to the Treasurer of the West Riding from any Keeper of Lunatic Asylums since the year 1792. The Sums included in the general Account for the Lunatic Asylum since the year 1814, and for the repairs and furnishing all expenses in erecting the Building, are in the Account I have enclosed, and the Money raised for that express purpose. I remain, Sir,

Your most obedient humble servant,

W. LEE,

West Riding, Treasurer.

COUNTY OF ANGLESEY.

— N° 2. —

RETURN of the Names of the Liberties, Franchises, Divisions or Places in each County that do not contribute to the County Rate; specifying the grounds on which they claim to be exempt.

The Borough of Beaumaris, and the Liberties thereof, in the said County, claiming exemption by virtue of the exemptions, powers and provisions of the Charter of Incorporation, granted to the Town and Borough of Beaumaris, and the Liberties, by King Edward the First, in the twenty-fourth year of his reign, and confirmed by Letters Patent in the first year of the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and by right prescriptive.

J° JONES,
Treasurer of the County of Anglesey.

To the Right Honourable
The Secretary of State, Home Department.
17th November, 1824.

COUNTY OF CARDIGAN.

— N° 2. —

[No Return.]

— N° 3. —

A RETURN from the Treasurer of the County of CARDIGAN, of all sums of Money borrowed in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, both inclusive; specifying the Securities upon which such Sums have been borrowed, and the Purposes to which they have been applied.

The only Sum borrowed was the sum of 200 l. in the year 1818, upon the Treasurer's personal security, under the direction of the Magistrates; and the same was applied in payment of miscellaneous demands upon the County; and this Sum was in the course of the same year repaid out of the County Rate.

Aberystwyth, 31st January 1825.

JAMES HUGHES,
Treasurer.

PEMBROKESHIRE.—RETURN FROM THE TREASURE

COUNTY OF PEMBROKE.	1792.	1793.	1794.	1795.	1796.
AMOUNT Received - - £.	- - -	887 6 –	612 14 –	891 2 –	1,290 15 –
EXPENDITURE:
Bridges - - - - -	No Statement can be made out for this year. In consequence of the Treasurer becoming insolvent, and being declared a Bankrupt at this period, the Books, Papers, &c. are not to be found. It appears that a Balance of 178*l.* 0*s.* 5*d.* was due from him at the time of his failure, which has been since paid by Instalments by his Sureties to the succeeding Treasurer, and which has been placed to the credit of the County, as County Stock, as they were respectively paid.	280 15 8	135 15 6	270 19 1	19 14 9

MONIES RECEIVED BY THE CLERKS OF THE PEACE AND THE CLERKS OF ASSIZE.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

IN answer to a Letter from His Majesty's Secretary of State; dated the 24th June, 1824,—requiring

ACCOUNTS of all MONIES received by the Clerk of the Peace in the County of BEDFORD, out of the County Rates, in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, each inclusive; and any SALARY received by him during those Years, in lieu of Fees and Charges out of such Rates; together with a Table of FEES and CHARGES demanded by such Clerk of the Peace, during the time above mentioned; specifying the Amount of each Fee and Charge, and whether any, and what Alteration has taken place in such Fees and Charges in the aforesaid period:—

I return, That I entered upon the office of Clerk of the Peace for the County of Bedford in the year 1798, previous to which period I am unable to make any Return:

That in each of the years from 1798 to 1807 inclusive, I received from the Treasurer, out of the County Rates, a Salary of £. 10, which had been paid to the Clerk of the Peace many years, and was supposed to be a remuneration for issuing receipts for the quarter sessions, his attendance at sessions, and taking and recording the proceedings;—and £. 25. 6*d*. for Parliamentary Returns:

That from the year 1807 to the year 1814 I received no Monies from the Treasurer for any Salary, Fees, Services or Charges, out of the County Rates:

That in the years 1814 and 1815 I received from the Treasurer £. 1,029. 18*s*. 3*d*. for Parliamentary Fees and other Expenses incurred, and for my services and attendances in passing an Act of Parliament to enable the Justices of the Peace of the County of Bedford to rebuild Tempsford Bridge:

That in the year 1819 I also received from the Treasurer £. 200; and in the year 1822, £. 200 further, on account of my services and expenses in relation to Tempsford Bridge; and in January 1824, I received from the Treasurer £. 531. 13*s*. 3*d*. the balance of my bill for services and expenses in relation to Tempsford Bridge.

The above Expenses in relation to Tempsford Bridge, as well as all Expenses attending the rebuilding of the Bridge, were directed, by the Act of Parliament, to be defrayed, one-half part thereof out of the County Rates, and the other half-part thereof by means of Tolls from passengers over the Bridge.

That I received nothing from the Treasurer for Salary, Fees, Services or Charges, except as above, from the year 1814 to 1822:

That in the year 1822, I received from the Treasurer, out of the County Rates, £. 500, on account of my professional charges; and in January 1824, I received from the Treasurer, out of the County Rates, £. 407. 6*s*. 8*d*. the amount of my bill from Easter Session 1822 to Michaelmas Session 1823; and £. 75. 1*s*. for my salary and bill from Michaelmas Session 1823 to Epiphany Session 1824.

Theed Pearse,
Clerk of the Peace for the County of Bedford.

The only variation which has taken place in the rate of any of the above Fees, within the last thirty-two years, is in the charge for entering, and orders in cases of appeals, which, before Michaelmas sessions 1805, were only 2*s*. 6*d*. for entering each appeal, and 6*s*. for the order. Before that sessions the common costs allowed in cases of appeal amounted to only £. 1. 6*s*. 8*d*.; and an order was then made that they should be increased to £. 5: and it was then understood and agreed by the Justices present, that the fees for entering appeals, and the orders thereon, should be increased to the sums since taken, viz. 5*s*. for entry, and 12*s*. for the order, (except in cases of warrants for levying County and Bridge Rates, the charges for which, by an order made at Epiphany sessions 1801, were ordered to be increased from 5*s*. to 10*s*. each; and such last-mentioned charges are paid out of the County Rates.)

There has been no regular Table of Fees settled by the Justices of the County of Dorset within the aforegoing periods.

Thomas Fox,
Deputy Clerk of the Peace for the County of Dorset.

POOLE.

ACCOUNTS of all MONIES received by the Clerks of the Peace in the several Counties of England and Wales, out of the County Rates, in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, each inclusive; and any Salary received by each of them during those Years, in lieu of Fees and Charges, out of such Rates; together with a Table of Fees and Charges demanded by such Clerks of the Peace during the time above mentioned; specifying the Amount of each Fee and Charge, and whether any, and what Alteration has taken place in such Fees and Charges in the aforesaid period.

Answer.—The Fees of office of Clerk of the Peace have been, and are still so trifling in the Town of Poole, that no account has been kept of them. No Salary has been received in lieu of Fees and Charges. The Fee sand Charges have been regulated by the Table of Fees of the Clerk of the Peace for the County of Dorset.

Jn° Foot,
Clerk of the Peace for the Town and County of Poole.

N. B. I entered upon the office of Deputy Clerk of the Peace on the 12th day of May 1812. My two immediate predecessors, who had filled the office for twelve years and upwards, died insolvent; and there are no books, accounts or documents of any description by which I can ascertain the receipts of former Clerks of the Peace, or of their Deputies, from the year 1792 to the said 12th May 1812. The only Salary received by me in lieu of Fees and Charges out of the County Rates, is the sum of five guineas per annum, which is allowed for attending the adjourned sessions, held betwixt the times of each quarter sessions of the peace. It is proper to observe, that the above Account comprises only the receipt of Monies out of the general County Rates; and in the said Account are included not only all official Fees and Charges against the County, but also the amount of my law bills and disbursements in sundry actions and prosecutions instituted by orders of sessions, and carried on by me as the Attorney and Solicitor for the County, at the County expense. It is also proper to remark, that besides the above receipts out of the General County Rate, various sums of Money have been received by me out of the Special County Rate, for carrying into execution the Act of Parliament passed in the year 1809, for building a new Gaol, House of Correction, and Court-Houses at Durham.

A TABLE of FEES and CHARGES demanded by the Deputy Clerk of the Peace of the County of DURHAM, from the 12th May 1812 to the Year 1823, inclusive; specifying the Amount of each Fee and Charge, and whether any, and what Alteration has taken place in such Fees and Charges in the aforesaid period.

N. B.—I have here to regret, as in the Account of Monies received out of the County Rates, that owing to the insolvency of my predecessors, and the total absence of all documents relating to the Fees of the office, I cannot (with the exception of the Table settled in 1807) carry the account of the Fees further back than the 12th May 1812, when I entered upon the office of Deputy Clerk of the Peace, as before stated. I have reason to believe, however, that there was little or no alteration in the Fees from the year 1792 to the year 1812, (except so far as the same may be varied by the Table of 1807); for, on entering upon the office in 1812, I found it necessary, in my difficulties, to apply for information to Mr. Joseph Sanderson, a gentleman who had been many years assistant to George Pearson, Esq. (the Clerk of the Peace as well during the year 1792 as before and subsequent to that period,) and who had also been assistant to Mr. Castle, senior, and Mr. Castle, junior, my two immediate predecessors; and with the aid of this Mr. Sanderson, (who has now been dead several years,) with some information procured from a clerk (also now dead) who had been a considerable time in the office, I was chiefly enabled to make out the Fees as now sent.

John Dunn,
Deputy Clerk of the Peace.

HUNTS.

HUNTS.

I WAS appointed Clerk of the Peace in 1799. My Salary is twenty guineas a year; and I have a quarterly allowance of £.6. 12 s. for preparing precepts, advertisements, certificates, and roll of oath of qualifications for offices, &c. at each quarter sessions; and an annual allowance of ten guineas for passing my estreats.

It is not in my power to furnish an Account of Monies received out of the County Rates during the period mentioned, because I had none from my deceased brother, who was my deputy for some years; and since his decease I have kept none. That information, however, will be obtained from the County Treasurer's Return, from whom I have received my bills for business done for the County, (at the same rate of charge as professional men make to their other clients,) generally quarterly.

I am now directed to prepare a regular Table of Fees, to be settled, approved, and confirmed according to the Act of the 57th of his late Majesty, a copy of which, when completed, shall be furnished.

Rob. Sherard.
Clerk of the Peace for Huntingdonshire.

Monies received by Clerks of the Peace.

CITY OF CANTERBURY.

Canterbury, 6th March 1825.

Sir,

HEREWITH I have the honour to forward to you an Account of Monies received by the Town Clerk of the City of Canterbury, from 1792 to 1823, both inclusive, as far as I can find documents to prove the same. There has been no Salary ever paid to the Town Clerk out of the County Rates; the sums so received out of the County Rates have been almost entirely for the orders of sessions granting the rates, and for the warrants and precepts to collect the same.

I also send a Table of Fees handed down by my predecessors, the last of whom filled the situation twenty-six years; I succeeded him in 1818; and by which Table the Fees are now regulated; and I believe no alteration has taken place during the above period; viz. from 1792 to 1823.

These are sessions fees, payable by individuals, and not out of the County Rates.

Jn° Nutt,
Town Clerk.

All Fees fixed by Act of Parliament are invariably charged as so fixed.

Since I came into office, in 1823, I have not met with any regular List of Fees in the office, and I find that the knowledge of them has been preserved and continued by there having been always several clerks in the office at the same time, and the juniors having become acquainted with the Fees from the seniors, before such seniors left the office. The above List I believe to be correct.

A new List of Fees is now in the course of being settled and allowed, under the authority of the Act 57 Geo. 3, c. 91.

ACCOUNTS of all MONIES received by the Clerks of the Peace in the several Counties of ENGLAND and WALES, out of the County Rates, in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, each inclusive; and any SALARY received by each of them during those Years, in lieu of Fees and Charges, out of such Rates; together with a Table of FEES and CHARGES demanded by such Clerks of the Peace during the time above mentioned; specifying the Amount of each Fee and Charge, and whether any, and what Alteration has taken place in such Fees and Charges in the aforesaid period.

Having succeeded to the office of Clerk of the Peace on the resignation of the late Mr. Cheales, (who is since dead) in January 1824, it is not in my power to answer this question.

I have not received any Salary during the year I have been in office, in lieu of Fees and Charges, out of the County Rates. Annexed is a copy of the Table of Fees received by the late Mr. Cheales, and by myself, as Clerk of the Peace.

There are several ancient Fees set down in the foregoing Table, which, though in strictness payable, are not now received; the duties seldom or never requiring to be performed, and many of them have become obsolete. There are also Fees for registers, entries, enrolments, and other business specially created by statutes, requiring matters to be done. Also certain other statutes requiring duties to be executed by the Clerks of the Peace, for which no specific compensation is directed to be made. As also several other statutes requiring business to be transacted by Clerks of the Peace, which are directed to be performed without any fee or reward whatever.

The following FEES are included in the Table of Fees, as originally payable to the Clerk of the Peace for the County of Middlesex, at the Gaol Delivery of Newgate, but which Fees have not been received by him since his appointment to that office; the duties to be performed in respect of such Fees having been executed at the Old Bailey by the Clerk of the Arraigns there; viz.—

The above Fees and Charges are such as I have been informed were received by my predecessor in office (except such of them as have since been fixed by Act of Parliament, or have been charged for duties imposed by the like authority); but no Table of such Fees was ever delivered to me, nor am I aware of any alteration having taken place in such Fees and Charges since the year 1792.

October 18, 1824.

II. (1.) Monies received by Clerks of the Peace.

City and County of the City of NORWICH—continued.

Previous to 1807 the Fees for preparing Indictments, and prosecution of Felons at the Sessions, were paid by the parties, or by the Clerk to the Justices, who conducted the prosecutions, and cannot be now ascertained; but afterward they have been paid by bills allowed by the Justices, and are included in the following sums:

1809	12	11	–
1810	1	19	–
1811	22	11	10
1812	3	4	–
1813	10	3	8
1814	4	16	6
1815	13	3	8
1816	25	8	6
1817	56	5	2
1818	45	19	8
1819	67	2	6
1820	56	9	4
1821	47	1	–
1822	51	8	2
1823	77	6	4

I also, in 1823, received 89 l. 18 s. 2 d. for business done, and money expended to Easter 1823, relative to the building an entire new gaol for the city and county.

I have not any Salary out of the County Rates.

In the sums above are included one guinea for each transportation order, and the Fees for preparing indictments for felonies, which are 2 s. each; if against more than one person, 2 s. more each; and if containing more than one count, 2 s. for each count; for long and special indictments according to length, and for each restitution order, 3 s. 6 d. No alteration has taken place in such Charges.

For other trouble respecting estreats, returns to the Secretary of State, population and poor's rate returns, jury lists, &c. &c. the Justices allow at their discretion, and such allowances are all included in the sums specified above.

I receive for every order on the Treasurer for the payment of money less than 40 s. the sum of 1 s.; and if for 40 s. or more, 3 s. and my clerk 6 d. for every such order; but these are not included in the above sums.

Until of late years the orders were small in number, but are greatly increased by the charges on the County Rate for the Gaol, House of Correction, Police, &c. No increase in this charge has been made by me, although it is an inadequate remuneration for the trouble I have on those accounts. The charge is added to each bill, and is paid with the bill out of the County Rate.

Elisha De Hague,
Clerk of the Peace.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

The following is an ACCOUNT of all MONIES received by the Clerk of the Peace of the County of NORTHAMPTON, out of the County Rates, in the Years hereinafter mentioned, from the Year 1792 to 1823, each inclusive; there being no SALARY received during those Years, in lieu of Fees and Charges, out of such Rates; (that is to say)—

	£.	s.	d.
In the year 1803.—For trouble and expenses in executing the Act for procuring returns relative to the expense and maintenance of the poor; being after the rate of 2 s. 6 d. for the return which was then made in respect of every parish, township and place in the county	38	5	–
In the year 1814.—For his bill as solicitor in defending the cause, The King against the Inhabitants of the County, for not repairing a bridge	224	11	3
In the year 1815.—For receiving and transmitting to the Secretary of State's office returns, with lists thereof, &c., under an Act of Parliament then lately passed for procuring returns relative to the expense and maintenance of the poor in England, &c.	60	10	–
In the year 1816.—For his bill as solicitor (including the Clerk in Parliaments) for obtaining the Act for providing a house for the Judges at the assizes	308	19	–
In the year 1820.—For his bill as solicitor in making out the title, conveyance, &c. of the house purchased for the accommodation of the Judges	132	12	6
In the year 1821.—For his fees under the Population Act, 1 Geo. 4, c. 94	15	2	–
Total	£. 779	19	9

There have not been any Fees or Charges demanded by the Clerk of the Peace during the time above mentioned; but he is making out a bill of law, and other charges due to him from the county, and to be paid out of the County Rate

H. Enfield,
Clerk of the Peace.

OXFORDSHIRE.

Sir, Oxford, February 15th, 1825.

I HAVE the honour to inform you, that I became Clerk of the Peace for the County of Oxford in 1816, and my inclosed Return contains an Account of all Monies received by me, in each year since my appointment, out of the County Rate.

I have made every effort in my power to collect, from what materials are in my office, a like Return of the Monies annually received by my predecessor from the County Rate, from the year 1792; but I find I cannot make out a correct Account, and therefore have not attempted to send any. I should observe, that the County Accounts and Vouchers, which by the 12 Geo. 2, c. 29. are directed to be deposited with the Clerks of the Peace, and kept amongst the County Records, never have been in this county so deposited, but have been retained in the custody of the Treasurers.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your most obedient humble servant,
Tho^s Henry Tauntou.

COUNTY ALLOWANCES.

Allowances for expenses, pains and trouble incurred, had, done and taken in and about the execution of any business done by the order and direction of the court of general quarter sessions, the Custos Rotulorum, the Magistrates, the Lord Lieutenant, or the Grand Jury at the assizes, and which shall be approved of by the court of general quarter sessions of the peace; such sum as the Justices of the Peace in general quarter sessions shall from time to time think reasonable and proper, and order to be paid by the County Treasurer, out of the public stock of the county; such order to be signed by two Justices at the least, and countersigned by the Clerk of the Peace, or his deputy.

The Table of Fees and Allowances now received by the Clerk of the Peace, are the same as were received before he was appointed in 1802. In October 1797, Edward Pemberton, Esq. resigned the office of chairman. In October 1798, Sir Corbet Corbet, Baronet, was elected chairman, and continued till a short time before his death, in 1823. On Sir Corbet's resignation in 1822, Thomas Pemberton, Esq. the present chairman, was elected.

Soon after Sir Corbet Corbet was appointed chairman in 1798, a Committee of Magistrates was appointed, and the above regulation of signing the orders by two Justices at the least, in addition to the Clerk of the Peace or his deputy, was first adopted, and has been acted upon ever since. The Committee meet every sessions for the purpose of examining, auditing and signing all accounts, and transacting such other public business as is not usually done in open court, and report their proceedings in writing to the whole Justices assembled, who take every case into consideration, and make orders thereon, which are carried into execution by the Clerk of the Peace, or by his direction.

A Committee of Magistrates was appointed by Michaelmas court of quarter sessions 1817, at the suggestion of the Clerk of the Peace, to ascertain the Fees and Allowances to be taken by the Clerk of the Peace pursuant to the 57 Geo. 3, c. 91, passed 10th July 1817. This Committee has not yet made a final report, having waited to see what was done by other adjoining counties; and in the meantime, and until such Table is settled, directed that the Clerk of the Peace should continue to have and receive the same Fees and other Allowances he hitherto hath received, till it is otherwise ordered by the court.

Joseph Loxdale, Clerk of the Peace for the County of Salop.

Upon the Return, N° 1, I have to make the following explanations; viz.:

That the totals mentioned in the Account include,

1stly. The bill against the Riding, which chiefly consists of charges for making out the orders of sessions, and sentences of the court, for the keepers of York Castle and House of Correction, freehold lists, &c. The proper professional business of the Riding is transacted by the solicitor, which is a distinct appointment.

2dly. The totals from 1819, include a Salary of 400 l. a year; first granted by the Magistrates in 1819, in lieu of a poundage allowed upon the County Rate. The expenditure of the Riding about that period having rapidly increased, the Magistrates thought proper to make this alteration.

3dly. The repairs of a house and offices for the Clerk of the Peace, which are the property of the Riding, and some incidental expenses; also the postage of letters and carriage of parcels, which are very numerous.

The before mentioned Table of Fees has undergone no alteration during the period inquired after.

It may be observed, that no charge whatever is allowed upon the arraignment or trial of prisoners when convicted of felony, but there is allowed 8 s. upon an acquittal.

Tho. Foljambe,
Deputy Clerk of the Peace.

There is no alteration between the foregoing Fees and Charges and those taken by Mr. Walter Powell, the late Clerk of the Peace, who succeeded to the office in the year 1812, and died in the year 1824. No Table of the Fees taken by the former Clerks of the Peace can now be found, but Mr. Walter Powell (as the present Clerk of the Peace has been informed) followed, in a great measure, the same rule as to his Fees that his predecessors had done as to theirs.

CARMARTHENSHIRE—continued.

CARMARTHEN-SHIRE.

Sir, Carmarthen, 5th March 1825.

In reply to your letter of the 28th ult. addressed to the Clerk of the Peace for the Town and County of the Town of Carmarthen, I have to state, that the County of the Borough of Carmarthen (which is the description contained in its charter) is separate and distinct from the County of Carmarthen, and always has been and now is exempt from contributing to County Rates of the County of Carmarthen; and no County Rate is ever assessed, raised, or collected within the County Borough (which comprise only the town and lands within its parish, called Saint Peters, and in which all the County Borough and its limits and liberties are situated), and which never pays any County Rates.

Therefore as to first Return required.

There were no Monies received by the Clerks of the Peace in the County Borough of Carmarthen from the Year 1792 to 1823; nor any Salary received by any of them during those Years, or at any time, in lieu of Fees and Charges out of such Rates; but there is a Table of Fees and Charges demanded and taken by the Clerk of the Peace of the said County Borough of and from the attornies practising in General Sessions, and Fortnight's Court, held under the charter, for and within the said County Borough, of which Table a printed copy is sent herewith: there was no regular Table of Fees made out or allowed until the present Table was made in Spring 1819, pursuant to the Act of 57 Geo. 3. c. 91, and confirmed by the Judges of the Court of Great Sessions.

I am, Sir,

Your very obedient humble Servant,

Wm. Jones,

Clerk of the Peace for the County of the Borough of Carmarthen.

TABLE of Fees to be taken by the Clerk of the Peace for the County of the Borough of Carmarthen, made and settled at a General Quarter Sessions of the Peace, holden in and for the said County of the Borough, at the Guildhall in the Town of Carmarthen, on Monday the 18th day of January, in the year of our Lord 1819, and continued by Adjournments to the 10th day of February, in the year aforesaid, and approved, ratified and confirmed by the Justices of the Great Sessions, holden in and for the said County of the Borough, pursuant to the Statute in that case made and provided (57 Geo. 3, c. 91).

CARNARVONSHIRE.

Clerk of the Peace's Office, Carnarvon,
28th July 1824.

Sir,

CARNARVONSHIRE.

In consequence of the Book of Orders in the Clerk of the Peace's Office for this County not having been kept in a regular manner previous to the appointment of the late R. A. Poole, Esq. deceased, to that office, which took place in the latter end of the year 1815, the Account called for, of all Monies received by the Clerks of the Peace for this County out of the County Rates, in each year, from the year 1792 to 1823, cannot be made out previous to the year 1816. I therefore herewith transmit to you the Account from 1816 to 1823, each inclusive; as also the other Returns required by your's of the 24th ult.

I am, Sir, your most obedient humble servant,

H. Hobhouse, Esq.

MONTGOMERY.

Sir, Machyulteth, 1st February 1825.

I HEREWITH send you the Returns required by your letter of the 20th ultimo, as also a Table of Fees demanded by the Clerk of the Peace for this county, as settled in the year 1786, and in which no alteration has taken place from that period to the present time.

In the County of Montgomery it is usual in cases of felony, where the prosecutor is bound over to appear and prosecute, to allow him his taxed costs out of the County Rate; upon which prosecution the Clerk of the Peace is entitled to certain Fees, which vary according to the number of witnessses, the number of counts in the indictments, and other circumstances.

These Fees are charged by the Clerk of the Peace to the prosecutor's attorney; but as they ultimately come out of the county stock, I have thought it right to include them in the Return. And as some of the bills of costs have not yet been taxed, I have referred to the late Clerk of the Peace's bill-books, and have entered the Fees due to him on each prosecution as having been paid in the years in which the respective prosecutions took place.

The late Clerk of the Peace died in October 1823; and it does not appear that any thing has been paid to him on account of the General Bill on the county since the year 1816. A committee of County Magistrates have been appointed to examine his accounts.

I have the honour to be, Sir, your most obedient humble servant,

Joseph Jones,
Clerk of the Peace for Montgomeryshire.

H. Hobhouse, Esq.

Joseph Jones,
Clerk of the Peace for Montgomeryshire.

PEMBROKE.

ACCOUNTS of all MONIES received by the Clerks of the Peace in the several Counties of ENGLAND and WALES, out of the County Rates, in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, inclusive; and any SALARY received by each of them during those Years, in lieu of Fees and Charges, out of such Rates; together with a Table of FEES and CHARGES demanded by such Clerks of the Peace during the time above mentioned; specifying the Amount of such Fee and Charge, and whether any, or what Alteration has taken place in such Fees and Charges in the aforesaid period.

An Answer to this Query, as far as it relates to Monies received by the Clerk of the Peace from the County Rates, will be found in the annexed Extract; and to the latter part of it I have to reply, by stating that I was appointed to the situation in 1804, at which period I found no Table of Fees, nor has any since been arranged. The Charges I make I endeavour to assimilate to those made in the neighbouring Counties of Camarthen and Cardigan; but the receipts are so inconsiderable that I have kept no account of them.

N. B.—It is much to be lamented that, however low, an uniform Table of Fees should be wanting in Wales, instead of its depending, so much as it does, upon our capabilities, individually, in framing one.

ACCOUNT of all MONIES received by the Clerk of the Peace of the County of PEMBROKE, out of the County Rates in each Year, from the Year 1792 to the Year 1823, inclusive; and the SALARY received by him during those Years, in lieu of Charges, out of such Rates.

HOME CIRCUIT.

SIR,

In obedience to your letter of the 24th of June, and resolution of the House of Commons on the 11th of June last, I herewith transmit you an Account of all Monies received by the Clerk of Assize in the five several counties on the Home Circuit, out of the County Rates, from Lent Assizes 1816, to the special gaol delivery in December 1823, inclusive, during which period I have been Deputy Clerk of Assize for that circuit.

From the year 1792 to the Summer Assizes 1815, Mr. Jerome William Knapp was Deputy Clerk of Assize. He died in October 1815, and Mr. Gould, the Clerk of Assize, is therefore unable to give an account of Monies received of the respective Treasurers of the five counties, up to the period of Mr. J. W. Knapp's death.

The Clerk of Assize on the Home Circuit has not, nor does receive any Salary out of the County Rates, in lieu of Fees and Charges out of such Rates.

Haberdasher's-Hall, 21st Jan. 1825.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
Tho. Geo. Knapp.

Henry Hobhouse, Esq.

MIDLAND CIRCUIT.

MIDLAND CIRCUIT.

The RETURN of Richard Lowndes, Clerk of Assize of the MIDLAND CIRCUIT, in pursuance of a Resolution of the House of Commons, dated the 11th June 1824.

UNDER the Act of the 55th Geo. 3, c. 49, the Judges ordered that I should receive for the Return of Persons committed, tried and convicted for Criminal Offences and Misdemeanors, the following annual Sums; that is to say—

	£.	s.	d.
Northampton	3	3	–
Rutland	–	10	6
City of Lincoln	–	10	6
Lincolnshire	5	5	–
Town of Nottingham	1	1	–
Nottinghamshire	3	3	–
Derbyshire	3	3	–
Borough of Leceister	–	10	6
Leicestershire	2	12	6
Coventry	1	1	–
Warwick	6	6	–

which sums I have accordingly annually received, and also for ten years preceding the Act.

I have also received the Fee of one guinea for each transport order, and order to hard labour in lieu of transportation; and the number of such orders I have set forth, from the Summer of 1795, when I was appointed Clerk of Assize, in the first Schedule to this Return.

I have received no Salary in lieu of Fees and Charges, but I have received, under the provisions of the Act of 55th Geo. 3, c. 50, for the abolition of gaol fees, certain sums of Money, and I have stated the amount thereof in the second Schedule to this Return.

R^d Lowndes,
Clerk of Assize of the Midland Circuit.

I have no means of ascertaining what Sums were received by my predecessor of the County Treasurers on the Norfolk Circuit prior to the Year 1796 (the time of my appointment); nor have I received any Salary in lieu of Fees and Charges; but since the passing of the statute 55 Geo. 3, c. 50, such Fees as had usually been claimed by me of prisoners on their acquittal or discharge, have been paid by the County Treasurers under the Judges certificates, and are included in the above Account.

Harry Edgell,
Clerk of the Assigns for the Norfolk Circuit.

Chris^r Newstead,
Deputy Clerk of Assize for the Northern Circuit.

II. (2.)
Monies received by Clerks of Assize, &c.

WESTERN CIRCUIT.

THE RETURN of Thomas Chambre, Clerk of Assize of the WESTERN CIRCUIT; pursuant to a Resolution of the House of Commons, dated the 11th June 1824; requiring,

ACCOUNTS of all MONIES received by the Clerks of Assize, &c. in the several Counties in England, &c. out of the County Rates, in each Year, from 1792 to 1813, each inclusive; and any SALARY received by them during those Years, in lieu of Fees and Charges, out of those Rates.

I HAVE no means of ascertaining what Monies were received prior to my appointment to the office, in 1812; but, since then, I have received one guinea from the Treasurer of the several counties following for each order of transportation, and the like sum for each house of correction order, except in the County of Cornwall, where, by agreement with a former Clerk of Assize, an annual payment of seven guineas has been received in lieu of such orders.

Since the Act of the 55 Geo. 3, c. 50, I have also received from the Treasurer of each county 1*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* for each prisoner acquitted, and 13*s.* 4*d.* for every prisoner discharged by proclamation.

Under the Act of the 55 Geo. 3, c. 49, I have also received, for the annual returns made by me to the Secretary of State of persons committed, tried and convicted of criminal offences and misdemeanors, the several Allowances specified below; also, certain Allowances for the several returns (of the like kind) made previously to the passing of the same Act; such Allowances having been first settled and ascertained by the Judges, pursuant to the said Act.

I have not received any Salary (other than as above), in lieu of Fees and Charges, out of the County Rates.

ISLE OF ELY.

ISLE OF ELY.

AN ACCOUNT of all MONIES received by the Clerk of Assize, or his Deputy, in the Isle of ELY, out of the Isle Rates, in each Year, from the Year 1792 to 1823, each inclusive; and any SALARY received by him during those Years, in lieu of Fees and Charges, out of the said Rates.

I HAVE no account of any Monies or Salary received by the Clerk of Assize, or his Deputy, in the Isle of Ely, from the Year 1792 to 1798; and I believe that no regular account of any such receipt was kept by him during those years.

I began to discharge the duties of Clerk of Assize for the said Isle in the year 1798, and have continued to discharge the same, first as assistant and since as Deputy Clerk of Assize, from the year 1798 to the present time.

I have not at any time received any Salary, in lieu of Fees and Charges, out of the Rates of the Isle.

The following is an ACCOUNT of all MONIES received by or for the Use of the Clerk of Assize, or his Deputy, for FEES and CHARGES out of the Rates of the said Isle of ELY, in each Year, from the Year 1799 to the Year 1823, both inclusive.

HANTS.

HANTS.

A RETURN from the Clerk of the Peace of the County of SOUTHAMPTON of the Length of Road, the Expense of keeping which in repair is discharged out of the County Rate.

No Roads are kept in repair out of the County Rate, except the three hundred feet at each end of the several County Bridges, which are made chargeable thereon by the statute 22 Hen. 8, c 5, s. 9. There are sixty Bridges, of various dimensions, to the repair of which the county is considered liable; and three hundred feet at each end of each Bridge, would be eighteen thousand feet; but four of such Bridges being situate at the extremes of the county, and one end of each of them being situate in other counties, such ends are to be deducted therefrom, making twelve hundred feet, which reduces the total to sixteen thousand eight hundred feet, or five thousand six hundred yards.

T. Woodham,
Deputy Clerk of the Peace for the County of Southampton.
